PA Administration Asks Voters To Support Farmland Referendum

BY
EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG — "Let me say very directly and specifically that Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff and the Casey/Singel administration are asking the voters of this great commonwealth to vote yes for farmland on November 3, 1987, referendum."

This direct quote came from Lieutenant Governor Mark Singel as he addressed the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Farm Cooperatives in Harrisburg Tuesday evening. "We feel very strongly that a successful referendum where the voters give us the authority to raise $100 million for the farmland preservation program will insure the integrity of the agricultural industry for years to come," Singel said. "I want to impress upon you that the agricultural industry remains our number one industry and the governor has set aside a special session of the legislature to deal with the difficult issue of tax reform and municipal finance."

It would seem one of the best things we could do for Pennsylvania farms would be to ease the tax burden somewhat with a more equitable system of property taxation. "We feel there are very few industries that exemplify family life in Pennsylvania like the family farm does. And for the sheer value of that wholesomeness in this kind of industry we want to do all we can to preserve our farms," Singel said. Singel said that 47 of the 67 counties in Pennsylvania are rural and that 3.6 million people live in the rural area to give the state the largest rural population in the country.

In the awards ceremonies, Russ Redding received the 1987 PAFC Master Educator Award. Redding serves as coordinator of vocational student organizations. In this roll he works with seven student groups including FFA dealing with regional, state and natuonal activities. The PAFC Distinguished Service Award went to Robert Pardoe. Pardoe currently serves as treasurer of PAFC and farms 290 acres with his son Bob Jr. They have 60 milk cows. He is known for his dedication to the dairy industry and the dairy marketing cooperative Dairylea. The dinner meeting was held in the Sheraton West.

Financing Of Agriculture To Challenge Farm Policy Makers

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG — Due to radical changes in the agricultural industry and the federal budget, the financing of agriculture into the next century will pose new and difficult challenges to farmers, bankers and legislators. Meeting these challenges will demand a wisdom in policy making not previously shown, according to Jim Webster, speaker at the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives' annual meeting held in Harrisburg on Tuesday.

This was the consensus of all the speakers assembled at the annual PAFC gathering to discuss the future of the Farm Credit Corporation, federal farm programs and agricultural financing.

"The policy challenges facing elected representatives will demand a degree of wisdom which has not been evident in the past," said Webster.

"Looking down the road what is the scenario for agriculture in the United States?" asked Webster. "In 1987 we must realize that not everyone in agriculture will survive into the 21st century."

Webster founded Webster Communications Corp in Washington, D.C. in 1981 to provide an information source about Washington for the food and agricultural industry. One of the newsletters he publishes is 'The Agricultural Credit Letter'. He also writes for AgriFinance amoung other publications. He has appeared on the 'McNeil-Lehrer News Hour' and is a regular commentator on 'Market to Market'. His articles have appeared in newspapers such as the New York Times, The Washington Post, the Los Angeles Times and the international newsletter, Agri Europe.

The Future of Farming

Radical changes in American farm policy will dictate the future of agriculture in the United States. Six years ago when Reagan assumed office, his goal was to remove the influence of government in agriculture. Reagan wanted to phase out farm programs and putting money into developing export markets. In the four years prior to that under the Carter administration, $16 billion was spent on all the farm programs over the four-year span. But now the USDA would be relieved to hold the agricultural budget to $16 billion a year. According to Webster, the cost in the last two years was $43.5 billion.

"It is inevitable that government farm programs will be decreased and that is already laid out in the farm bill itself, largely due to the plans to reduce the federal deficit. By 1987 $1.2 billion will be cut from the farm program, by 1988 $1.9 billion will be cut and by 1990 $2.7 billion will be cut," said Webster.

It "Wonders" Us

BY
EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LANCASTER COUNTY — Well, there should be no question in the minds of PennDot officials and their engineers that Lancaster farmers have an interest in what they plan to do with our community.

An estimated 2,000 persons attended the meeting at Pequea Valley High School last week to hear about the proposed new Route 23/30 bypass east of Lancaster. The size of the crowd was amazing. Many of our Amish neighbors who have most to lose from the breakup of their communal districts were there. Not saying much. Just there to let their silent presence do their talking.

What "Wonders" us in this whole discussion is why, at this late date, there still exists these proposed roadways right through the middle of our choice farm heartland. We talk about ag land preservation, and everybody should know by now that our Amish families preserve farmland from generation to generation without depending on federal or state handout subsidies to do it. They just never let the land they acquire get back out of their farm community again.

These good farmers have voted yes for farmland by their actions for quite some time now. And their methods for doing this don't make them very dependent on the state. Maybe a road through their community will break up their church districts and break their strong Dutch wills at the same time. Their leaders say they may need to move from the area if

Wolff Speaks To Farmers

BY MAJORIE KEEN
Chester Co. Correspondent

ATGLEN — "Saving farmland is good for all Pennsylvanians. We will all benefit eventually," Boyd Wolff, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, told nearly 200 members and guests of the Chester-Delaware County Farmers Association last Saturday evening. Wolff was featured speaker at the association's fall banquet held at Octorara High School.

Writer Joins LF Staff

LITITZ — Lisa Hamm has joined Lancaster Farming as its newest staff writer. She brings with her a solid background in journalism having worked most recently as associate editor for two national building industry magazines based in Chicago. Her duties there included writing feature articles and day-to-day production tasks.

Lisa is a graduate of Northern Illinois University in Dekalb, Ill., with a journalism degree and farming has become an integral part of her life.

She will soon marry Philip Risser, a local farmer and agricultural engineer and son of Lancaster Farming's well-known columnist, Ida Risser. Lisa has been receiving an orientation to farming this summer by attending dairy cow auctions and helping to bed and feed the farm's Holsteins.

ACRES CORN UPDATE: Corn futures closed lower today with losses attributed to long liquidation prior to the issuance of the grain stocks report and month-end position evening maneuvers. With resistance above $1.82 in December, traders felt a technical correction was due. The continued lack of hedge pressure in light of scanty farmer selling was supportive to the December option as well higher Gulf basis levels. Yesterday's announcement of the 1988 Feed Grain program held no surprises and offered little direction.

The USDA grain stocks report was termed supportive to futures, with openings tomorrow projected at 1 to 2 cents higher.

ACRES SOYBEAN UPDATE: Soybeans futures settled mixed this afternoon with nearbys supported by strength in the October soymeal. This session was characterized by choppy with position-squaring in front of the Grain Stocks report. Further support came from a slowdown in farmer selling as well as tomorrow's scheduled 5-1/2 cent increase in the CCC resale price Deferreds were pressured by possible effects of Gramm Rudman on the 1988 loan rates.

The USDA grain stocks report was termed supportive to futures with openings tomorrow projected and 2 to 3 cents higher

ACRES WHEAT UPDATE: Wheat futures closed lower with weakness attributed to long-liquidation in front of the USDA grain stocks report. Prices were pressured early by news that the USDA had rejected export bonus bids for 170 MT of SRW wheat which China had sought in its tender Monday. Strength in the gulf basis level id uncertainty over the conditions in the USSR were supportive.

The USDA grain stocks report issued this afternoon was as follows:

Sept. 1 Trade Estimates USDA stocks (bln bu) avg. range 6/1/87 9/1/86 WHEAT 2 958 3.209 3.115-3.258 1.815 3.115.

This report was termed supportive and traders were calling futures 2 to 3 cents higher on the opening tomorrow

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE:

THE MARKET WAS WEAK TO LOWER. BOTH CARTONED AND LOOSE EGG DEMAND WAS LIGHT TO MODERATE, OCCASIONALLY BETTER WHERE FIRST OF THE MONTH ORDERS AND RETAIL FEATURES HAD DEVELOPED. SUPPLIES OF ALL SIZES CONTINUED ADEQUATE TO AMPLE. RAW MATERIAL COSTS TO BREAKERS DECLINED FURTHER AS BUYING INTEREST IMPROVED.

ACRES CATTLE UPDATE: Live cattle and feeder cattle futures settled lower today with losses attributed to long liquidation on ideas that today's Hogs and Pigs report would indicate increased competition from expanding herds. Lower cash cattle opening prices and large terminal receipts pressured prices early in the session and steady dressed beef prices at midday.

FEEDER CATTLE SETTLEMENT PRICE· 9/28/87 $79.05 dn $ .06.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - weaker futures-steady to lower.

ACRES HOG UPDATE: Live hog futures closed slightly higher after a choppy session dominated by position evening before today's USDA Hog and Pig report. Prices were underpinned by mixed to higher midday pork products as well as higher openings at western terminals. Belly futures were bouyed by ideas that recent losses were overdone, with gains limited by steady to lower fresh belly prices at noon.

Today's USDA Hogs and Report, issued after the close, was as follows:

10-STATE 1987 AS A TRADE ESTIMATES %-AGE OF 86 AVG. RANGE.

All hogs & pigs 9/01 109% 108.4 103.0-111.0 kept for breeding 109% 110.3 105.0-112.0 kept for marketing 109% 108 0 103.0-110.0 Mar-May farrowings 108% 108.5 104.0-111.0 Jun-Aug farrowings 111% 108.5 104.0-111.0 Sep-Nov farrowings 107% 108.8 105 0-112.0.

Floor traders and analysts called the report neutral for futures on tomorrow's openings, with figures within their expectations.

Ask the Old Farmer: Is it true that burning fresh potatoes on top of the logs in a fireplace will help clean the chimney? I have tried it but can't tell whether it works PO Willmar, Minn

A very old custom — and so far as I know it never fails. Of course a lot more potatoes were eaten in the past than are eaten now so the doses of the peelings were frequent and liberal

Home Hints Clean electric beater blades by running them for a moment in a bowl of warm soapy water

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Sunny and cool at beginning of week showers south, rainy north, with mild temperatures mid through end of week

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins with light rain and cool temperatures, midweek sunny with seasonable temperatures, end of week scattered showers and warm

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Beginning of week clear, midweek showers and cool temperatures, end of week sunny and warm, rain west their church districts are broken and more pressure from tourists is exerted on their peaceful countryside.

OPINION

Of course, a more objective question relates to the ag land preservation laws in existance at the present time. Both the National Agricultural Land Protection Policy Act and the Pennsylvania Prime Agricultural Land Policy play a major roll in what highway planners can do with prime agricultural land. The purpose of the National Agricultural Farmland Protection Policy Act is to minimize the extent to which federal programs contribute to the unnecessary and irreversible conversion of farmland to nonagricultural uses. Since 80 percent of this project as it now stands will utilize federal monies this national Ag Land Protection Policy Act certainly applies. This national act requires that effort is made to be compatible with the state, local and private programs and policies that protect farmland. Alternative actions as appropriate that could reduce adverse effects are to be taken.

In Pennsylvania the policy of the commonwealth is to protect through administration of its current programs and regulations, the state's prime agricultural land from irreversible conversion to uses that result in its loss as environmental or essential food production resource. State funds and federal grants administered by the state shall not be used to encourage the conversion of prime agricultural land to other uses when feasible alternatives are available.

So we would suppose these existing laws would stop any road building that settled on a corridor down through the heart of Pennsylvania Dutch country. Of course PennDot officials say the no-build option will be considered as much as any of the other proposals.

Since the northern corridor suggested by the Lancaster County Ag Land Preservation people was not surveyed to hook up to Route 41 at Gap and since the route out across mine ridge was not given serious consideration, because it was more costly, this no-build option may be the only one allowed by law.

What really wonders us is, will the Amish be blamed for the no-build option, when in fact, the planners refuse to seriously consider the alternatives that would both take care of the traffic problems and allow the Pennsylvania Dutch community to continue to exist.

We'll all know when the planners come back to their meeting in December to tell us what they have decided behind closed doors.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Beware of Spiny Pigweed in Pastures

Redroot or redroot pigweed is a common, easily recognized annual weed in gardens and cultivated fields. We are now seeing the first cousin of this weed - spiny redroot - appearing in many areas of the county.

If you do not know what spiny redroot looks like, you can tell real quickly what it feels like by carefully rubbing your fingers along the stem. Two needle-shape spines occur at the juncture of each leaf with the stem. These spines prevent all grazing animals from eating these plants. Consequently, we are seeing tremendous numbers of these weeds appearing in many pastures, along cow paths and in open spaces or loafing areas. Some have been found in alfalfa fields, a bad situation. These weeds now have mostly red stems and can easily be spotted. The plants should be cut before heading out and going to seed.

For control, use Banvel or any of the 2,4-D type herbicides. You can spot spray the plants now but the best time would be just about the time in May when corn planting time is over. The important thing is to spray the pasture. A second application to kill late appearing weed seedlings would likely be needed. Always follow label instructions when applying any pesticide.

To Salute 4-H

National 4-H Week runs through the week of October 5. I wish to congratulate the 3,637 members, 599 volunteer adult leaders, and the professional youth workers for their accomplishments and service to Lancaster County.

Through 4-H projects and activities, youth from all social and economic backgrounds, both rural and urban, demonstrate that they can make a difference in food production, conservation of our natural resources, improve economic understanding, and in the formulation of future career decisions.

As a result of the fine exchange programs, 4-H also contributes to international understanding and increased world food production. Four-H provides an important pathway to the future for many youth.

To Sow A Fall Cover Crop

Our concern for soil conservation should include a cover crop following corn, tobacco, or other row crops. This is an excellent practice and we encourage all farmers to keep their land covered with some vegetation during the winter months. The cover crop could be any winter grain crop or domestic ryegrass and field bromegrass. Then next spring the growth can be pastured early and then plowed down or used in a no-till grain operation. Cover crops not only add organic matter but help to hold the topsoil during the winter months. They are well worth the investment.

You need to be that some herbicides such as atrazine and simazine applied at the higher rates, will affect germination, but if used at one pound of actual material per acre, it will be safe.

To Store Apples Properly

This is apple picking season and whether you grow apples or just like to eat them, here's some information on how to store them.

Remember that cool apples will keep longer. Ideally, they should be stored at 33° Fahrenheit at 90% humidity and in dim light or darkness. Since most people can't provide these ideal conditions, the next best thing is a family-type refrigerator. Just put the apples in a plastic bag, then close the bag loosely or punch a few holes in it so the air can circulate.

Now as to picking, it's a good practice to store the fruit in shade as it's picked, then allow it to stand in the orchard overnight to cool. Then, place the apples in storage early in the morning before the temperature rises too much.

If you leave apples in a packing shed or in piles under the tree for one week, you'll shorten their storage life by about five weeks. So keep apples cool, maintain good air circulation during storage and your apples should keep a long time.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

SOMETHING VENTURED

October 4, 1987

Background Scripture: Genesis 11:27 through 12:9
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 11: 8-12.

Many of us are aware that there have been times in our lives when we have probably passed up some opportunity or task that God was offering us. Perhaps it was a call to a specific vocation, or maybe to respond with love and helpfulness to someone in their time of need. Whatever, we failed to respond and now it is too late: we're no longer able to respond, we've gotten older, and so forth.

That may have been the way it seemed to Abraham. After all, he was 75 years old, an age when most people have dropped out of just about everything. He had already done his share of venturing for God with his father, Terah, who had moved his whole family from the safety and security of Ur of the Chaldeans to Haran. Surely a move as extensive as that would be sufficient.

"I WILL BLESS YOU"

Actually, for some reason Terah had not gone far enough. Instead of going on into Canaan, as he had intended, he and his family stopped and settled down in Haran, which today would be in the country of Syria. And there, according to Genesis, he lived until he died at the age of 205. We don't know why Terah had decided to leave Ur for Canaan. Genesis doesn't tell us whether God figured in that decision.

Of the next development, however, there was no doubt. It was God who said to him: "go from your country and your kindred and your father's house to the land that I will show you" (12:1). In this incident, as well as the whole story of Abraham, we find that God makes very few demands upon him: no elaborate rituals, no exacting moral codes, no doctrinal tests. What God requires of Abraham is the faith to venture forward into the unknown. And, although we know very little about Abraham's character, Genesis portrays him as a man of faith: "So Abram went, as the Lord had told him" (12:4).

ABRAM JOURNEYED ON

The world we live in today is a far cry from the one Abraham knew. Our ethical and moral choices are often complicated and painted in shades of grey. Our society is complex and our lives are anything but simple. Still, despite our different milieu, faith in God often means the same kind of venturesome faith that Abraham typified.

And, as with Abraham, it is never too late. We are never too old or too far along in life. Although we've missed many opportunities and challenges along the way, there is always time and resources enough within us to respond in faith as he did. For it is still true that with God, something ventured is something definitely gained.

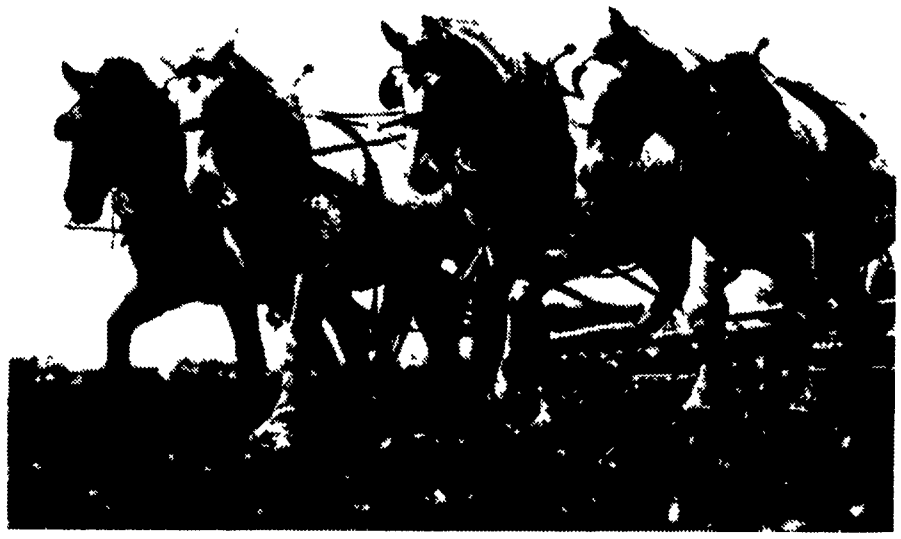
pulling together, is what cooperatives are about



Cooperative Organizations and institutions play an important role in meeting the needs of our citizens and in improving our communities. They are among our leading business enterprises, with millions of owner members.

Many benefits are gained by belonging to cooperatives and many contributions are made by these special institutions to the economy and development of our state and nation.

The Seven Milk Cooperatives serving the dairy farmers in Pennsylvania and neighboring states are proud to be a part of this great cooperative enterprise.

Like to get a full 5-year warranty on your next running gear?

Then ask for Unverferth. That's right, our precisely built, road-ready, 8- and 10-ton wagon running gears come with a full, 5-year warranty and much more. For example:

To give you years of safe, worry-free service, we incorporate features like all-welded construction with extra bracing, pivot point grease fittings, and renewable bushings in the steering and front spindles.

And, to help keep those years of service safe, we use a specially aligned frame for smooth, straight trailing and 180° tongue swivel and innovative low-profile design for added maneuverability and unmatched stability...even on hillsides.

For more about reliable, safe Unverferth running gears or our full line of high quality grain boxes, see your dealer today. Or call us toll-free:

Maryland Breeders Tops In Eastern National · Ayrshire Show

HARRISBURG — On the final day of the 24TH Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, the caliber of competition was clearly evident by the almost two hundred entries in the Eastern National Ayrshire Show. The show is just one of the three national shows being held in the complex.

David Patrick and his Maple Dell Farm from Woodbine, Maryland, and Douglas Evans and his Sunny Acres Farm from Georgetown, New York, both received banners in the show with Maple Dell Farm as premier breeder and Sunny Acres Farm as premier exhibitor.

Patrick's "Maple Dell Scandel's Pearl" captured the title of grand-champion after being named senior champion, best four-year-old cow and best milking female. The rest of his herd is not to be ignored as the titles of intermediate heifer calf, senior yearling heifer, reserve junior champion female, best three females, best produce-of-dam and best breeders herd were received.

The title of reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion went to "Bonnie Brea Kineta" of Sunny Acres Farm. Evan's herd did well as they won the additional titles of best dairy herd, best junior four-year-old with the best udder, best udder in the senior two-year-old and best cows five-year-old and over with the best udder.

Premier Sire was won by "Hammonds Oracle."

The international show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy and allied Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission.

SOIL MANAGEMENT AND ANIMAL NUTRITION FOR TODAY'S FARMER

Mifflinburg FFA Student Places In Regional Contest

MIFFLINBURG — Mifflinburg FFA Chapter member Alan Kaler recently returned home from Massachusetts with a medallion and another milestone in his life. The 17 year old senior had recently attended the Eastern States Exposition or "Big E" as it is called in Springfield, Mass.

Alan placed 2nd in the tractor driving competition on September 19-20 at the expo that covers 15 states ranging from Maine to North Carolina and as far West as Ohio. Tractor driving was one of about ten contests for FFA students. Other competitions included poultry, horticulture, floriculture, and others. And, since Pennsylvania scored highly in all areas, they tied Ohio for 1st place in overall achievements.

The competition saw participants taking a manure spreader through a forty foot chute. The participant also had to back the spreader into a regular stall to within two inches of the rear gate. After that, a four wheeled wagon was pulled in a circle and backed into a stall, again respecting the two inch limit.

"The competition was pretty easy, but just because we thought it was easy doesn't mean that we did it correctly," says Kaler. Points were added for mistakes making the lowest score win.

The actual driving was not the only part of the competition. There was a mandatory safety check on the tractor driven and a 50 question exam covering safety practices of a tractor.

The FFA contests are just a part of the Eastern States Exposition's agenda. "It's like a big fair," says David Woodling, the Mifflinburg FFA advisor who accompanied Kaler. "This is a pretty big area, covering about 200 acres with a lot of exhibits and is about three times the size of Ag Progress Days. I'd say about 50,000 people were there."

To advance to the Eastern States, Kaler had to first win the area competition in Mifflinburg. The next step was to compete in the state tractor driving competition at Penn State during FFA activity week.

The son of Carl and Faye Kaler of Millmont RD#1 in Union County, Alan is used to tractor driving on his grandfather, Ralph Kuhn's farm. Through help from his grandfather, a former dairy farmer, Alan has been able to raise project animals and work with crops on the farm. Though his father also raises 40 pigs on the farm, Alan takes care of most of the chores because of the elder Kaler's other job.

He has high hopes for the farm, which Alan eventually hopes to purchase. Currently, he has a 40 head herd of holstein heifers ready to freshen around graduation time.

I hope they freshen around that time," said Kaler. "If they're ready sooner, it could be hard to handle with school."

A longer range goal for Alan is to increase the dairy herd and crop production. He plans to grow corn for silage, hay, oats, soybeans, and ear corn on 150 acres.

With his success in present endeavors and his realistic goals to come, Alan Kaler promises to be a winner now and in the future.

Allan Kaler, from the Mifflinburg FFA, recently placed second in tractor driving at the Eastern States Exposition.

Luck Was On High In New Holland Steer Show

BY PAT PURCELL

NEW HOLLAND — Casey High had lots of luck with him yesterday. Actually he had exactly 1315 pounds of luck with him in the form of his purebred Angus which goes by the name "Lucky". Lucky, in his first show and also Casey's first time showing, became the grand champion market steer of the New Holland Fair on Thursday.

"This is the most complete packaged animal. There is evidence of muscle through the loin, the animal is very evenly balanced and I believe when seen in the carcass this animal would be exactly what the industry is looking for," said judge, Jon Repair, owner of Rainbow Ridge Farm near Princeton, New Jersey.

Casey, the 9-year-old son of Larry and Mae High of Lititz, purchased the grand champion as a 1-month-old calf, from Cobble Pond Farm. Lucky acquired his name after he had been on the High farm for awhile.

"Lucky almost died," said Larry High, "and I told Casey if he pulled out of that he would be lucky and he did."

And luck was with the High's at the market steer sale, but it seemed to be the wrong kind at first. Bidding for the grand champion beef got off to a slow start and was about to end at $1.65/lb. That was when John W. Risser, Agri-Business Officer of Dauphin Deposit Bank, Columbia, walked in and revitalized the bidding. Representing Dauphin Deposit Bank, Risser purchased the 1375 lb. animal for $3 per pound.

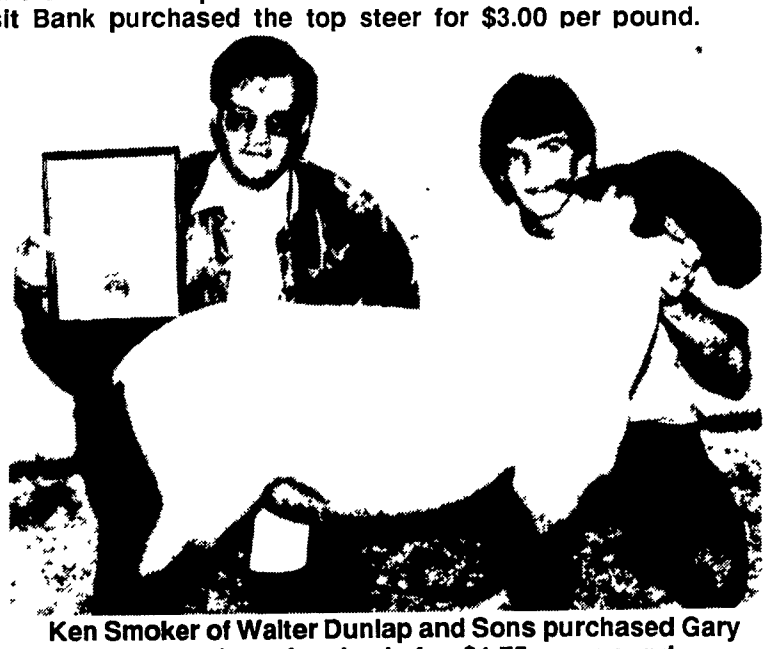
Casey High leads Lucky, the Grand Champion Steer of the New Holland Fair. John Risser of Dauphin Deposit Bank purchased the top steer for $3.00 per pound.

The reserve grand champion steer, Jackpot, is shown by Nicole High. The steer was purchased by Yoder's County Market.

Keeping it all in the family Nichole High captured the reserve grand championship with her 1315 lb. purebred Angus named "Jackpot". Yoder's Country Market purchased the reserve champion for $1.45 per pound. The average price per pound for the 4-H market steers was $.98, not including the champions.

Willie the Butcher of New Holland purchased five beef; Stoltzfus Meats, Intercourse purchased four and Baum's Meats of Lansdale

(Turn to Page A29)



Ken Smoker of Walter Dunlap and Sons purchased Gary Crills reserve champion lamb for $1.75 per pound.

Hometown Youth Shows Champion Hog At New Holland Fair

NEW HOLLAND—A 247-pound red barrow shown by Chad Folker of New Holland walked away with Grand Champion honors here Thursday at the fair. The hog comes from a litter of champions: two siblings, shown by Chad's sister Laura, each won reserve championships, one at the Ephrata Fair and the other at the Lampeter Fair. Chad, son of Tony and Edith Folker, also received first place in the junior showmanship class.

Steve Denlinger, son of Ruth Denlinger of Gordonville, showed hogs for the first time this year and was rewarded by having the reserve champion hog of the show.

Other winners at the New Holland Fair's hog judging were:

Lightweight Class
1 Laura Folker, 2 Clark Stoltzfus, 3 Chad Folker, 4 Laura Folker, 5 Delvin Huber

Mediumweight Class
1 Chad Folker, 2 Kurtis Good, 3 Kurtis Good, 4 Kenton Good, 5 Kenton Good

Heavyweight Class
1 Steve Denlinger, 2 Clark Stoltzfus, 3 Delvin Huber, 4 Peter Day, 5 Steve Denlinger

Senior Showmanship
1 Laura Folker, 2 Kenton Good, 3 Delvin Huber, 4 Greg Huber

Junior Showmanship
1 Chad Folker, 2 Peter Day, 3 Kurtis Good

Senior Fitting
1 Delvin Huber, 2 Greg Huber, 3 Laura Folk

er, 4 Kenton Good

Junior Fitting
1 Kurtis Good, 2 Clark Stoltzfus, 3 Christopher Klunkle

Somerset Holstein Club Visits Chester Co.

Wednesday, September 16, proved to be a delightful day for Somerset County Dairy farmers to take a tour to visit five of Chester County's fine registered Holstein farms. Nearly 40 excellent cows were seen sired by the breed's best sires.

Farms visited were Melvin Stoltzfus, Cochranville 40 cow herd with a BAA of 105.5, the rolling herd average over 1000 lbs. of fat and 3.9% test. Valiant, Tradition, and Pete milking daughters and number of daughters from the Golden cow family (Dunwood) were seen along with a New York style heifer barn.

Next stop was Pinta Lane Farms, owned by Ben Beiler and Tim Barlow, comprised of 90 registered Holsteins made up of milking daughters of Valiant, Tradition, Enhancer and Bell. This herd has an average of 19,500 milk and 750 lbs. fat.

Dunwood Farms, owned by Alvin Stoltzfus, Oxford, 60 cow herd has a RHA of 21,059 milk, 3.9% fat, 814 lbs. fat with a BAA 105.9 includes 7 excellent cows. Many daughters of the Golden family were seen here which will be dispersed in March.

Joy-Wil Farms owned by Wilmer and Barry Hostetter proved to be an interesting stop for seeing 12 excellent cows with a RHA of 20,500 milk, 3.7% 758 fat.

Last stop was Glenn Freese's Glee-Hi herd of 70 cows with a RHA of 22,300 milk, 778 lbs. fat and a BAA of 106. Milking Rotates, Tonys, and Chairmen were predominate here. Cattle sales equal milk sales on this farm.

Willard Maust, Meyersdale, coordinated the tour sponsored by the Somerset County Holstein Club.

Lycoming Co. Farmers Assn. Support "Vote Yes"

JERSEY SHORE — "Everyone in the commonwealth should vote "YES" in support of the referendum to save farmland", said Edward P. Snook, President of the Lycoming County Farmers' Association.

Snook was referring to the referendum question which will appear on the November 3rd ballot which will call for a one-time $100 million bond issue to fund a purchase of development rights program in Pennsylvania.

"When farmland disappears, the price of food just goes up, because of transportation costs, and quality normally suffers.

"Agriculture generates more than $35 billion worth of business in the state...it's our number one industry," Snook added.

The Lycoming County Farmers' Association is conducting a voter registration drive with special emphasis being placed on its own membership.

"This referendum is one of the most important issues to affect agriculture in recent years," he said, "All Pennsylvanians will lose if we continue to lose our farmland," said Snook, "We sincerely hope that everyone will vote "Yes" for farmland."

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

— A voluntary program as the first step toward the control and eradication of swine brucellosis in Pennsylvania gets started this week, the State Department of Agriculture announced today.

Officials said swine affected with brucellosis (Bang's disease) will continue to be a menace to the cattle population of the State from which the disease practically has been eliminated.

— Although killing frosts came a week after the normal Sept. 21 frost date for this area, damage in Lancaster County is counted in the millions of dollars.

Most of the damage is in the tobacco crop which was only 80-90 percent harvested. The dollar value of the damaged crop would have been much higher if the crop this year had been of better quality.

— Harry H. Ranck, R1 Ronks, who has topped the Red Rose DHIA in butterfat production for the past two years, is a modest man. To hear him talk, all he has ever done is provide a boarding house for Holsteins.

— A Marietta blonde, Miss Dorothy Fletcher, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fletcher, was crowned "Miss Lancaster County" at the Ephrata Farm Show Thursday night. She won the title in competition with 15 other contestants. The crowning of "Miss Lancaster County" is a yearly event at the Ephrata Fair.

— A highly fitted Hereford steer took the Grand Championship at the Ephrata Fair Thursday night. The steer is owned by Miss Leona Augsberger, Reinholds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Augsberger.

Reserve championship went to an Angus steer owned and shown by David Zimmerman of R1 Reinholds, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Zimmerman.

DEALER INQUIRIES INVITED

It's not a one-buffer town anymore.

Three years ago, choices were limited when it came to dairy buffers. Now there are plenty of buffers, but only one best choice — S-Carb® refined sodium sesquicarbonate. No buffer is safer, more effective or easier to handle.

And, with S-Carb you don't have to settle for less than pure quality. It's the purest buffer available — 99.6% pure. You can see the difference in the clean white crystals. Nothing in it can harm your cows or your milk.

Best of all — there's an S-Carb® feed additive dealer nearby. How about calling him today?

Add up the advantages and you'll agree — there's no better buffer. Pure and Simple.

Franklin Co. Holstein Earns Title At The Eastern

HARRISBURG — Over 200 exhibitors showed up with their dairy herds for competition in the highly prestigious Eastern National Holstein Show, so large it takes two days to complete, at the 24th Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

The junior champion female, "Aldina Magic Gigi," won the intermediate yearling heifer class for Aldina Holsteins of Chambersburg, FRANKLIN COUNTY. The reserve junior champion, "Savage-Leigh Warden Gretchen," was exhibited by Savage-Leigh of Boyds, Maryland.

Winners were pretty well divided among the country's major Holstein breeders and exhibitors. Lylehaven Farm traveled from Montpolier, Vermont, and succeeded in capturing the banner for the premier exhibitor of the show. In addition, they exhibited the champion bull, "Lylehaven Reliance, winner in the senior bull calf class, and the reserve grand and reserve senior champion female, "Savage-Leigh Star Grace," a six-year-old cow.

The premier breeder of the show was Pinehurst Farms of Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin, a name quite familiar over the years at the PAADS. But throughout the competition they only managed to show the best dry cow five-or-over and the best producer of dam.

Hanover Hill Holsteins of Port Perry, Connecticut, shared the attention in the winner's circle, capturing the grand champion and senior champion banners with their six-year-old cow, "A Brookview Tony Charity." Hanover Hill also showed the winning junior yearling heifer, "Hanover Hill Star Rosie," who went on to become the reserve junior champion female.

Awards were still available for the reserve champion bull, picked up by Sunrose Holsteins of Millersburg, Indiana and their senior yearling bull named "Sunrose Commissioner Rambo," and the junior champion female, "Maple-Home Warden Caress," a senior heifer calf exhibited by Maple-Home Farm from Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin.

"S W D Valiant," owned by the American Breeders Service from Wisconsin, was the premier sire of the show. Canada picked up the first place ranking for best state or provincial herd, followed by New England, Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland.

Being a national show, special awards and trophies were presented to many class winners above the normal premiums. A special junior show was also held in conjunction with the national Holstein show, open to boys and girls between the ages of ten and 21 who own registered Holsteins.

FFA Judging Team

Two members of the Cowanesque FFA and one from the Elizabethtown FFA made up the dairy judging team that represented Pennsylvania in the Eastern Regional Contest. The Contest was held in conjuction with the Eastern States Exposition in West Springfield, Massachusetts on September 19.

The team members were Clinton Painter and Jeff Bacon from the Cowanesque FFA and Tony Zook of the Elizabethtown FFA chapter. Clair Zerby, advisor from Cowanesque, was the coach of the team. The contest consisted of 3 classes of Holstein cows, 2 classes of Brown Swiss cows and a class of Ayrshire cows. Oral reasons were given on the Ayrshire class and one of the Brown Swiss classes. The contestants also evaluated a class of four pedigrees, linear evaluation of eight cows and took a 50 question management test.

Clinton was eighth in Holsteins and seventh overall; Tony was ninth in Holstein, first in Brown Swiss and eleventh overall; and Jeff was second in Ayrshires and thirteenth overall. The team was second in Brown Swiss, fourth in Ayrshires, seventh in Holstein and second overall.

The dairy team was part of a 45 member delegation to the Eastern Regional Contest.

Franklin County Holstein Sale

CHAMBERSBURG — A fancy-looking Columbus daughter topped the Franklin County Holstein Sale September 29 at the Chambersburg Rod and Gun Club. Ro-Meyer Magic Columbus, a CP 82 two year old who freshened June 30, brought the top price of $1925. She was consigned by Meyers Brothers Dairy, St. Thomas, and bought by Roy Cordell, Chambersburg.

The second highest selling animal was Meadow-Vu Very Lucky-oc 83-3y, a Kingway Elevation Very daughter who is backed by two generations of VGs. At three years and one month Lucky produced 25,705 pounds of milk and 989 pounds of fat in 355 days. Brothers John and Ed Brake of Mercersburg consigned the four-year old cow. Roger Beck of Mercersburg was the successful bidder at $1900.

According to consignor Ed Brake, Lucky had been raffled off as a calf at the 1983 Franklin County Holsteion sale. The girl who won Lucky sold her that same evening. The Brake brothers bought her and milked her for two years before selling her at the same sale four years later.

Pedigree reader James Burdette, Mercersburg, felt that the quality of the animals in the sale was high. Although not many top name sires were represented, the animals sold well because of their high tests and good classification scores. "It went well for the name sires we had," he added.

The sale, conducted by auctioneer Ralph W. Horst, had a strong average of $1401 on 27h ead. Nine animals brought $1500 or over.

Buffalo Valley Produce Auction--A First Year Success

Snyder Co. Correspondent

Not many new enterprises can boast that their 3 month old business is such a success that expansion is inevitable. But at Union County's Buffalo Valley Produce Auction, the response has been so overwhelming that plans for larger facilities are already underway.

"We're going to have to expand because we built it too small," says Maynard Loss, local producer and Vice President of the corporation. "Since we opened 3 months ago, the auction has grossed close to $125,000 in sales."

The idea for the auction began late last summer when local growers of fruits and vegetables met to discuss a problem — overproduction. The Central Susquehanna Valley is a mecca for small growers since the soils and climate are ideal for watermelons, cantalopes, peppers, cucumbers, sweet corn, etc. Because of the increase in growers and production, a marketing alternative was needed.

Thanks to the time and efforts of many grower-volunteers as well as assistance from Penn State Extension Agents, the produce auction idea was organized in March of this year. Growers voted to form their produce auction under Subchapter S corporation, which means that it is limited to 35 stockholders. Currently, there are 31 stockholders of which all, by corporation by-laws, must be producers.

On June 16, the Buffalo Valley Produce Auction opened its doors to the local farmers from surrounding counties, which now include: Union, Snyder, Northumberland, Montour, Lycoming, Clinton, Centre, Dauphin, Juniata, Columbia, and as far away as Lebanon. To date, almost 100 growers have brought produce to the auction.

Ken Martin, local producer as well as President and Auction Manager, says that the farmers needed an outlet because the local market was saturated. "We look at it as a marketing alternative," said Ken. "We're good growers, but not good marketers. It's actually a separate business, but it has the farmer in mind."

With the money collected from the farmer-shareholders, building materials and excavating services were obtained. The 2100 square foot building was erected by volunteers in one day while the remainder — concrete and filling work — was completed in about a week. The new facility boasts a loading dock for tractor trailers, pickups, or wagons, an office, restrooms, and a variety of equipment to accommodate the operators.

The auction building is located midway between Mifflinburg and Lewisburg near Route 45. This location is ideal for the many plain farmers in the Central Susquehanna Valley who haul their produce by wagon.

As the growing season winds down, the auction is open about 2 days a week. At the height of the produce season, Buffalo Valley was operating five or sometimes six days a week; a large increase from the original Tuesday and Thursday sales.

Ken Hassinger, auctioneer as well as shareholder and producer, is quite pleased with the progress of the new corporation. "I'm surprised that we came along this fast," says Hassinger. "But we are selling some quality produce here."

Success has been evident by the many buyers representing produce wholesalers, roadside market operators, restauranteurs, and farmers. Buyers from New York, Maryland, Virginia, as well as distant cities in Pennsylvania have all attended to purchase goods from the central Pennsylvania producers.

Current officers in the Buffalo Valley Produce Auction are: President and Auction Manager - Ken Martin, RD#3, Mifflinburg; Maynard Loss - Vice President, RD#1, Middleburg; Paul Zimmerman - Secretary-Treasurer, RD, Mifflinburg; Directors: Patrick Mitchell, RD#2, Middleburg; Leroy Sensenig, RD#2, Lewisburg; Dale Whitenight, RD#6, Danville; Harvey Hoover, RD, Mifflinburg; Auctioneers: Kenneth Hassinger, RD#2, McClure; Neil Courtney, RD#1, Richfield.

Though the board of directors started the produce auction to provide a marketing service to grow-

School District Plans Acreage Increase

Octorara Area School District made plans last week to nearly triple its acreage on the boundary of West Fallowfield and Highland Townships. The school board voted unanimously to buy the 103-acre Naaman King farm across Highland Road from the school campus.

"The farm is not for sale," Naaman King declared.

Dr. Richard McAdams, district superintendent, said the school directors have been discussing expansion since last October. Fifteen acres are required immediately for athletic fields, necessitated by the establishment of an intermediate-level interscholastic program last spring. In addition, given Chester County's westward development frenzy, need for a new elementary school is anticipated within two years, according to McAdams.

"We had no choice but to consider taking farmland," McAdams said. "We are surrounded by farms." The superintendent stated that the school board feels strongly that all the district's schools should be on one campus, as they have been since 1980.

Of the four farms adjoining school property that the directors considered, according to McAdams, the King farm is the only one where the family would not have to be relocated if the land is taken over by the school district. King lives on another farm and rotates crops of potatoes, corn, wheat, soybeans and buckwheat on the 103 acres in question.

However, in 1984, King sold the house, barn and 10 acres of the Highland Road farm to his son and daughter-in-law, Lowell and Joyce, with first option to purchase the remainder of the farm. Lowell presently works in the trucking industry, but, would like to return to farming says his father. "What will he do with a big barn and no land?" King asked.

Naaman King harvests potatoes on his 103-acre farm, which the Octorara Area School District wishes to buy to triple its acreage.

King's farm is located across Highland Road from the Octorara School campus. The school board plans to use the land for athletic fields and perhaps an elementary school.

King's wife Marian, said that McAdams approached her husband last March about eight acres for athletic fields. "I first said no," King explained, "and then thought, I don't want to be a meany. So I offered them 15 acres along Highland Road through a realtor. They never got back to the realtor, and now they want to take my whole farm."

"It's very traumatic," said Marian King.

King allots 160 acres to potatoes on the several parcels of land he farms in West Fallowfield Township. He said fewer acres will prevent him from rotating the potato crop every three years as Penn State recommends. "I'm not trying to buy more land," King stated. "I'm just trying to keep what we have and keep our sons in agriculture."

King has until October 12 to respond to the board's offer, the amount which neither he nor school officials have disclosed. If the two parties can't come to terms, the Octorara district may take the land by eminent domain, according to state law.

Public Hearing On Proposed 21,000 Acre Ag Preserve Set For Oct. 8

The Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board is sponsoring a public hearing on a proposed 21,140 acre agricultural preserve in Colerain and East Drumore Townships. The public hearing is scheduled for Thursday evening, October 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Hoffman Community Building (fairgrounds), Park Avenue, Quarryville.

The proposed agricultural preserve will make land owners eligible to voluntarily sell a conservation easement to the Agricultural Preserve Board. It also reinforces protective right to farm policies and grants priority for conservation easement donation.

Several land owners in both townships have requested that agricultural preserves be proposed. Agricultural preserves are created because Pennsylvania state law requires that the Agricultural Preserve Board identify priority farmland areas in which to spend preservation dollars.

The purpose of the public hearing will be to inform land owners and answer questions about the effects of the Agricultural Preserve and the Voluntary Conservation Easement program. Contact Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board, 50 North Duke Street, P.O. Box 3480, Lancaster, PA 17603. Telephone 717-299-8355. Alan R. Musselman is the director. Karen M. Weiss is the farmland preservation specialist.

Top Cow At Elite Ayrshire Show Brings $3,000

HARRISBURG — Bidding was brisk as 27 buyers from seven states vied for 32 lots at the Pennsylvania Elite Ayrshire Sale here on Thursday. Top of the sale, which was held at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, at $3,000, was a 3-year-old fresh cow consigned by Sam Diehl of Bedford, Pa. Her sire, Cove Creek Super Star, had been junior champion bull at a previous Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show. Her dam, Cove Creek Jacks Bonnie, took first prize as a four-year-old at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show. She was sold to Ralph and Patricia Shank, Hagerstown, Md., who showed her the following day in the Pennsylvania All-American, where she stood second in a strong class of three year olds.

The second highest priced animal was a junior yearling open heifer consigned by Ardrossan Farms, Villanova, Pa. She was purchased for $1,800 by Douglas Broers of Tampico, Ill. Third in the sale was a newly freshened Ardrossan Farms cow that was consigned by John Rodgers of Belleville, Pa. She was bought by Harold Rader Jr., of Connoquenessing, Pa., who paid $1,750 for her.

Fourth highest priced cow was a fresh second-calf cow from the herd of Charles and Donald Gable's Conebella Farm, Elverson, Pa. At $1,500, she was sold to Earl Keefer and Donald Shetterly, Sycamore Meade Farm, Millersburg, Pa.

Keefer and Shetterly were the high-volume buyer, taking four head for $4950. The 28 cows and heifers sold for an average price of $1,153, and the four calves averaged $625.

Glenyle S. J. Hetty exhibited by Mike Heath of Spring Valley Farm in Maryland captured the junior champion honors at the All-American Jersey Dairy Show in Harrisburg last week. Hetty was identified as the reserve junior champion in error in last week's issue.

Ag Promotion Groups Big Brothers To Kids

Tri-County Big Brother-Big Sisters, Inc. of Harrisburg have enlisted two new volunteers — the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and Pennsylvania Beef Council.

"We can't think of a better way of getting sound nutrition education to these youngsters," Board Chairman Jim Harteis said in announcing the special PDPP project.

The Pennsylvania Beef Council also will provide nutritional guidelines and support, it was revealed.

First assignment for the Ag groups will be finding cows for a special fundraiser at 6 p.m. October 1 at the Farm Show Building.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition will be held at that time so a ready supply of "volunteer" cows are assured, it was noted.

Also working with the Ag groups is L. J. Hubert, Chief of the Marketing Services Division of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and board member of Tri-County Big Brother-Big Sisters, Inc.

For the fundraiser, he said, the non-profit group will stage the first annual Pennsylvania Cow Drop.

According to Hubert, a giant "checkerboard" will be laid out in the Small Arena with the two-foot squares sold to contributors. Then Hubert and his crew will turn loose three cows. The cows decide the winners by leaving their calling cards.

"Cows for kids is a natural," Hubert noted.

"The kids," he explained, "are children from single families in Dauphin. Cumberland and Perry counties. We match them up with big brothers and big sisters in a one on one situation."

"We can always use volunteers. In this case a few to help layout the grid and man the scoop shovels," Hubert allowed.

Tri-County Big Brother-Big Sisters, Inc. can be reached by phoning 717-236-0199, or stopping by the office at 20 Taylor Boulevard, Harrisburg, PA 17103.

Marketing Quality Hay To Be Highlight of 1987 Forage Conference

UNIVERSITY PARK — What is the potential for making money by producing and marketing hay in Pennsylvania and surrounding states? The answer to this question really depends on the year and geographic location. In a dry year, everyone needs hay, whereas, in good years, no one seems to want it. So what is the key to having a consistent market for hay? Those that consistently make money growing and selling hay are usually those that make quality hay.

Horse and dairy markets have demanded and will continue to demand high quality hay. In planning a production and marketing strategy, one should set high goals and produce quality hay for those markets which offer the best price. To learn more about the cost and production inputs in making quality hay, the Pennsylvania Forage Conference will be devoting its morning program to this subject.

The program will begin with a discussion of what forages to grow for marketing hay. Dr. Sid Bosworth, forage specialist at Penn State, will review what forages are in demand and being bought by hay buyers and Dr. Steve Fales, forage researcher from Penn State, will discuss management strategies for achieving high yield and quality of these forages. Mr. Bruce Krieder will highlight the newest in equipment for making and handling hay. He will also be discussing drying systems and their costs.

Also on the program will be Dr. Neil Martin, forage specialist from the University of Minnesota, talking about the use of quality hay markets in Minnesota and Wisconsin. These markets have used standardized methods of determining forage quality, both chemical and visual standards. For the past three years, these markets have demonstrated that top quality hay has brought the best dollar.

The 1987 Pennsylvania Forage Conference sponsored by the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council and Penn State University will be held on Tuesday, November 24, 1987 at the Mercersburg Academy in Mercersburg, PA (Franklin County). Registration will begin at 9:00. For more information, contact Lisa Crytser, Dept. of Agronomy, 115 Tyson Bldg., University Park, PA 16802, phone number: 814-865-2543, or your county extension office.

Farm Credit Announces Ag Progress Door Prize Winner

The Farm Credit System

Farm Credit News

WEST CHESTER — The dust has settled, the tents are down, Ag Progress Days 1987 is history. The Farm Credit Service of PA display was visited by thousands of farmers who came to see how the project committee followed through with their theme — "Farm Credit . . . planting the seeds for your farm's future." Comments from visitors were very favorable and the display was deemed a success.

Three door prizes were to be awarded to the people who came closest to guessing the number of corn kernels in a large jar. Many asked that Farm Credit publish in LANCASTER FARMING the correct number of kernels and announce the winners. So . . . here they are. The correct number of kernels was 35,750. First prize winner was James T. Sheeder of Somerset Co. who won the rototiller which was on display in the garden exhibit. Jeff Martz of Northumberland Co. won second prize which was an electronic batch Farm Records and Tax Service package. There was a tie (believe it or not!) for third place. Both Bradley Bird of Montour Co. and Carl Kahley of Juniata Co. won twenty-two quart pressure cookers.

Congratulations to the good "guessers"! Farm Credit of PA is already planning for their 1988 Ag Progress Days display. Remember to stop by next year and say hello.

Annual Brethren Relief Auction Nets $245,000

Approximately 10,000 people attended the 11th Annual Brethren Relief Auction Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26, at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds. Over $245,000 was raised to help victims of disasters in the United States and around the world.

The Auction, sponsored by the 67 congregations of the Atlantic Northeast District of the Church of the Brethren, featured a Heifer Auction on Friday evening with 87 heifers being auctioned for $80,000.

Saturday's Auction included 105 quilts which were sold during the day ranging in price from $300 to $5,500. A never-used 1904 antique lone star quilt, donated by Anna Lutz of Lititz, sold for $5,500. 98-year-old Lizzie Longenecker of Manheim made a trip-around-the-world quilt for the Auction which sold for $5,000. Mrs. Longenecker, who attended the Auction, received a standing ovation when the final bid for the quilt was taken. A quilt with patches from the churches of the Atlantic Northeast District was purchased for $1,550 and will be donated to the new Rufus P. Bucher Meetinghouse which will be constructed on the campus of Elizabethtown College.

Other items of interest which sold were a three-dimensional barn raising scene by Abner Zook, $8,800; a baseball bat autographed by Tom Herr, $425; a baseball bat autographed by Mike Schmidt, $700; a baseball autographed by Mike Schmidt, $500; two Ned Smith prints, $1,000 each; a painting of the Ephrata Cloister by Paul W. Brubaker of Ephrata, $2,100 and a painting of an old Brethren meetinghouse by Mount Joy artist Linn Longenecker, $1,850.

The Auction is only one part of the disaster response network of the Church of the Brethren which sends not only financial assistance to disaster areas world-wide but volunteer laborers to help with rebuilding and construction, child care and medical assistance.

David and Belinda Graybill of Lititz served as Associate Coordinators of this year's Auction.

Middleburg Market Wins National Promotion Contest

Stuckey's IGA Market in Middleburg, Snyder County, has won first place among independent supermarkets participating in a nationwide special beef promotion contest featuring the slogan: "BEEF. REAL FOOD FOR REAL PEOPLE."

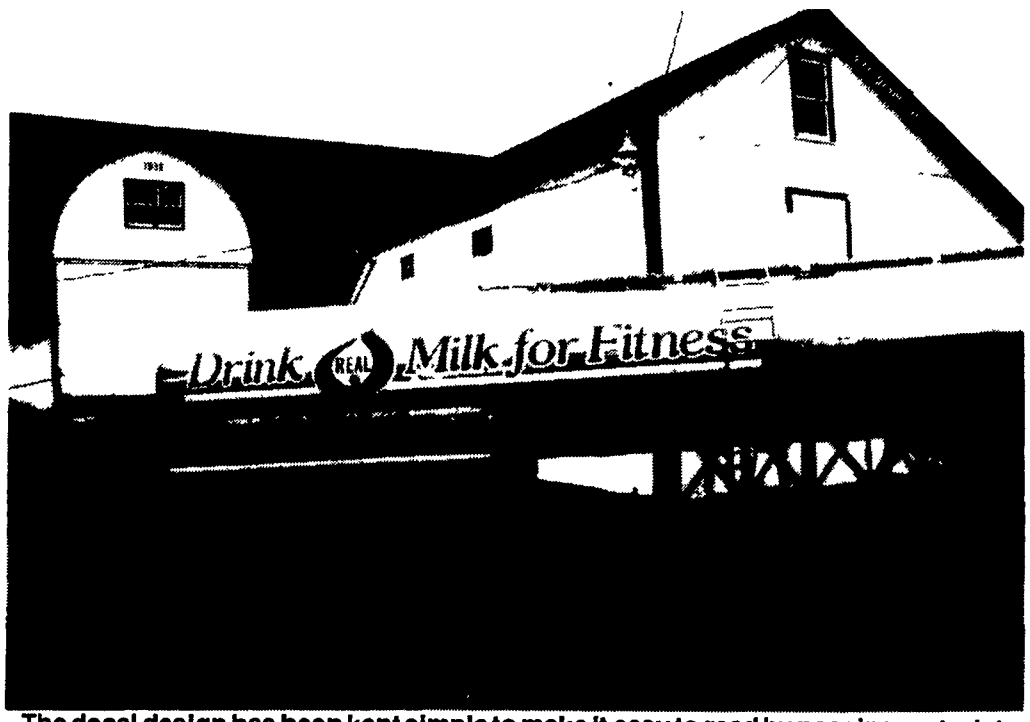
Robert R. Coleman, executive director of the Pennsylvania Beef Council, today presented store manager Don Shirk with an inscribed plaque denoting the award and a video monitor and two video tapes for use in the store to merchandise beef. He also presented a plaque to Ken Rishel, the store's meat manager, along with a video cassette recorder for his personal use.

Bud Tanabaker, IGA representative, and Joan Liesau, coordinator of the Pennsylvania Meat Marketing Program, attended the awards presentation held at the market.

The contest, sponsored by the Beef Industry Council and the Cattlemen's Beef Board in January, was divided into three classes--Large Chain Stores, Small Chain Stores, and Independent Stores. Criteria used in judging were: (1) The display of point-of-purchase materials. (2) The display of the slogan, "BEEF. REAL FOOD FOR REAL PEOPLE." (3) The percentage of the increase in beef sales resulting from the promotion.

Milk Trucks Become Billboards

There are over 300 milk tanker trucks that haul Federal Order #4 milk from dairy farms to processing facilities each day. These trucks cover a lot of road, from rural environs, to small towns and suburban areas, and on into major metropolitan centers. Like the mailman, these trucks work diligently through sun, rain, sleet and snow to take milk to market. Now thanks to a new decal program by the Advertising and Promotion Agency of the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Area (MAMMA), these trucks will be working just as diligently at expanding the market for milk, by advertising it on the sides of their tanks.



The decal design has been kept simple to make it easy to read by passing motorists, and the height of letters large enough to be clearly legible from a distance of at least 500 feet. The slogan, "Drink Milk for Fitness" was chosen so the decals will reinforce the message, "Milk. It's Fitness You Can Drink" that MAMMA uses in it's television radio, billboard and in-store advertising.

MAMMA rolled out this new advertising campaign in August that turns milk trucks into rolling billboards. That is when installation of the decals onto the tanker trucks began. The decal is printed in vibrant blue and red colors with a white silhouette. It states, "Drink Milk for Fitness," and incorpates a large red "REAL" Seal.

"We looked at the typical route of a milk truck, if there is such a thing," said MAMMA's Communication Director Trish Williams, who served as the project leader for the program. "We also looked at research data on fleet graphics compiled by the American Trucking Association (ATA). This research included motorist and pedestrian attitudes toward fleet markings, truck drivers attitudes toward their job as affected by fleet markings and other factors, and the number of visual impressions we could make with a fleet graphics program based on the decal's design, size, placement, and the number of miles these trucks travel. Price and design quotes were then solicited from six of the top decal manufacturers. When all these factors were considered, it was apparent that it was a very feasible way to advertise our product."

Installation of the decals began in southern Lancaster County. Eventually trucks in southern New Jersey, southeastern and south-central Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and northern Virginia will carry the milk message on their tanks.

Scholarship Aids Ag Students

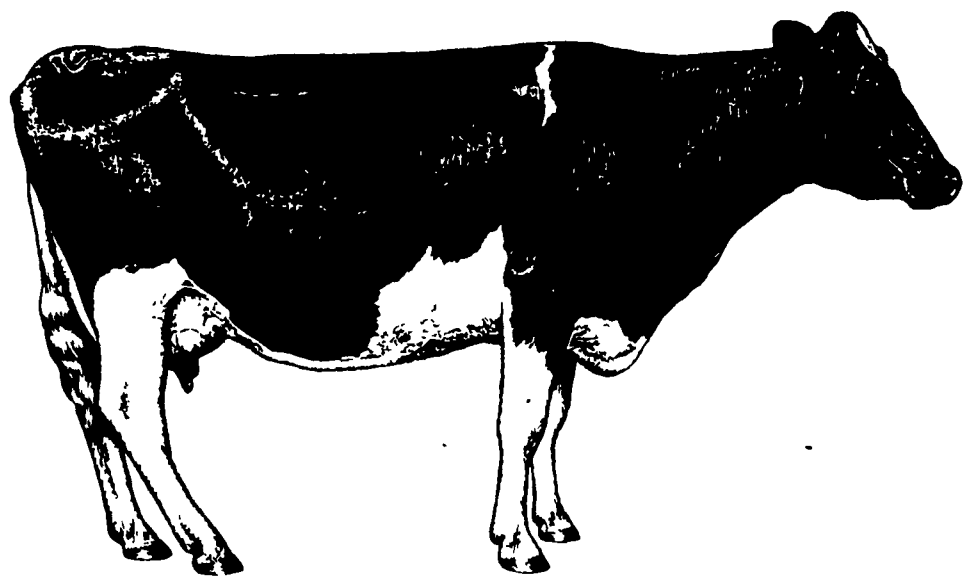
UNIVERSITY PARK — A scholarship for undergraduates in Penn State's dairy and animal science department has been established at Penn State with a bequest of $127,000, the Board of Trustees learned today (Sept. 18).

The endowment came from the estate of Anna K. Eaton, for many years director of the Abbott's Dairy laboratories in Philadelphia.

"Anna Eaton worked with Penn Staters at Abbott's and was involved in cooperative laboratory procedures with our dairy scientists," said department head Paul Wangsness. "We're grateful that she remembered us by creating one of our department's largest scholarship programs."

First preference for the Eaton scholarship will be given to women.

Recipients will be selected by the College of Agriculture scholarship committee. The number of annual awards and the amount of each will depend on the endowment's earnings.



VITAMIN E

Recent Ohio Research indicates that the increased incidence of mastitis and retained placentas is caused by inadequate levels of Vitamin E in Dairy Cow Rations. This is prevalent in the Selenium-Deficient Northeast. As a result, Agway immediately increased Vitamin E levels in all formula feeds and mineral premixes.

Other feed companies will probably follow suit.

600 Expected At Eastern's Annual Meeting

SYRACUSE, NY — Some 600 farmers and dairy industry officials from throughout the Northeast are expected to attend the annual meeting of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, which will be held here Oct. 6-7 in the Hotels at Syracuse Square.

The cooperative's annual banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, will be highlighted by the presentation of the Quality Farmer of the Year Award. The banquet speaker will be Buckey M. Jones, four-time recipient of the Mississippi Master Dairyman Award. He is president of the .Gulf Division Board of Dairymen Inc., another cooperative.

The annual business meeting will take place Wednesday morning, Oct. 7.

Following the business meeting, Eastern's board of directors will elect officers for 1987-88. Also, members of the board and management team will meet with representatives of the news media at a luncheon.

Eastern, with some 3,700 farmers in nine states, annually markets over 2 billion pounds of milk — the equivalent of more than 1 billion quarts.

York Co. Livestock Sale Going Strong

FAWN GROVE (YORK CO.) — The York County Livestock Sales, Ltd. continues business as usual every Monday evening at their location in Fawn Grove in York County along route 24 between Stewartstown and New Park.

Stan and Mary Nagle have turned over the ownership of York's only livestock auction to its new owners, Jim Hoover and Diane Lear Stearns.

Buffalo Valley Produce Auction

ers, they also wanted to go beyond selling commodities. This summer an educational meeting was held to assist growers with growing, harvesting, and packing a high quality product.

The auction is growing not only by the amount of produce sold, but also by the ability to provide quality and convenience to their growers and buyers. In the near future, plans are being made for hay, grain, straw, and firewood sales.

Persistence, planning, and hard work have all paid off for the Buffalo Valley Produce Auction; and for the agricultural economy of the Central Susquehanna Valley.

Bupp And Martin Elected To Dairymen, Inc. Board

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Joyce A. Bupp and Harold H. Martin were seated on Dairymen, Inc.'s Association Board of Directors at its September meeting in Louisville, Kentucky, after being elected to replace Donald E. Cole, Hampstead, Maryland, and Samuel B. Foard, Street, Maryland. Both Cole and Foard participated in the recent Dairy Termination Program.

Bupp, 41, Seven Valleys, Pennsylvania, has served as a director on the board of Dairymen's Middle Atlantic Division for the past three years. The York County dairy farmer milks 225 registered Holsteins with her husband, Leroy, on the family's 250-acre farm. In addition, the Bupps raise corn, hay and soybeans on 500 acres of rented land.

Joyce Bupp

Harold H. Martin

The new association board member is executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association. She is a writer/columnist for the Lancaster Farming and York Dispatch newspapers and has served as secretary and director for the Dairy Food and Nutrition Council of the Upper Chesapeake Bay. The Bupps have two children, Patricia Ann, 19, and Richard Leroy, 15.

Martin, 56, Oxford, Pennsylvania, has served as a Middle Atlantic Division director for the past five years. The Chester County dairy farmer milks 75 Holstein cows on his 114-acre farm. In addition, Martin rents about the same acreage to raise corn and hay.

The Oxford farmer is a member of the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative and serves on the national legislative committee of the Chester County Farmers Association. He has served as president of the local Agway, Inc., farm supply cooperative outlet. Martin and his wife Edna, have three children, Judy, 35, Kevin, 31, and Craig, 17.

Dairymen, Inc. is a regional milk and dairy products marketing cooperative headquartered in Louisville, Kentucky, with approximately 6,300 members in 16 mid-Atlantic and southeastern states. The Middle Atlantic Division is one of 11 Dairymen divisions which has about 800 members in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

Eastern National Brown Swiss Show

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG — With entries increased from last year, the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show at the All American show in Harrisburg last week featured large classes and high quality animals. Judge John Morris noted many of the top placing animals as "well balanced, clean cut individuals."

Top Acres Farm, St. Paris, Ohio, owned by Wayne Sliker, walked away with top honors, taking home the Premier Breeder, Premier Exhibitor, and Grand Champion Female banners. The five year old Top Acres entry, Ventures JPR Bermuda, was named the Grand Champion by Judge Morris. Also named Best Udder, "Bermuda" boasts a high record of 3-07 305 18,300 4.3% 785. She is a daughter of Joann Proud Richard, and owned by Kevin Sliker.

The Reserve Grand Championship went to another Sliker, Top Acres entry, Top Acres Stretchy Jade ET, who had topped the four year old class.

Top Acres Elegant Source was named Champion Bull. Bred by Wayne Sliker, the senior bull calf is owned by Dale Baumann, Fayetteville, Ohio. Junior Champion Female was won by Sibley's Nobleman Fanette, a senior yearling heifer owned by C & B Dairy, Gilbert, Arizona. The Reserve Junior Champion spot went to the second place senior yearling heifer, Shady Creek Index Bonnie Bess, owned by Michael Kunkle, Jonestown, Pa.

The Meadow View Trophy and the J.P. Eves Trophy, awarded to the exhibitor of the total performance winner with the highest score and to the cow with the highest 305 day actual record, went to High Spruce Stretchy Eve, owned by R Hart Farm and Warren Schroer, Wapakoneta, Ohio. Entered in the Dry Cow Class, four years and over, "Eve" boasts a record of 4-02 305 days, 27,110 4.8% 1299. She is sired by Alexander Alaric Stretch Tim, out of Ideal Beauty Envy. She placed third in her class.

Financing Of Agriculture

The Global Market

Over production is a major problem in the United States and undoubtedly will only increase with little or no effort. The technological advancements alone will increase production at 2 percent annually, according to Webster, and that was not including other major breakthroughs like BST which alone can increase milk production up to 20 percent.

Over production comes at a substantial high cost to the taxpayer and how long will the American taxpayer including the non-farm sector be willing to support the the farming sector.

A global market is the key to over-production in the United States. Webster supports the International Agricultural Trade Bill as a bold initiative that would in effect level the playing field by voiding all trade reducing subsidies. He said it would create the ideal situation for the most efficient producers in the world to survive and flourish.

The agricultural producers of future generations will have to be better educated in management and especially marketing. Not only in the United States but around the world. No longer can a farmer think of planting corn or wheat without taking into consideration what farmers are doing in Argentina or Brazil.

Further changes are forthcoming in the structure of agriculture because of high-debt, and a drop in land prices. In the past we were a generation of farmers who remembered the depression era and were highly adverse to debt. And although some farmers may have drifted away from that trend, it is coming back. Webster predicted more absentee ownership. Investors may put their money into farmland, and farmers will be opting for leasing instead of purchasing with the resultant high debt.

There has been such a mass exodus of people out of the farming industry that now there are even fewer farmers who could leave en masse. The critical social impact of restructuring, he predicts, will be a very hard adjustment for farmers, towns, communities, and all those other institutions who depend on those farms.

"We have so much knowledge. Technical gains have brought us so much. Extension services have done their job to keep production costs low and for farming to have a less adverse impact on the environment," said Webster."But now we have to learn more how to use this knowledge not only in Pennsylvania, California and Kansas, but throughout the world. The policy process of the 1940's is unsuitable for the 1980's and it puts upon the policy makers a challenge demanding careful thoughts."

Webster suggests that we share ideas of technology around the world especially with the famine countries who need what the US is overproducing. Potential markets exist in the developing countries that have no money to buy. Helping these countries to develop their buying power will develop markets for American produce.

The PAFC Master Education Award was presented to Russ Redding by Kathy Gill at the annual meeting Tuesday evening.

Fewer Lenders

Marvin Duncan, member of the board of directors of the farm Credit Administration since 1986, told PAFC members that the total farm debt may fall to $150 billion for two reasons. One is that there are those farmers who are cautious about high debt and will incur less debt in the future. Also, lenders have suffered enormous losses and they are cautious about lending to farm borrowers. Plus, conservative bankers are demanding greater equity for their loans.

Apparently this conservativeness by lenders is due largely to farmers filing for bankruptcy under Chapter 12. There was a 93 percent increase in filing for bankruptcy in the first half of 1987 because of the lenient debt reorganization allowed under Chapter 12.

Duncan explained that debt restructuring is a help to the troubled borrower if it is based on sound business practices; however, if it is not, then it is only making the situation worse and delaying the inevitable. But the cost of extra attention, service and time expended on troubled borrowers will be passed on to the credit worthy borrowers and they will be paying the higher borrowing costs. Further loss will be born by taxpayers and/or the healthier farm lending institutions, according to Duncan.

Duncan said the United States Congress is interested in retaining programs to serve the financial needs of the agricultural sector, but there will be a move to full risk equity.

According to Duncan, the bottom line in this financial picture is "Those who do their best will survive and those who do not do well will be phased out. That's the way it is and always has been in this country. I have confidence that the Farm Credit Corporation will prosper."

Reider Bennett-White, director of legislative affairs for the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore, said that if the current level of spending by the government cannot be sustained which it will not be, it will have a great impact on the agricultural industry.

"The amount of federal financial assistance coming into the FCC must be the minimum amount, it must not come at the expense of other farm programs." said Bennett-White.

Urge Farmers' Involvement

Farmers should get involved with the FCC and not become apathetic towards its future according to Paul Johnston, president and chief executive officer of Agri-Mark, a New England based dairy cooperative.

"It is critical that whatever bank you are dealing with has a working knowledge of your business.

"Although Congress will ultimately decide what the FCC will do, we cannot afford to be apathetic towards the FCC. The farming industry is changing not only locally but globally. The Farm Credit Corporation should continue and we must be careful not to throw the baby out with the bath water. We must be concerned and involved in the FCC. It has a been strong tool for farmers in the past," said Johnston.

Johnston advocates the development of a national agricultural policy instead of a policy which changes every 4-8 years. He said, "We must encourage the government to develop a national ag policy. I believe the purpose of government in agriculture is to steady the ship and not to propel it through the water."

Wolff Speaks

"yes" in the $100-million farm-preservation referendum November 3, Wolff said, "A 'yes' vote will send a strong message to the legislature that Pennsylvania supports agriculture." Agriculture is the state's number one industry and number-one taxpayer, according to Wolff.

Speaking of agriculture's impact on tourism, the state's second source of income, the secretary said that farmland provides a scenic backdrop for vacations. "When you travel across Pennsylvania and see all the beautiful farms, you'd hate to see them get lost," he declared.

After reeling off the advantages of the bond issue to purchase agricultural easements, Wolff emphasized that it is a voluntary program. "No farmer will be forced into selling his development rights," he said. Nor is the proposal anti-development, according to the secretary, "but once farmland is lost, it's irreplaceable."

In a show of bipartisan support, Irene Brooks, chairman of the Chester County Commissioners, told the audience that the county's republican organization also is in favor of agricultural conservation easements. The party's sample ballots will be marked with a "yes" vote.

Harold Kulp, Farmers Association coordinator for farmland preservation, stated that "the job now is to generate money to get a 'yes' vote."

A long time member of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, Wolff urged the members to stand united in policy development. "Politicians will try to put a wedge between you, and you won't get anything," he said, "or you won't get what you want."

Wolff, who was appointed last winter by Governor Robert Casey, explained the Agriculture Department's four major objectives: to promote agriculture in the classroom, protect the consumer's rights, protect the farmer's rights, and promote agricultural products. He speculated that his "possibility to make a mark" may come in market development and promotion. Toward that end, Wolff said that he will be traveling to Europe next month to the world's largest food show to promote Pennsylvania products.

Chester-Delaware County farmers voted in favor of 14 policy recommendations to be presented at the state level. These include higher standards for district justices; roadside weeds to be mowed instead of sprayed; mandatory testing of hospital patients, diplomats, immigrants, brides, and grooms for AIDS; regional rather than national milk pricing; and opposition to milk quotas. Other recommendations were farmer representation on the SPCA board, elimination of year-round mushroom operations from the seasonal migrant workers act; and township consideration of cluster housing to preserve farmland.

Lynn Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore of Cochranville, was awarded a $100 savings bond for her winning entry in the state safety poster contest. The 14-year old's poster was judged best for her age group.

Other awards were given for surpassing the 681-membership goal by six. Individual recognitions were given to Elmer Mast, president, Barclay Hoopes, Dottie Bartels, Albert Bartels, Ernest Lantz, Richard Breckbill, and Harold Kulp.

Dinner was served by the Octorara chapter of Future Farmers of America aided by the cafeteria staff. Joyce Hershey, wife of Representative Arthur Hershey (R-13), entertained the diners with several accordian selections.

Families Sought To Raise Seeing Eye Puppies

NEW JERSEY — The Seeing Eye, Inc., seeks families to raise puppies destined to become dog guides for blind people. Puppies born at the Scientific Breeding Station in Mendham Township will soon be ready for loving homes.

The Seeing Eye, Inc., pays veterinary expenses and provides a monthly allowance to help defray other puppy-raising costs. The adults and youngsters who raise the puppies take them to local 4-H meetings to teach them basic obedience, and a Seeing Eye representative visits the home periodically to record the progress of each pup.

Raising a Seeing Eye puppy is a family project. As a family member, a puppy gets the confidence it needs to be a Seeing Eye dog. When it's old enough for training, it will already be well adjusted to family life. Sometime between 12 and 14 months of age the pup will return to The Seeing Eye in Morris Township, NJ, for specialized training with qualified instructors.

Since 1941, 4-H families have been raising puppies for The Seeing Eye. For more information contact your 4-H county extension office at 696-3500.

"Hardy corn is great! It does a great job of husking, and it's always nice and green, and it stands well. Our 300 acres are all Hardy. Why, some folks say, 'my gosh, I never saw corn like that!' "
Tom McConahy
Volant, PA

"Hardy comes out on top compared to the others. Hardy 760XS is a good shelling corn, yields terrific and stands great. The 370XS short season is a tall corn, and shells so easy, you can hardly hear it go through the combine."
Dave Moore
Boonsboro, MD

"I've been with Hardy for 10 years. We get a lot longer grain with Hardy 370XS, and it really shells great. And Hardy has a better stalk than most I've seen. It's great looking corn, why it really sells itself!"
Roy Hoffman

Legumes: Nature's Underused Storehouse

When one thinks of healthy, nutritious foods, vegetables, fruits, and cereal grains immediately spring to mind.

International Wildlife magazine reports, however, that the solution to severe wildlife nutrition shortages may lie elsewhere.

Ironically, legumes, a highly underrated and often neglected family of flowering plants, probably represent agriculture's best hope for feeding humanity and solving many resource problems.

Throughout the world, the Leguminosae family is the third largest family of flowering plants. Some 18,000 herbs, shrubs, and trees are members, including beans, peas, peanuts, and clover. Many of these legumes are currently being grown to great advantage. Hundreds more, however, are largely ignored, wasting a great nutritional resource.

Legumes like peas, beans, peanuts, and soybean are commonly used in this country, but many lesser known legumes are also important producers of nutritious foods. On the average, legume seeds contain two to four times the protein of cereal grains and are rich with oils.

For example, southern Africa's Marama beans taste like almonds and have more oil than soybeans and more protein than peanuts; South American nunas can be popped like popcorn yet are more nutritious; Honey locust trees, found in the United States, produce more sugar per acre than sugar cane; the South American igna pods are called ice cream beans because of their sweet taste; and American groundnut is a more nutritious substitute for potatoes.

The legume family also includes many of the world's fastest growing trees, making them leading candidates for producing firewood, a prime need in developing countries. This attribute, combined with their natural ruggedness, also allows the legume to be nature's most effective reforester, capable of recovering barren, abandoned, and even toxic lands.

Besides foods and firewood, legumes produce many other important products, including a gasoline-like fuel which comes from an Amazonian tree. The drug L-dopa, used to treat victims of Parkinson's disease, is derived from a Central American shrub.

In addition to these assets, legumes are tremendously versatile. With the help of microscopic soil bacteria, they take unusable nitrogen gas out of the air and "fix" it, in the process creating protein, vitamins, and other nitrogen-containing compounds. This ability to produce its own nutrients frees the legume to live virtually anywhere. The tamarugo tree of Chile, for example, is able to thrive in the Atacama Desert where the soil is comprised of almost nothing but salt and the only moisture for miles comes from the mist in the air.

The nitrogen that legumes collect also enriches soil, making it a more fertile base for nearby plants. In fact, legumes are so productive that each year legume crops add more nourishment to the soil than does all the fertilizer produced by industry.

FLO-STAR™ claw

Bou-Matic®'s Flo-Star™ milking claw improves milk flow for:

- Better cow health
- Faster milk throughput, and
- Better milk quality.

Bou-Matic engineers designed the Flo-Star claw so milk flows smoothly and quickly out the bottom.

Less agitation equals less chance of milk "mist" carrying bacteria among teats. So the Flo-Star claw can mean less mastitis spread at milking.

Prove it to yourself by calling your Bou-Matic dealer for a free, on-farm demonstration.

Meet Lancaster County's Outstanding 4-H'er

BY SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

Editor's Note: National 4-H Week is being observed from October 5-11. Lancaster Farming salutes all 4-H'ers and the volunteer leaders who make the 4-H program possible. Amy Jo Strausbaugh is just one of thousands of 4-H'ers who are learning and growing through the 4-H program.

MANHEIM — When Amy Jo Strausbaugh was eight-years-old she watched the selection of the Lancaster County 4-H Queen and dreamed of becoming Queen herself one day. Now that she is seventeen, the dream has come true, though with a slight variation.

A demonstration on flower arranging helped give her the courage to be able to speak before a group. Here Amy Jo enjoys the flowers surrounding her Manheim home.

At some point the program recognizing excellence in 4-H'ers was altered to be the Outstanding 4-H'er so that young men could also compete. Nevertheless, the honor is the same, and Amy Jo was selected as Lancaster's Outstanding 4-H'er at Achievement Night in August. Amy Jo says, "Even though the program was revamped, it is still that position, and I really wanted to be one."

She added, "I got a lot of encouragement from my mother, and I was drewaming about it for a long time. That dream has finally come true.

For this senior at Manheim Central High School, it is the culmination of an active 4-H career, one which she acknowledges has helped her grow in many ways. She is ready to visit groups during the coming year and encourage 4-H'ers with the promise of personal growth and achievement.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Strausbaugh, R.D. 6, Manheim, Amy Jo remembers joining 4-H because her mother thought it would be best if she learned some of the basic skills like sewing from someone other than her mother. After nine years, Amy Jo has expanded her knowledge of a wide variety of project areas including sewing, ceramics, flower arranging, stenciling, macrame, crafts and cooking.

More important, according to Amy Jo, are the life skills she has acquired. "I learned responsibility through doing projects, and I learned good sportsmanship. Sometimes it hurt pretty bad not to do well in a project. I also learned to get projects finished on time."

Perhaps one of the most beneficial rewards Amy Jo gained from 4-H was the ability to stand in front of groups. "Being an officer helped me be a lot more confident and relaxed and it helps a lot when I have to give oral reports in school." She has served as secretary, vice-president and president of the Mastersonville Community Club, and as secretary of the 4-H Exchange Club.

Amy Jo was part of the first group of 4-H'ers who participated in a Toastmasters program for young people. Amy Jo recalls, "That really helped me get in front of a group and be able to speak. It helped me a lot with impromptu speaking."

Giving demonstrations also perfected her speaking ability. Amy Jo recalls giving a flower arranging demonstration in 1983. "It was an excellent experience. I remember being a nervous wreck giving it in front of my club. It took all I had to get through it. But after giving it at the county and at the regional competition, it got a lot easier and I felt good about what I had done."

It is certainly her speaking ability that will be called into play as she visits 4-H clubs and other groups to extol the virtues of 4-H. And Amy Jo is eager to talk to others. She says, "I think this is a good opportunity to tell them to take as many opportunities as they can to learn. 4-H is an excellent choice. I learned so much from 4-H."

One of Amy Jo's most recent and most exciting experiences was to travel to Washington, D.C. to participate in Citizenship Washington Focus this summer. She recalls, "I learned so much from that about our government and how it functions. I love history and I found it fascinating." In addition to visiting the usual tourists sites, the 4-H'ers met with their local Congressman, and it was a thrill for Amy Jo to meet with Congressman Robert Walker in his Capitol offices.

Travel has been another lure for Amy Jo to stay involved with 4-H. As a member of the 4-H Exchange Club, Amy Jo has traveled to both Michigan and Louisiana and lived with 4-H families in those states. She says, "That helped me be ready for different situations, and we learned that people do live differently then we do in Lancaster County."

Lancaster County's

In addition to making friends in the host states, Amy Jo found herself getting to know the Lancaster County 4-H'ers better, as they worked together to make money for their trip, and as they traveled together.

Amy Jo says the local group found that their teenage hosts in Michigan were always ready to go with their friends, commenting, "I think we are more content to stay at home." In Louisiana she says a host sister warned her not to walk around the house in her robe because they had so many visitors. Sure enough, Amy Jo says they frequently had a house full of guests. "People just dropped by. I was really surprised how friendly people were. It was fun to learn about the Cajun culture."

Amy Jo says she got involved with the Exchange Club because she had started attending County Council when she was 12, just slightly younger than she should have been. The 4-H agent at the time, Donna Lucidi, encouraged her to continue to attend, and when the County Council was abolished in favor of a countywide Exchange Club, Amy Jo stayed. She says, "I thought it would be fascinating to travel so I stuck with it."

Indeed, her fascination with travel even took her across the ocean last summer, when she suspended much of her 4-H activities to participate in the American Scandinavian Student Exchange. She traveled to Spain for five weeks, lived with a family, and learned about the Spanish culture.

Amy Jo says, "It was an excellent opportunity to see what a Spanish-speaking country is really like. I always wished to travel as an exchange student, but most programs were for older students. When we saw this one advertised in the paper we checked into it. I filled out a packet of forms and was accepted."

Of particular interest to Amy Jo was the extremely old culture. "We saw one cathedral that had been under construction for 200 years. That church was as old as our country. It was a fascinating experience to see a culture that was so old."

In her host family, there were several other foreign students as well as other Americans visiting Spain. Amy Jo says, "At our supper table there would sometimes be two or three languages spoken." She adds, "That trip got me motivated to be more independent, and it helped me learn to budget my money."

After participating in 4-H activities at Penn State on three different occasions, she has also made friends from around the state. An avid scrapbook maker, Amy Jo has chronicled her many trips and activities in numerous scrapbooks.

Her one remaining goal is to successfully complete a blue form, and aim for being a winner in the citizenship category.

When she graduates, she hopes to study nursing at St. Joseph's Hospital, with a goal of becoming a neo-natal nurse. Her interest is guided by her participation in the Medical Careers Club at Manheim Central High School, and, she says, "I have always dreamed of working in a hospital nursery. I love babies." It's not too far-fetched to believe that this is another dream that will come true for Amy Jo.

Service is already a part of her life, she tutors elementary school children with learning disabilities. Also, she teaches children's church at Erisman Mennonite Church where she is active in the youth group.

As part of the selection process to be named Outstanding 4-H'er, Amy Jo had to give a prepared speech on how 4-H has helped her. She summarized her deep feelings about 4-H when she said, "It has widened my horizons and at the same time helped me to become a better citizen. 4-H is a priceless experience. I wonder where I would be without all the influence 4-H has had on my life."

Cedar Crest FFA Serve As Guides

The Cedar Crest FFA recently participated at the Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show. Members worked as tour guides for elementary students in the Harrisburg area. Members working at the show included: Kevin Gonzalez, Brian Boyd, John Risser, Chris Long, Todd Balsbaugh, Mardell Boyd, Colette Hower, Jim Houser, Ammon Peiffer. The tour included identifing the six different breeds of dairy cattle and showing how a cow is milked. The All American show is one of the top three dairy shows in the country. The elementary students were then treated to milk and given coloring books, at the conclusion of the tour. The children went home with a new knowledge of the dairy industry and found out that the milk they drink doesn't really come from the store.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

A flip of a badly-scribbled-up calendar page and there it was. October.

Each month seems to offer it's own unique personality, blending one into another through years which progress with frightening speed. Some pages promise the bluster of biting winds and stinging snow, while otheres play on a stage of baking heat and choking humidity. The more gentle glide past on budding early flowers and soft breezes carrying the scent of newly-mowed hay.

October, though, is a compromiser, a cross-section. She has a taste of all of those, but not so much of any one to become routine. So, October has always been a special treat, kind of an annual surprise package, wrapped up in vivid, seasonal colors.

Early mornings are crisp and refreshing, a bracer that smacks the cheeks and prys open still sleepy eyes on the way to do barn chores. Mist hovers over the meadow ponds, veiling a reddish sun that creeps over the trees in the neighbor's woodlot.

By the time the last calf has guzzled her bottle, sunshine has devoured the mist and smiles down on the kittens curling up in warm corners, their tummies full from a milk breakfast. Its warmth sends us peeling off layers of plaid flannel and fuzzy sweatshirts, donned earlier against the October morning chill. And the sky is soooo gorgeously deep, clear, blue.

Praises be, gone are the hordes of late-summer flies. If October offered nothing else, I'd love it just for wiping out those pests. Well, at least most of 'em. A couple dozen of the toughest will inevitably scout out the house and plaster themselves to the back door screen everytime a cold front blows through. Eventually, the weather, a well-worn swatter and one final assault with an aerosol pyrethrum missle gets even the diehards.

If there is a single time of fulfillment on the farm, it must center here, on October. The pent-up push to plant, and the anxious uncertainty of the growing season have faded into memory. October hails with reality: either a rejoicing in fat ears and full silos, or a sober restructuring to match feed resources against the winter needs of hungry herds and flocks.

Indeed, this month we make settlement, of sorts, with what the past months have borne. It's a closing signed with roaring choppers and lumbering combines, clattering augers hidden in clouds of dust, and anxious farm wives peering late into the night for the reassurance of slowly-moving lights on a distant hillside.

But it's undeniably a beginning as well. As a chopper gobbles the last stalks off a field of corn, the spreader, chisel, and drill sweep across the same contours. Stretches of sharp-edged corn stubble shortly show the deep green of fast-growing sprouts of rye, barley, and wheat.

Then the first angle of honking geese splits the clear blue overhead. Their haunting calls warn of a less benevolent October about to descend. It follows soon after on a rush of sullen clouds and cold winds that taunt us through the window screens waiting for cover with storm panes. Nights of brilliant white moons dawn to mornings draped in crystal. Some Octobers we wake to maples bowed low under the leaden weight of heavy, wet, unseasonal snow.

And soon the sun opens over the woodlot setting to a gold, bronze, and fiery red world. Our resident redtail hawk glides above, shrieking at squirrels gathering scattered bits of corn lost by the chopper, to bury for winter stores along with the year's wealth of hickory nuts and acorns.

Frankly, knowing what follows when October's page flips to the back side of the calendar, I'd like to propose just extending this delightful month and all its amenities to about March 15.

Uh, would someone volunteer to look into that for me, please?

Have You Ever Tried To Store Root Crops Indoors?

If not, why not try it this Fall. First, let's look at which root crops can withstand an autumn frost while in the ground.

Root crops such as beets, carrots, celeriac, parsnips, salsify (oyster plant) and winter radishes can often withstand even heavy autumn frosts. They are better off in the garden until the nights are cold enough to properly store them at late Fall temperatures. Late Fall would be the earliest you's ever want to store these crops.

But what about Turnips and Rutabagas? They should be harvested prior to a heavy frost since they are often subject to chilling injury.

Begin digging root crops when the soil is dry. Immediately prepare them for storage by sorting out any undesirable specimens. Cut the plant tops about one-half inch from the crown. Place the remainder in storage boxes. All of these crops lose moisture readily and usually tend to shrivel in storage.

You can reduce shriveling by lining the storage containers with a vapor-proof material such as polyethylene film or asphalt paper--not tar paper. Place a layer of the same material over the top and tuck in lightly at the edge. Do not expose vegetables to drying winds and see that they are cool when you do put them in storage.

Another method to reduce shriveling is to place a layer of damp peat moss, sphagnum moss, sand, sawdust or shingle tow (wood shavings) over the top of the produce in the containers. As the media becomes dry, sprinkle it lightly with water.

Root crops keep best at temperatures between 32 and 40F. They require high humidity to prevent shriveling.

Celebrate Autumn With Pumpkin And Squash Dishes

The squash and pumpkin vines have turned brown. Brightly-colored pumpkins and mellow-shaded squash peep between the dried foliage, just waiting to be harvested.

In the kitchen, the aroma of baked pumpkin brings the family together for mouth-watering desserts. Is the pie as delicious as it looks? Or is it too spongy, too dry or uncooked in the middle?

To bake a perfect pumpkin pie is no easy feat. But many readers have shared their favorite pumpkin recipes that promise to turn even the most novice cook into an accomplished pumpkin pie baker. Try both the traditional squash and pumpkin recipes and the unusual ones.

PUMPKIN PIE

1½ cup cooked pumpkin
½ cup brown sugar
½ cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell

Mix pumpkin and dry ingredients. Add eggs and milk. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 425 degrees for 45-50 minutes.

EGG-STUFFED ZUCCHINI 'PUFFS'

2 plump zucchini squashes (about 1¼ lb. each)--stems removed 17¼ oz. box frozen puff pastry--thawed according to package directions
8 slices bacon--cooked crisp & crumbled
1 egg yolk beaten with 1 tablespoon water
4 eggs
1-3 ounce package cream cheese with chives--cubed, softened
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
4 tablespoons minced onions--divided
2 tablespoons chopped pimento--divided
1¼ cup shredded Swiss cheese--divided
2 teaspoons chopped chives--divided
Paprika

Cut squashes in half lengthwise. Cook in large pot of boiling salted water 5 minutes. Remove and let cool slightly. Scoop out pulp from each half--leaving a thin shell on each. (Reserve pulp for use in other recipes if desired).

On lightly floured surface, roll out each pastry sheet to a 10x12 inch rectangle. Cut each sheet into 2 5x11 inch pieces. Set each zucchini shell on 1 piece of pastry. Brush rims of shells with egg yolk-water mixture. Mold pastry around each shell--trimming as necessary. Pinch pastry all around rims of shells. Dip tines of a fork into egg yolk. Gently press all around pastry rim. Set shells on large baking sheet.

Set aside 4 teaspoons crumbled bacon for topping. Sprinkle remainder evenly into shells. Place 1 tablespoon onion, ½ tablespoon pimento and ¼ cup cheese in each.

In large bowl, beat eggs & cream cheese with electric mixer till blended. Beat in salt, pepper and garlic powder. Pour evenly into shells. Stir lightly.

Bake in preheated 375 degree oven 25 minutes. Sprinkle each puff with 1 tablespoon Swiss cheese, 1 teaspoon reserved bacon and ½ teaspoon chives. Dust lightly with Paprika. Bake 5 more minutes.

Place puffs on serving platter. Surround with cherry tomatoes, carrot sticks and parsley sprigs if desired. Makes 4 individual servings.

PUMPKIN PECAN PIE

¾ cup chopped pecans
4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1 cup golden molasses
2 cups cooked pumpkin
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
4 tablespoon butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Beat eggs, add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Pour into deep 9-inch unbaked pie crust. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake for 45 minutes or until set.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 366, Lititz, PA 17543. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION - Salina Peight, Belleville, would like a recipe for canning chili soup.

QUESTION - M. J. Willaw, Millerstown, requests a recipe for corn mush that uses flour and sweet corn instead of corn meal. She said her grandmother used to cook it until thick then when it was cold, she sliced it and fried it like mush made with corn meal.

QUESTION - Mrs. Fannie Lapp, Myerstown, requests a recipe for cream cheese that tastes like Philadelphia Cream Cheese.

QUESTION - Esther Long, Lenhartsville, would like a bread recipe for barley bread that does not use wheat flour. Since she has a granddaughter who is allergic to wheat flour, this 72-year-old grandmother said she needs to learn to bake many things differently than before. She also would appreciate recipes for pot-pie or chocolate cake that does not use wheat flour.

QUESTION - Rachel Beiler, New Providence, requests a recipe for granola bars which taste like store-brought ones.

QUESTION - Florence G. Nauman, Manheim, would appreciate a recipe for Molasses Whoopie Pies.

QUESTION - Jeanette Brooks, Westfield, requests a recipe for the starter required in the recipe for Friendship Cake.

QUESTION - Blanche Hess, Quarryville, would like a recipe for potatoe filling.

QUESTION - Sara Piho of East Berlin would like a copy of the old or original recipes listed on the sheet enclosed with a box of Sure-Jell. She said she is willing to pay the cost for making a copy.

QUESTION - Mrs. E. Gingrich, Manheim, requests a recipe for Sweet Potatoe Pie.

QUESTION - Mrs. Donald Rudolph, New Oxford, asks, "Does anyone know where to get wheat cereal like Flory's Mill in Rohrerstown sold?" She said the mill is now occupied by other craftpersons.

ANSWER - Mrs. Glenn Martin, Ephrata, would like instructions on canning casseroles, stews, and soups in a water bath canner or in the oven. She does not have a pressure cooker and wonders if jars MUST be pressure cooked to remain sealed? Also, she would like to know how long ingredients like pasta and vegetables need to be precooked before canning.

ANSWER - Linda M. Marks and many other readers have requested diabetic recipes. The response to this question has been overwhelming. I am including the diabetic pumpkin recipes in this week's Home on the Range column and more diabetic recipes will follow in the October 10 issue.

ANSWER - Mrs. Cyril Cassner, Newburg, requests a recipe for seafood salad that tastes like that served at Caesar's Palace in Atlantic City, N.J.

ANSWER - Carol Fantom, Delta, requested a recipe for soft and fluffy biscuits like those served at fast food restaurants. Thanks Mrs. Louise B. Tardy, Lexington, Va., for sending a recipe she found in Lancaster Farming last year. She said that she has used this delicious recipe numerous times.

Biscuits
Kentucy Fried Chicken Style

5 cups self-rising flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup shortening
1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 teaspoon sugar
2 cups buttermilk

Dissolve yeast in warm water, add sugar; set asided. Combine flour and soda, cut in shortening. Add Yeast mixture and buttermilk. Mix well. Knead lightly 10 to 15 times. Roll on floured surface. Cut to desired size. Dough does not need to rise. Bake at 450 degrees until brown.

If desired, freeze the cut out biscuits on a large baking sheet. Store the frozen biscuits in a plastic bag in the freezer. Remove a few at a time, bake as needed. They can be baked frozen or thawed a little before baking.

ANSWER - Mrs. E. Martin, Narvon, requested a recipe for Haystack Dinner, a layered meal that includes mashed potatoes, which is served in individual dishes. She would also like a recipe for stewed tomatoes. Thanks Janet Martin, Wernersville, for sharing your recipe.

Haystack Dinner

Prepare Barbeque and then add a small can of baked beans. Cook rice or mashed potatoes. Prepare cheese sauce by making a white sauce with flour and milk and then adding White American cheese.

To serve, stack the following in layers:
Broken corn chips or other crackers
Barbeque
Rice or potatoes
Corn chips again
Lettuce
Chopped tomatoes
Chopped onions
Chopped pickles
Top with hot cheese sauce.

ANSWER - A reader wanted to know if there are substitutions for wine, beer or liquor ingredients in recipes. Thanks Linda Wolstendholme, Collegeville, who said she substitutes those ingredients with liquids such as beef or chicken broth, tomato juice, apple juice, apricot nectar or orange juice. She said, "Of course, the recipe will not taste exactly the same, but with some creativity it will taste as good or better." When making desserts, she uses extracts such as peppermint instead of creme de menthe. The key to substituting, she suggests, is to use the exact amount of liquid the original recipe requests. For example, in a cake recipe she might use 1-2 teaspoons peppermint extract and then add water to correspond with the amount of wine the recipe requests.

ANSWER - Edna M. Kleinhans, Conestoga, requested a recipe for pickle relish like the Heinz brand name tastes.Thanks Mrs. Donald Rudolph, New Oxford, for sending your recipe.

Zucchini Relish

10 cups zucchini
4 cups onion
1 red and 1 green pepper

Grind and soak overnight with 5 tablespoons salt. Drain. Rinse with cold water.

Mix:
2½ cups vinegar
6 cups sugar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon tumeric
½ teaspoon black pepper
2 teaspoon celery seed

Mix with drained vegetables. Put in jars and seal in hot water bath.

ANSWER - Mrs. Abner Z. Glick, Quarryville, requested a recipe for solid pumpkin pies. Thanks Mrs. Ken Mowery, Branchville, N.J., who suggests that she should drain the cooked pumpkin, mix 1 small envelope of unflavored gelatin into the pumpkin and mix with the other ingredients. She does not separate the eggs and she adds the milk last. Thanks Mrs Donald Rudolph, New Oxford, for sending a recipe for a solid custard pumpkin pie. Also, check the "Home on the Range" column for more pumpkin pie recipes.

Custard Pumpkin Pie

2 cups pumpkin
½ cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups milk
½ cup cream
Pinch of salt
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites until stiff. Mix well: pumpkin, brown and white sugar, milk, cream, yolks, flour, spices, and vanilla. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into 2 unbaked shells. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes, then at 350 degrees until knife inserted into the custard comes out clean. Note: If you are in a hurry, do not separate the eggs, but mix together.

Plant Bulbs Now For A Colorful Spring

YORK — Fall is for planting trees, shrubs and bulbs. Use the month of October to visit gardens, parks and to make your flowering bulb selections. Select your bulbs based on type (variety), colors and size. Be sure to buy enough of each color and type for a good display in your garden. Use them for naturalized planting, accent, borders, rock or container gardens for indoor bloom or as cut flowers.

Let's escape from the ordinary. The well-known crocus, hyacinth, narcissus and tulips are all favorites but many other less known bulbs are available. But, no matter what you select for planting this Fall, make sure the bulbs are not diseased. Diseased bulbs look moldy, discolored, or soft and rotted. Bulbs should always be firm with unblemished skin. If you buy bulbs now, keep them in a cool, dry place. Temperatures higher than 70 degrees F. will damage the flower buds inside the bulbs.

Try some of the 'little bulbs' such as crocus, snowflakes, snow drops or winter aconite. Also called galanthus, a snowdrop will show its small frosty-white, bell-like flowers in the early spring. Pearl-like buds are protected by long green leaves when a snow and frost are still heavy. Watch for them even before the crocus bloom.

Another small bulb-type which is easily mistaken for blue bells is the scilla. Late blooming scilla is also called Spanish bluebells. They prefer a woodland planting but have use for border plantings or as a wildflower type for a naturalized garden area.

Ornamental onion is another conversation piece for the garden. Also called Allium Giganteum, these bulbs produce a three foot high deep purple flower. Blossoms are often ten inches in diameter. Muscari is a 'little bulb' showing a pagoda-like flower. They bloom late but are well worth the wait. Fritillarias have drooping cup-shaped flowers that resemble tiny, inverted tulips. Or, try the anemones which produce the brightest of spring flowers.

All these bulbs are easy to plant. Place bulbs in holes two to three times as deep as the diameters of the bulbs. Soil at the bottom of the bed should be loosened and a fertilizer such as bone meal or one high in phosphorus, calcium and magnesium should be mixed with it.

The bulbs should be planted firmly with pointed end up in late fall. Then fill the bed halfway with soil and water thoroughly. Finally, add the remaining soil, cover with a mulch and water thoroughly again.

In the spring, as soon as the shoots begin to emerge, the bulbs should be fertilized with a high nitrogen and potassium fertilizer. When the blooming period is over, let the foliage die naturally so that the food reserves from the leaves will be transported down to the developing roots.

If you plan your spring garden carefully, you can have continuing bloom from March through the end of June. Try interplanting the little bulbs with tulips and daffodils. Then, as the little bulbs fade, the reds, blues, golds and bi-colors of the larger blooming flowers will take their place.

ANSWER - Carolyn Steigerwald, Bernville, requested a recipe for pumpkin pie that is made from peeled, sliced, raw pumpkin instead of the usual cooked and mashed pumpkin. Thanks Mrs. Denise Angstadt, Oley, who writes:

Cut peeled pumpkin into very thin small pieces. use approximately 4 cups (enough for two pies). Add the following to mix thoroughly:

1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1½ cups brown sugar

Put into pie shells and cover with a lid (2 crust pie). The pie must have a lid for the pumpkin to soften. Makes two 9-inch pies. Bake as you would any other pie.

ANSWER - Mrs. E. Boyer, York Haven, requested a recipe for almond spice cake and for a lemon drink that is made similar to homemade rootbeer which uses yeast, sugar and lemon. Thanks Mrs. E. Boyer for sharing your recipe.

Lemon-Beer

2 lemons, sliced
1½ teaspoon nutmegs, grated
1 pint yeast
3 pounds sugar
3 gallons water (boil half of it)

Put the boiling water on the lemons first, then add the cold water and yeast. Let stand 24 hours. Strain and bottle in glass jars with tight lids.

ANSWER - Mrs. Paul L. Nice, Souderton, requested a recipe for pumpkin whoopie pies. Thanks Mrs. Vernon Beiler, Paradise, for sending in your recipe. Also check the "Home on the Range" column for another one mailed by Mary Jane Musser.

Pumpkin Whoopies

1 large can pumpkin or a scant 2 cups
2 cups vegetable oil
4 cups brown sugar
4 eggs
2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoon ginger
2 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
6 cups flour

Mix ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees. If the cookie is sticky when finished baking, add a little more flour to the cookie dough.

How To Transplant Trees & Shrubs

YORK — Autumn is an ideal time to re-landscape or transplant trees and shrubs. Purchase northern-grown nursery stock whenever possible and plant them the same day. Don't let them sit around a few days until you plant.

Dig a hole in a well-drained area, about twice the width and depth of the root ball. Then add six inches of good top soil to the depth of the soil ball. If using a bare rooted plant, spread the roots out over a cone of good top soil or soil mix in the planting hole. The top of the ball should be level with the ground.

For trees in urban sites, a better planting hole consists of enlarging the top of the hole with the sides sloping towards the base of the root ball. This favors root growth near the surface. Trees planted between curbs and sidewalks would benefit most by this method.

Remove the rope and pull down the burlap. If the burlap isn't a biodegradable type, remove it. Plants which come in containers should have the rootball broken when planting to insure good root spread.

Fill the hole three-quarters full. Tramp down being careful not to damage the established soil ball. Add water. Finish filling the hole leaving a saucer-type affect around the base of the tree. This will confine the water to the area around the root ball.

Adding Mulches

Apply an organic mulch -- shredded hardwood or pine bark are good choices -- at least two inches thick on the soil around the plant. Keep the mulch from touching the tree and shrub stems by making an inverted cone space around the base of the plant. Mulch too close to the stems will tend to keep them overly moist, resulting in rotting of the bark at the ground level. Also, the stems need to be kept cool so they can harden off properly to withstand the winter.

Probably the most important benefit of mulches is that they moderate soil temperature fluctuations. Mulches protect plant roots from rapid temperature changes on clear, sunny Fall and Winter days which can be extremely damaging to roots.

Mulches also permit tree roots to grow late into the Fall until the soil temperature drops below 40-45 degrees F. With the use of mulches, the soil stays warmer longer in the late Fall permitting better root growth and establishment.

Guying and Staking

A newly planted tree needs support against wind. Trees with trunks exceeding six inches in diameter are guyed by the three double strands of wire attached to a one inch eye bolts. Evenly space them and direct them downward at a 60 degree angle at about two-fifths of the height up the tree. The trees are then anchored to stakes driven into the ground away from the base of the tree.

Smaller trees are staked with 2 by 2 inch stakes driven 2½ to 3 feet into the ground. Space the stakes evenly around the tree. Use two stakes for trees less than 2 inches in diameter and 3 stakes for trees 3 to 6 inches. Protect the tree by using a short piece of three-quarter inch diameter two-ply reinforced hose around the wire. After the tree is planted, it should stand straight and the height of the stakes should be the same.

Watch The APPLES Grow

By Marian Z. Martin
Roaring Springs
Age 14

First come the little buds
That are red and white
And when they open
It will be a pretty sight.

Take a deep breath
For it smells sweet
The bees like the blossoms
And many you will meet!

Apple blossoms are pretty
They are a beautiful display
Enjoy it to your fullest
For it will soon decay

In a few short days
The petals will fall
Then apples will appear
Look Hard! they are small

As days get warmer
The apples get bigger
The leaves grow too
And seem to get thicker

Soon they get
Some red stripes
Don't eat them yet
For they aren't ripe

When fall comes
And cold are the nights
It helps add color
That makes apples bright

A few weeks later
They are juicy and Ripe
And Oh! they look good
Pick one and take a bite

The De-Cow

BY Loretta Loump
Age 12
Bernville, PA

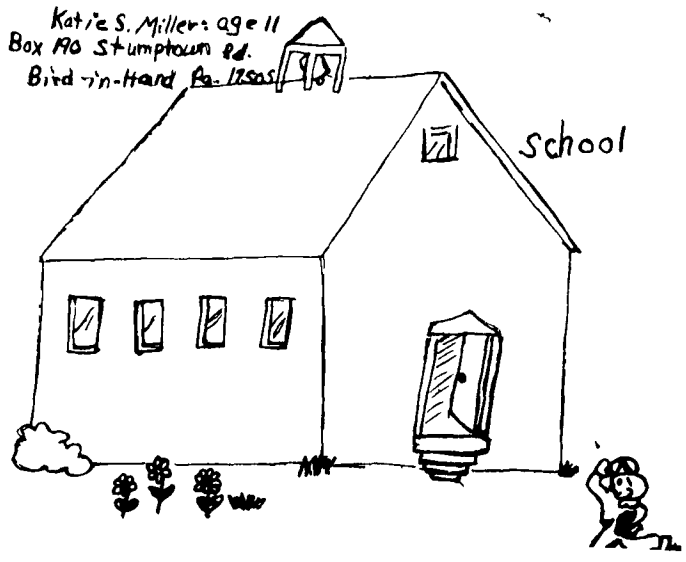
One day Furro, a Syrian, went on a trip. He came to this secret passage. The King's daughter Princess Pattie, came running and said, "Don't go in there or you will get killed."

But Furro said, "I'm going in anyhow."

So Princess Pattie gave him a gold visible string to find his way out. You could tell they were in love.

Furro then could hear the de-cow snoring. The de-cow saw Furro, but Furro chopped the de-cow's head off. Then he ran out of the passageway. Princess Pattie had the boat ready to go, but Princess Pattie and Furro almost forgot to change the flag color to white so that his father would know he was alive.

A week after they got home, they got married and lived happily ever after.



Petting Farm Sponsored By Cedar Crest FFA

The Cedar Crest FFA recently held a petting farm at the 87 Lebanon Bologna Fest. There were many different kinds of farm animals such as: Horses, Pigs, Chickens, Rabbits, Guinea pigs, A Goat, A Calf, Sheep and a John Deere tractor. Over 4,000 people toured the exhibits. The money earned by the members will be used for chapter activities and for member's individual FFA expenses. The following members helped at the petting farm: Kevin Gonzalez, Crystal Fox, Brian Knapp, Chris Long, Mardell Boyd, John Whary, Stacey Horney, Ammon Peiffer, Brian Boyd, John Enck, Todd Balsbaugh, John Risser, Dave Mooney, Joanna Young, Adam Hain, Mark Boyer, Lisa Deitz, Chris Bringman, Henry Smith, Andy ILL, Rich Fox, Jim Houser, and Pat Schott.

On Friday, September 18, the Cedar Crest FFA kicked off their 1987 Pork Roll sale. This year they will be selling: Pork Roll, Sweet Bologna, and Ring Bologna. To order, please call: 272-2031 Ext. 57 or contact any Cedar Crest FFA member.

How to rake it all in, without wearing yourself out.

JOHN DEERE

Nothing Runs Like a Deere®

Grass clippings are bad enough, but the leaves? It's just getting to be too much? And there's no need to rake and bag the stuff by hand.

Now John Deere makes lawn cleanup easy. With a full line of material collection systems matched to John Deere riding mowers and tractors.

These systems come in a variety of combinations. Choose a twin-hamper 6½-bushel system for riding mowers, lawn tractors and 200 and 300 Series Lawn and Garden Tractors. Or the 6½-bushel Power Flow unit for tractors with 38-, 46- or 50- inch mowers. Or the new 3-bag Power Pak unit for 300 and 400 Series Tractors with 46-, 50- or 60-inch mowers. Big cleanup jobs demand big artillery. And John Deere's got it in pairs for 300 and 400 Series Tractors. The Tilt Dump and the Hydraulic Dump Systems, which are now engine-powered rather than PTO-driven.

When the 13-bushel hoppers are full, both models let you dispose of the material right from the driver's seat. No ropes to untie...no collection bags to unfasten or unzip.

Don't wear yourself out behind a rake. Get help from the number one name on lawns, John Deere. Come on in.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 5

Members of Farm Women Society 5 met at Calvary Fellowship home for a covered dish and a Show and Tell party. Seventeen members brought items to show during the regular meeting.

An auction to raise money for the county project will be held on November 28 at the home of Jean Zurin, Mt. Joy.

Lancaster Society 11

Members of Farm Women Society 11 met at the home of Margaret Swarr on September 24.

Devotions were led by Ella Mast. Fifteen members answered roll call by naming their favorite hymn.

During the business session, the following officers were elected: Dorothy Adsitt, president; Aleta Wilbar, vice-president; Ruth Mellinger, recording secretary; Edna Champney, assistant recording secretary; Mary Swarr, correspondence secretary and Helen Shaub, treasurer.

Mrs. Frances Fredd led the discussion that focused on several current bills before the U.S. Congress and the State Legislature.

The next meeting will be held at Verna Shirk's home on October 29.

Lancaster Society 22

Members of Farm Women Society 22 learned more about their heritage during a visit to the Hans Herr House. At the home of Ann Ranck, members held a show and tell featuring small antiques from their homes. From very old family pieces to more modern collectibles, the antiques provided insight into the interests of fellow members.

Plans were made to sell the society's cookbooks at a bazaar table during the Extension Service's Christmas in October workshop.

A delegation will attend Farm Women's Day on October 14. Members voted to donate $100 to the Leukemia Society in memory of David Lefever, son of society member Margaret Lefever.

The October meeting will feature a scavenger hunt at the home of Claire Hess, Willow Street.

Farm Women group number 17 recently entertained Farm Women Groups 9, 20, and 21 at a buffet dinner in the Monroe Township Building, Mechanicsburg.

Each woman wore an article of clothing backwards. Prizes were awarded for hilarious outfits.

Cumberland County's Dairy Princess Patty Dunkleberger told about her experiences and requirements of a dairy princess, and she presented two skits.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Fay Stare, Mechanicsburg.

The Latin word for cheese was caseus and from that came the German's word kase and the Dutch, kaas. In Ireland, cheese is cais; in Wales, caws; in Portugal, quejo and in Spain, queso. The same root produced the old English word cese which evolved into the present-day cheese.

A Different Peanut Treat

Historically the delicious taste of boiled peanuts has been confined to those fortunate folks who live in or near a peanut growing area. This was because only green peanuts, freshly dug, would fill the bill. Now, according to boiled peanut lovers, regular dry peanuts can be prepared in a crock pot for a good taste treat. They have shared their recipe and I am including it in this week's column.

The characteristics of boiled peanuts are different from those processed by any other method. The kernels have a firm, slightly gelatinous texture, are moist yet crunchy, with a mild nutty flavor. The seed coats are grey in color with prominent veins.

Boiled peanuts may be served at parties, as between meal snacks, used to add flavor and crunch to salads or other prepared dishes.

Plan now to cook up a large batch. These deliciously different boiled peanuts disappear in a hurry. You will want to have enough to freeze for later use.

Boiled Peanuts

Place one pound raw shelled peanuts in a 3 quart crock pot. Fill the pot with water. Allow peanuts to soak 8 hours or overnight. Peanuts will absorb a lot of water making it necessary to add water until the pot is filled. Add salt to taste (try adding 4 to 5 teaspoons of salt; taste toward end of cooking time and add more salt if taste dictates and allow to cook for about 1 hour more).

Cook peanuts on low for 8 hours and then on high for 1 and one-half hours or medium for 4 and one-half hours. Drain, serve hot.

Which Is Best - Fresh, Frozen Or Canned?

Most people prefer fresh fruits and vegetables because they taste better. In theory fresh is better nutritionally, but this is not always true. Ideally you should pick fruit off the tree, harvest vegetables from the garden, and eat them the same day. Since very few of us can do this, we must rely on roadside markets and the produce section of supermarkets. However, even though produce has been transported thousands of miles and has sat in the bin for a day or two, it is still full of nutrients.

Shop frequently and always use fresh produce as quickly as you can. Never peel, slice or chop anything until just before you are ready to cook or serve it.

Avoid cutting it whenever possible. String beans retain more flavor and vitamins when cooked whole with only the stems removed. Avoid buying precut fruit such as melon or fruit salad. Wash produce in as little water as is inconsistent with cleanliness, and never soak fruits and vegetables. Cook vegetables as quickly a possible, in as little water as possible and in a covered pan to prevent destroying vitamins and minerals. No matter how careful you are, processing of any kind destroys some nutrients.

If produce looks or feels wilted and tired, or if you have inadvertently allowed broccoli to sit in the crisper for a week, you would be better off with a frozen or even a canned vegetable for dinner from a nutritional standpoint.

Frozen food that has been carefully handled can actually be more nutritious than fresh food that has sat in the grocery store for days. Frozen fruits retain more vitamin C than fresh fruit that was abused in transport or storage. Never buy packages with ice crystals on the outside; this is an indication that the food was thawed and has been refrozen. Select frozen foods last when shopping, pack them in a double bag, and take them home as soon as possible. Keep your home freezer at 0 degrees Fahrenheit to maintain the quality of food.

Microwave Cooking

BY AUDREY HALLGREN

Editors Note: Here's the first part of an eight-part series of articles written by Audrey Hallgren from Lancaster. Audrey and her coworker are known as the Microwave Gourmets. As a team they teach instructional classes in microwave cooking. We hope you enjoy these recipes.

My background is in Home Economics and for the last four years I've been doing free-lance work concentrating on "Microwave Cooking." Some of you may have attended one of my classes or programs in the Lancaster area. I am really enthusiastic about the versatility of the microwave oven.

I would like to share with you a few of my favorites that will help you use up your garden produce.

Baked Corn and Broccoli Pudding

4 tablespoons butter
4 cups broccoli buds
4 cups corn kernels
Grated zest of 1 lemon (yellow part only)
Freshly ground black pepper
1/3 cup flour
2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
4 eggs
1 cup milk

Use 1 tablespoon of the butter to grease a 9"x13" glass baking dish. Arrange the broccoli buds at each end of the dish. Put the corn in the center. Sprinkle the lemon zest over the broccoli, and grind pepper over the corn. In a bowl, combine the flour, salt, sugar and remaining butter. Gradually add the eggs and mix well. Stir in the milk to make a thin batter. Pour over the vegetables. Cover the baking dish using waxed paper or plastic wrap covering for 15 minutes, until the egg mixture is set and firm. Bake a little longer if needed but remember to let stand 3-5 minutes before serving. Yields 6-8 servings.

Now for a few super ways to enjoy the garden fresh tomatoes which are plentiful this month.

Tomatoes Provencale

3 Tomatoes, halves
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Dash salt, garlic powder, pepper

In a 9-inch glass pie plate, arrange tomato halves around edge of dish, combine remaining ingredients, sprinkle on tomatoes. Microwave on High for 3-4 minutes, turning dish once. Makes six servings.

Audrey's Quickie Tomatoes

4 Medium firm ripe tomatoes, cut in halves
Butter or Margarine (optional)

Place tomatoes in round dish, cut side up; place a tiny bit of butter on each half and sprinkle with fresh basil. They're so tasty and a great accent to any meal.

Viva Tomatoes

4 Medium tomatoes
2 cups coarsley chopped mushrooms
1/3 cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/3 cup dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
1/8 teaspoon dried thyme
1 large egg, lightly beaten
¾ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Slice off tops of tomatoes; scoop out seeds and pulp. Place tomatoes in 8x8x2 in. baking dish. Place mushrooms, celery, onion and butter in 1 quart casserole; stir to mix; Microwave uncovered at High power until celery is crisp-tender, 3½ -4½ min.; stir twice during cooking. Add bread crumbs, garlic salt, thyme, egg and ½ cup cheese to casserole. Stir until well blended and cheese is melted. Spoon mixture into tomatoes, dividing evenly. Microwave tomatoes covered with plastic wrap, at High power until tomatoes are tender, 3½ -4½ minutes; rotate dish ½ turn after about half of cooking time. Sprinkle remaining ¼ cup cheese over top of tomatoes, dividing evenly. Let stand, covered with plastic wrap, until cheese melts, 1-2 minutes.

Micro-Tip: To peel tomatoes, fruit- soften skins on High for 10-20 seconds. Let stand 10 minutes and peel. Fruit may also be immersed in a cup of hot water and heated 30-45 seconds for easier peeling.

Vet From Netherlands Studies Local Embryo Transplanting

SALLY BAIR
Lancaster Co. Correspondent

ELIZABETHTOWN — Lize Marie VanBeynum, 25, is a native of The Netherlands who has spent the last six weeks as a visitor to this area, milking cows and learning about the embryo transfer business. That may seem unusual for a tourist, but for Lize, the opportunity to work at EmTran in Elizabethtown after her graduation from veterinary school was too good to deny.

She points out that there is embryo transplant work being done in Holland, and the technology of super ovalating, fertilizing the eggs and then flushing them out of the cows to transplant the embryos into donor cows is "not very different," but she is enjoying observing and being a part of the flushing and transfer work being done at EmTran. "It is a nice opportunity to visit another country," she says with a smile.

Lize hails from a 70 head herd of Holstein Friesian cattle in eastern Holland, about 30 miles from the German border. She and her brother do most of the milking since their father's death four years ago. Lize explains that her brother is a commuting student in agricultural science and they have a hired man. Her four younger sisters can also be called on to help.

She studied veterinary medicine at Utrecht, "one of the finest veterinary schools in the world," according to Dr. Allan McCauley of EmTran. She will get a job when she returns to the Netherlands, and would like to go into private practice, though it may be difficult to find a position because, "There are too many veterinarians," according to Lize. She adds, "I want to go into large animal practice and men have an advantage there. Farmers don't have problems with a woman veterinarian, but colleagues sometimes do."

Nevertheless, she is determined because, as she puts it, "I like the work, and I like the contact with farmers. I like to talk with them about their farms and their work."

At EmTran Lize helps with flushing cows, and works with the laboratory technicians. "I look and ask about what they are doing," she says. She also assists with surgical transfers, and frequently helps with the afternoon milking.

McCauley says, "She has been a big help to us, and she has done whatever needs to be done. She is very, very observant." McCauley said that because of the short time of Lize's visit, she has mostly been here "in an observatory capacity." Before she leaves, however, he hopes to have her do some actual flushing. He confirms what Lize says, noting that the techniques used to flush embryos are basically the same in The Netherlands as in this country. However, not as much work is being done there. Lize said, "Only very good farmers do embryo work, and it is very expensive to use."

McCauley noted that most of the embryo work is done through their artificial insemination cooperatives, and mentioned that one Dutch bull stud has 50 cows at . atran for embryo work.

Lize's brother visited the United States last year through their cooperative, KI Oost, and worked several months with 21st Century Genetics before doing a three week "work study" program at EmTran.

Dr. Alan McCauley worked with Lize while she visited EmTran, helping her learn the techniques used to flush and transfer embryos. Here they work in the laboratory.

Lize, who has had the opportunity to visit some local herds when she helps with on-farm flushing of cows, expresses surprise that stanchion barns are so popular here. In her own herd, they have six on a side milking parlors, with automatic take-offs. She said, 'More and more farms are getting that size milking parlor."

Because The Netherlands is part of the European Economic Community, dairy farmers produce milk under a quota system which was first instituted in 1984. Each year the dairymen's quota decreases, according to Lize, and extra cows must be sent to slaughter. She estimates that their quota has decreased over 20 percent since it was first instituted.

When asked about the farmers' attitudes toward the quotas, Lize said, "The farmers have no choice if they want to continue."

Lize explained that although most of the milk is used for cheese and butter, there is just one price paid for all milk, regardless of ultimate use. Furthermore, they are paid both on the basis of protein and butterfat. Milk is marketed through a cooperative which also processes the milk, and there is a minimum price. Production on her home farm is about 15,400 pounds of milk with 4.15 fat.

Lize said that young bulls are sold when they are a week old, and they choose heifers for replacements depending upon their genetics.

As members of an artificial breeding cooperative, Lize explains, "In Holland it is not common to do the breeding of your cattle yourself. We think it takes a lot of practice so we have the technicians from the cooperative do the breeding. It is their job, and when you want good results, it is best to use them."

Semen imported from the United States is very common in Holland, and Lize said that they commonly use American bulls on their cattle. She mentioned several well-known bulls, and said they often must choose depending on availability. Bull selection is usually made by her brother after consultation with her. "He studies it, especially the genetics."

Lize explained that they select bulls to improve production and to help their cows become leaner and more dairy. But, she adds, "Our cows are becoming the same size as American cows." In addition to the black and white cows which Lize enjoyed visiting other Lancaster County farms, and found the landscape different from the very flat country she calls home. She and her brother operate a 70 cow dairy in The Netherlands, so working with cows is a natural for her.

Deborah Yandric Wins Again

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG — Deborah Yandric, Middletown, won $1,000 in the 1987 Pennsylvania Egg Recipe Contest. One of eight finalists in the September 12 cook-off held at Northern Lebanon High School, Deborah captured the top prize with her "Egg-Stuffed Zucchini Puffs."

Deborah is a pro at winning state and national cooking contests. Her kitchen is filled with top-of-the-line appliances that she has garnered from competitions. And since 1983, she has won at least three trips each year for her husband and herself.

How does she manage to win so often? Deborah admitted there are definite secrets. And she is willing to share a few with our readers. She confided that since she is already competing with so many top cooks, a little more competition won't scare her.

Judges, she believes, like what looks nice. And they like creative recipes, not predictables ones. Deborah has no trouble fulfilling that requirement since she hates following recipes. She doesn't even like to adapt other people's recipes, but enjoys creating up her own.

Not only do the judges like unusual dishes, but they also look for ease in preparation. Deborah said, "There is a growing trend for easy-to-prepare dishes since most household chefs work outside the home."

When Deborah hears about contests, she likes to start experimenting well before the deadline so she can perfect her concoctions. "Sometimes," she admits, "I get these wild ideas that don't always work the first time." One of her far-out ideas, chocolate-covered taco shells, beat out professional chefs' creations for a best-of show award from Hershey Chocolate.

To discover award-winning dishes, Deborah experiments continuously. "One idea sparks another," she said. She admits to using family, friends and neighbors as her guinea pigs.

Deborah's expertise in the cooking field has resulted in many career offers. "I'd love to have a job with foods, like catering or creating new dishes," she admitted, "but that would disqualify me from many contest opportunities since most limit the contests to non-professional cooks."

Some contests do allow professional chefs. Their credentials do not intimidate Deborah who said competition has taught her that "Creative cooks can be better than trained chefs."

Deborah said her interest in entering contests stemmed from her love of cooking. Friends and relatives constantly complimented her for her unique cooking creations so Deborah decided to take the plunge. She entered quiche baked in individual zucchini halves and won a microwave. Naturally, Deborah was hooked. Since that time, entering contests has become her career niche.

To increase her prize-winning chances, Deborah enrolled in a correspondence course that taught her how to win contests. "It was the best $40 I ever spent," Deborah said. She added, "It helps if you have a knack or talent in cooking. I don't have any talent for sewing, but I do for cooking."

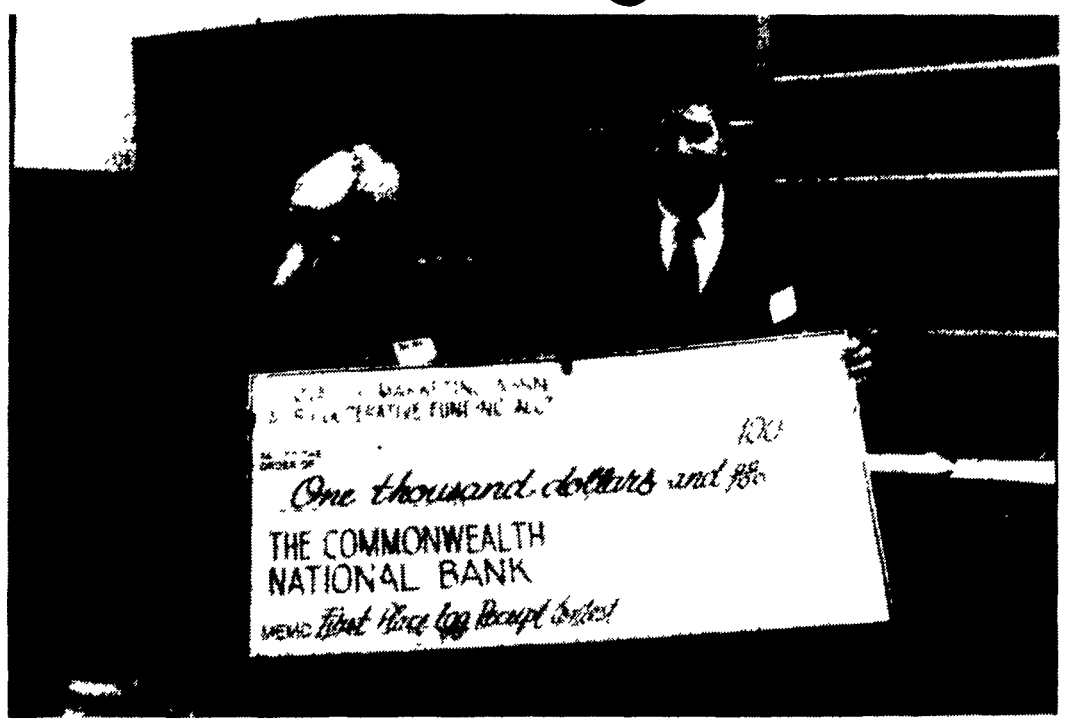
Deborah says that not only does she enjoy the monetary awards but also the new friendships the contests generate. "Each contest brings me a whole new set of friends," she said, "I meet so many nice people. Most losers are good sports although there are a few who are sour-grape losers."

This super cook said whenever possible immediately following a contest she asks the judges where her score was lowered. "I like to know where my weak areas are so I can improve," she said. "My weak spot is generally in ease of preparation."

Professional judges, she believes, know how easy or hard recipes are to make merely by reading a recipe. Some non-professional judges believe a recipe will be difficult to prepare when they see words like marinate even though the process may take only a few minutes.

Deborah said, "I like to choose ingredients that are plentiful like zucchinni. Some contestants have great tasting dishes but their ingredients are impractical for the average cook." And for national recipes, she said, "Your ingredients must be available nationwide and not just plentiful in your own geographical area."

Sometimes, the lowered scores are not her fault. At one contest, the secretary who typed her recipe inadvertally omitted one of the ingredients. Later, the secretary added it to the bottom of the listed ingredients. "Ingredients must be listed in the order they are used," Deborah said. "Unfortunately, the judges did not know that the typographical error was not my fault. That mistake lowered my score."



Egg Marketing Promotion Specialist Vern Ross presentsd a $1,000 check to Deborah Yandric of Middletown. The contest was sponsored by PA Department of Agriculture, PA Poultry Federation and the PA Egg Marketing Association.

Her prize-winning trips have taken both her husband and herself to places like Acapulco, California, Arizona, Idaho, Florida and many more states. When asked where she'd like to travel next, Deborah said, "I'm happy to go anyplace. I love to travel."

She is delighted to have won the egg contest since she uses eggs in most of her contest recipes. Deborah said, "I'm really thankful that the Egg Contest offered cash instead of merchandise, because my son is getting married this weekend and the money really helps out with the wedding expenses."

Not only did she win $1,000 in prize money but also she is now eligible to compete for $7,000 in the national contest.

The 1987 Egg Recipe Contest was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, and the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association.

Vern Ross, Egg Marketing Promotion Specialist from the PA Department of Agriculture, said there were 804 recipe entries. From those entries the grand prize winner was awarded $1,000 and the seven runners-up received $100.

The runners-up included the following: Margaret Bittner, Germansville; Gloria Bove, Bethlehem; Gwendolyn Gray, Schellsburg; Blanche Kinch, Dillsburg; Marlene McCall, Baden; Lissy Weirich, Carlisle; and William Wilson, Marysville.

The panel of judges included Aletta Schadler, home economist for Lebanon County/Penn State Extension Service; Delphine Lynch, consumer and world-wide traveler for Harrisburg; and Mary Anne Guldin, Home Economics Department Head at Northern Lebanon High School.

Try Deborah's award winning "Egg-Stuffed Zucchini Puffs" which appears this week in the Home On the Range page as the featured recipe.

Last Call For Low Fat Dairy Recipe Contest

UNIVERSITY PARK — The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program threw tradition away this year when it launched a low fat, low calorie dairy recipe contest. "Housewives told us they're counting calories and we listened," said board chairman Jim Harteis, "this year the judges will be counting them too."

The recipe contest closes October 31 and is limited to Pennsylvania residents. Harteis also announced that only main dish recipes will be accepted, and all entries must feature at least one low fat dairy product as a main ingredient.

The Grand prize winner will receive $1,000, which doubles the top award of the 1986 "Make it with milk...and other dairy products" recipe contest. The cookoff is scheduled for January 11 in Harrisburg during Farm Show Week.

Penn State extension home economists will conduct the preliminary judging, but a panel of chefs, food editors and nutritionists will judge the finalists.

Harteis said judges will score effective low fat dairy products, taste and visual appeal, originality and creativity, ease of preparation and nutritional quality. In the cookoff, contestants' skill in preparing and describing their recipes also will be considered.

Penn State Family Living Extension joined Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture this year as cosponsor.

Rules and an official entry form may be obtained by writing Contest, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 North Cameron Street Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408, or by phoning 717-787-6903.

Blancha Kinch, Dillsburg, received $100 as a runner up in the contest.

Cottage cheese is the curd or coagulated protein of fresh pasteurized skim milk or reconstituted dry milk. It takes almost 100 pounds of skim milk to make 15 pounds of cottage cheese. A "dressing" of fresh cream or a mixture of cream and milk may be added to the cheese so it is not less than 4% milkfat. Because cottage cheese is a concentrated form of milk, it contains most of the nutrients found in milk. One serving (4 ounces) of creamed cottage cheese supplies one-fourth an adult's daily protein requirement, making it a very economical source.

The team members included: Cathy Shive, Seven Valleys; Ed Livingston, Dover; Sue Eisenhour, Wellsville; and John Eaton, Jr., Windsor. John Eaton was also High Individual in the Contest.

The team will now go on to represent Pennsylvania in the National Contest held at Kansas City in November.

JOHN DEERE

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

While I was writing of our trip to Alaska, many different things have been happening here on the farm.

We've had two floods in the last two weeks. The first one was second only to "Agnes." The torrent of muddy water covered our entire meadow, the sweet corn patch and even crept into the corner of the garden. We were left with piles of sand and gravel which we used to fill several sink holes. Also an assortment of logs, lumber and even a bowling ball and wheel covers were found.

The sink holes caused the men trouble as a wagon loaded with silage fell into one and had to be jacked up and pulled out. The silo filling operation has been plagued with troubles. One wagon had a broken sprocket and no parts were available for four days and so another wagon was leased.

One morning there was only a trickle of water for milking and washing the equipment. A plumber discovered a large hole had rusted through a pipe in the well.

A few weeks ago we were given three half-grown black cats and one grey kitten. These are the most playful bunch that I've ever seen. They romp and jump all day long. But, they've done a lot of their playing in the garden where I had my house plants and so many of them are broken off and flattened.

Now if I can get someone to repair my leaking washing machine, I'll be in business again. A recent load of six pair of overalls, when washed and examined, were found to all need patches. In fact, one pair with eleven patches was deemed ready for the rag bag. Mending overalls does take a lot of time.

Start A Perennial Garden This Fall

YORK — Perennial gardens are taking new forms in modern landscapes. And fall is the perfect time to start one, if you're looking for a colorful addition to your yard says Penn State Extension horticulturist Dr. Larry Kuhns.

The traditional perennial border used to be a long narrow bed placed down one side of a yard against a fence or hedge. But today it's more likely to be a free-form island of any size or shape, located wherever a spot of color is needed. It may even be planted on a specially created mound to make it more interesting.

The first step in designing your perennial planting is to decide its shape and where to put it. The dimensions of your overall yard will, of course, affect this decision. You may wish to locate the plot near a patio, porch or picture window, where it can be most easily enjoyed.

The amount of time and effort you'll be able to devote to caring for the plot will have a lot to do with its size. It's a good idea to start small. Then let it grow as your ideas (and interest) develop.

Soil preparation is very important for perennial flowers, stresses Kuhns. These plants need a soil with good physical structure and good drainage. Most Pennsylvania soils will be improved by the addition of organic matter. Where drainage is a problem, use a mound. The best way to determine your lime and fertilizer needs is to have the soil tested. But in the absence of a soil test, add 3 pounds of 5-10-5 and 3 to 5 pounds of lime for each 100 square feet.

In planting perennials, Kuhns says to make a good-sized hole to accommodate the root system of plants. But take care not to set plants too deep. None of these plants likes to have its crown buried. Keep new plantings well watered during the fall and mulch them over this winter with evergreen branches or a combination of branches and straw. With this kind of protection they should come through the cold without heaving as the ground freezes and thaws.

Most perennials have a limited period of bloom. So the key to an attractive long-season garden is to choose those that have good foliage even after flowering, or the kind that when cut back will bloom again. Everyone will have their own list of favorites, but here are some that work well in modern landscapes.

Perennial Flower Choices

Baby's breath (Gypsophilia) is one excellent selection. They produce a thick cover of white or pink flowers on tall, thin stems. Different-sized cultivars exist, but the 2 to 4 foot type makes an ideal background for shorter and brightly colored plants. Baby's breath creates a fine spray effect in the garden just as it does in bouquets. Most cultivars are hardy throughout much of Pennsylvania. Plant in a bright location. Good soil moisture is needed all growing season to maintain plant quality.

Another perennial with fine texture is Astible. Its feathery plumes of red, white or pink flowers add color to shaded areas, where it's often difficult to establish color. Astilbe's highly divided leaves emerge in spring with an appealing coppery tint, intensifying to green in summer and turning bronze-yellow in fall. Moist, organic soil is the key to success with Astilbe. Although it prefers shade, it will perform well in sun as long as the area is mulched well and watered adequately during summer months.

One perennial group that adds a natural quality to the landscape are the ferns. They offer a wide variety of foliage shapes and textures.

Places with deep shade and constant moisture are good settings for maidenhair fern (Adiantum pedatum). Its scallop-shaped leaflets, as thin as tracing paper, are to wiry black stems. The shaded fronds respond to the slightest breeze to provide a soft movement in the landscape.

Ferns are overlooked as landscape plants because of the misconception that they are intolerant of sunlight. Many types grow very well in partial or even full sun. A good choice for sunny areas would be Christmas fern (Polystichum acrostichoides). This fern adapts well to almost any situation; however, its overall shape depends somewhat on light intensity. Deep shade promotes an open arrangement of the fronds, while full sunlight encourages a more compact appearance. Unlike maidenhair fern, the Christmas fern is evergreen. It reaches heights 2 to 3 feet, and its fronds are shaped like long spears arching out from a central point.

In areas that are open, exposed and sun-drenched the sedums are very useful. Sedum "Autumn Joy" has several seasons of interest. Its individual pink flowers are quite small, but they form in large, dense clusters on top of stiff stems with succulent leaves. A hard frost transforms the original pink flowers and green foliage to golden yellow and rusty brown in winter. Few pests bother "Autumn Joy" or any other sedum, for that matter. This group has been quite successful in several sites with fairly stressful conditions.

The plantain lily or hosta (Hosta) is still a very effective perennial for many sites, especially shaded areas that lack color. Hosta is popular because of its variety of foliage variegation patterns and leaf shapes, and foliage puckering.

Hostas do produce flowers. Slender stems hold white to lilac blooms well above the center of the plant.

are most common in Holland, there are also red and white and dual purpose animals.

Because of the continuing need to decrease the size of the herd, Lize said they have added about 20 beef animals. They have Blond Acquitain and Piemontese, French and Italian breeds popular in Holland. "They are expensive because they are now very popular. Now we have space in our barns for them." Nevertheless, Lize speculates that in a few years there will be a glut of beef cows and raising beef cattle will no longer be so profitable.

Pennsylvania farms are different than those in the Netherlands. Upright silos are non-existent in home country, so the many silos which American farmers use surprised Lize. She noted that her home, and most others, is connected to the barn, sharing a common wall. Her present home and barn were constructed in 1968, though Lize said they previously lived on "a very old farm."

She noted that the government assisted farmers in consolidating pieces of land that they owned which were scattered in small parcels. This makes farming more economical. Their farm is about 35 hectares in size, and they raise some corn for silage, and also make haylage. Indeed, Lize says, "The only thing we have to buy is concentrate."

While she is here, Lize has been staying at the Bed and Breakfast accommodations of Kathy and Keith Vogt, Mount Joy, who have helped her experience Lancaster County experience outside of dairy farms. Lize exclaims, "The people are very friendly." She has found it to be expensive to visit here. Although she enjoys the food, she claims, "It is very fattening."

Lize is delighted with the opportunities she has had to learn more about the embryo transplant business while experiencing life in this country - now she is ready to return to Holland and begin her career as a veterinarian.

Vermont Castings has revolutionized the art of woodburning. Again. They did it the first time with the Defiant, a handsome, efficient woodstove with doors that opened for a view of the fire.

They've done it again with the Defiant Encore. With a strikingly-beautiful design that will enhance any decor, a large, clear glass area for fire viewing, a super convenient ash removal system, and an incredibly clean-burning combustion system, the Encore is a tough act to follow.

Winterize Your Geraniums

YORK — Don't throw away those geraniums that graced your garden or porch this summer. Instead, try you hand at keeping them over winter. There are various ways of overwintering geraniums: the following are four possible ways.

1. Remove existing plants from their pots or dig those in the garden. Shake all the soil from the roots. Hang the plants upside down inside a plastic bag, with a few air holes in it. Add a little moist peat moss to keep the plants alive during the winter and prevent total drying. Some gardeners soak a piece of cloth in water and slide it inside the bag once a month. Watch for any signs of mildew or mold inside the bag once the moisture has been introduced.

2. Dig up your garden geraniums, cut the stems back and pot them in flower pots or wooden boxes. A bright cellar, attic, or kitchen window or sun parlor, where the temperature is as cool as possible makes a good location for keeping them healthy until spring. Water them each week. It's best if geraniums can rest in temperatures below 60 degrees F. Keep the plants from freezing or you will kill them.

3. Store the plants in tubs filled with peat moss kept slightly damp in the basement. Add a little water now and then to keep the plants alive during the winter months. In spring as the weather warms, cut the tops back and repot the plants in a suitable soil mix and container or garden spot. Such plants may look dead, but most of them should sprout quickly once optimum growing conditions return.

4. Another method uses cuttings from the mother plant to start new ones for next years population and planting stock. Take slips or cuttings from the main plant and throw the old part away. Root the cuttings in sand or vermiculite. Then pot them in a good soil mixture and keep the started young plants over the winter. This works well if you want to use them as winter house plants, but they still need those 60 degree F. temperatures.

Growing geraniums as houseplants

Often by storing geraniums over the winter, the plants become leggy, scraggly, and do little more than collect dust. Geraniums used to be considered a good houseplant but central heating and insulation now make most homes too warm for successful growing. Geraniums grow best in 50 to 60 degree temperatures. However, if you have an unheated room or an especially cool but sunny spot in your house, you may be able to coax a few blooms.

All geraniums need sun to bloom so put them near the windows with the most winter light. But be careful--no plants like drafts and icy temperatures. If your windows are drafty, try adding a cover of clear plastic over the inside of the window or even a protective shield of newspaper between the window and plant during especially cold weather.

Water geraniums regularly but allow the soil to dry between waterings. Average house humidity is adequate as long as there is enough fresh air. Don't be too quick to repot geraniums because they like to be somewhat potbound.

Pinch tips of the branches to avoid a single stem, leggy look. Once new growth has begun in earnest in the Spring you may want to fertilize lightly.

If the branches on your plants are already long, supports such as stakes, trellises, or bent coat hanger wires will help your plant take on a denser look. Remove dead or diseased branches and leaves and turn the plant periodically for balanced growth.

Power Of Attorney: What Families Should Know

UNIVERSITY PARK — Many adults are familiar with so-called "living wills". A person who prepares and signs a living will (which is not legislatively recognized in Pennsylvania, to date), expresses his or her wishes concerning treatment or withholding of certain treatments, such as life support systems. The living will applies to specific situations such as when the individual is in a persistent vegetative state, or when there is complete reliance on life support systems, with no hope for recovery.

Most of us are also familiar with the legal device known as Power of Attorney. This makes it possible for one person ("A") to give another person ("B", the "attorney-in-fact") the authority to act in his or her behalf. The power given to Person "B" can be tailored to be very broad or very narrow, depending on the wishes of person "A". The authority can be limited to certain assets or a specific period of time. Person "B" might be given the power to do such things as manage property, make investments, receive or spend income, make gifts, and so on. Unless a time limit is designated, this delegation is in effect as long as Person "A" is competent and able to give or withdraw it. This means that if Person "A" becomes comatose or otherwise incompetent, and is unable to act on his or her behalf, the power of attorney expires. Until recently, it was necessary for the court to appoint a conservator or guardian to act in behalf of the incompetent person. In such a situation, one could not provide for a surrogate to make health care decisions.

The Durable Power of Attorney

Since 1974 the concept of Durable Power of Attorney has been recognized in Pennsylvania. This makes it possible for Person "A" to have the Power of Attorney survive his or her incompetency or incapability. If this is the intent, the following words (or similar words), must be used in the legal document:

"This power of attorney shall not be affected by subsequent disability or incapacity of the principal."

It is also possible to draft a durable power of attorney that does not take effect until Person "A" becomes disabled or incapacitated, by stating that the power of attorney does not become effective until then.

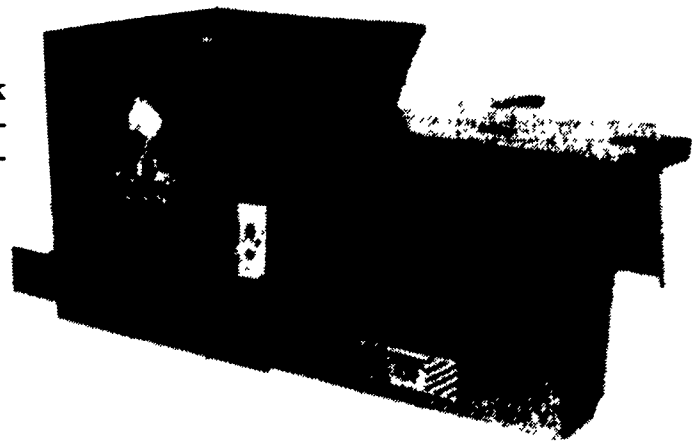
Since Person "A" will be putting considerably amount of power in the hands of Person "B", it is very important to select the attorney-in-fact with great care. Across the country there has been controversy over whether durable powers of attorney permit the attorney-in-fact to make health care decisions, including consents to provide treatment. Pennsylvania law specifies that Person "B" may be given the authority to authorize admission into medical or nursing facilities and to authorize medical and surgical procedures. To have this authority, the document must express the intent to give such authority to Person "B".

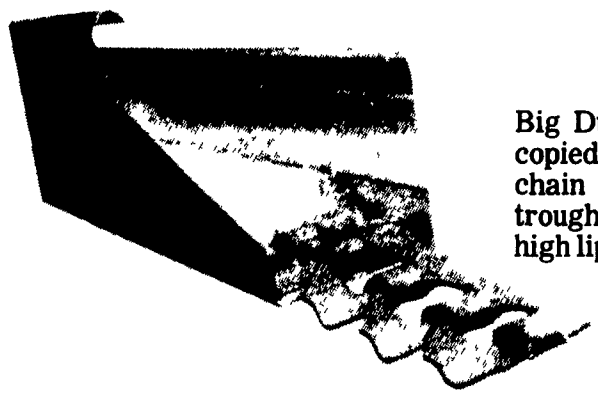
A durable power of attorney is an important document which should be drawn up by an attorney who is licensed to practice in the state in which the maker of the power resides. It is critical to refer to the statute which authorizes the durable power of attorney and to use the proper language that will make the power effective.

BIG DUTCHMAN FEEDING SYSTEMS FOR LAYER AND PULLET CAGES

Built on Thoroughly Proven Designs. No Other Feeder Beats it for Reliability and Performance

The straight hopper drive unit is easy to work with and simplifies maintenance. The standard hopper is powered by a helical gearmotor drive.





Big Dutchman feeder chain is the original, which is now copied by nearly all poultry equipment companies. The chain literally carries feed in the trough. The Big Lip trough effectively reduces spillage because of the extra high lip and curl.

Corner wheel assembly guides the chain and feed around the turns to make the endless flat chain conveyor possible. The fluted idler wheel and corner rail keep the chain running true.

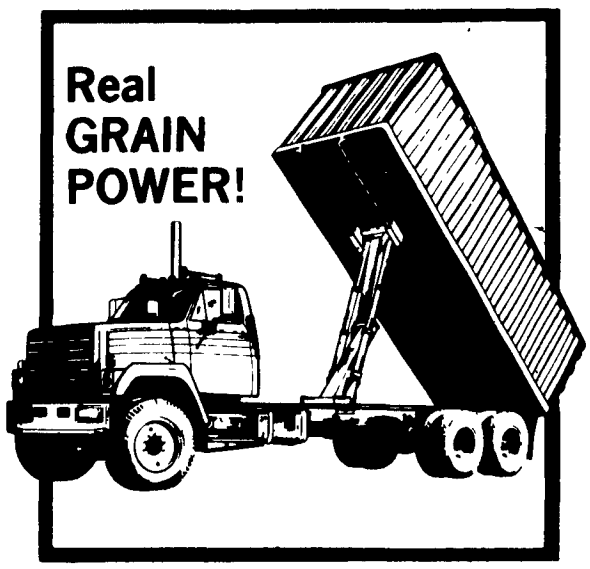
"CLEAN FLOW"

Stakeless Bodies

by OMAHA STANDARD



- 52" or 60" heavy gauge sides give you more hauling capacity for grain, sugar beets and other commodities
- "Clean Flow" design of the extra deep 30° sidewall corrugations allows complete emptying with no sharp corners for grain to hang up
- Greater inside width and length make this an ideal body for hauling bagged or palletized products
- Standard three section full opening rear doors
- Complete your "Grain Power" package with an Omaha Standard work-proven hoist Choose from the most complete line of scissor or stabilized "Olympic" telescopic hoists
- Compare any of Omaha Standard's full line of steel aluminum or wood grain bodies and rugged hoists you'll know why Omaha Standard is the most respected name at work on the farm today

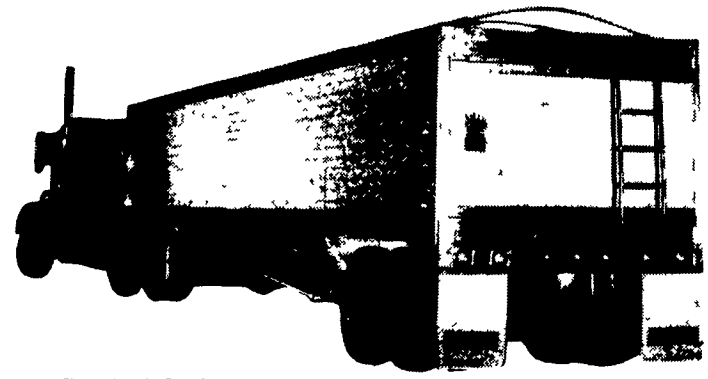
REDESIGNED 1988 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

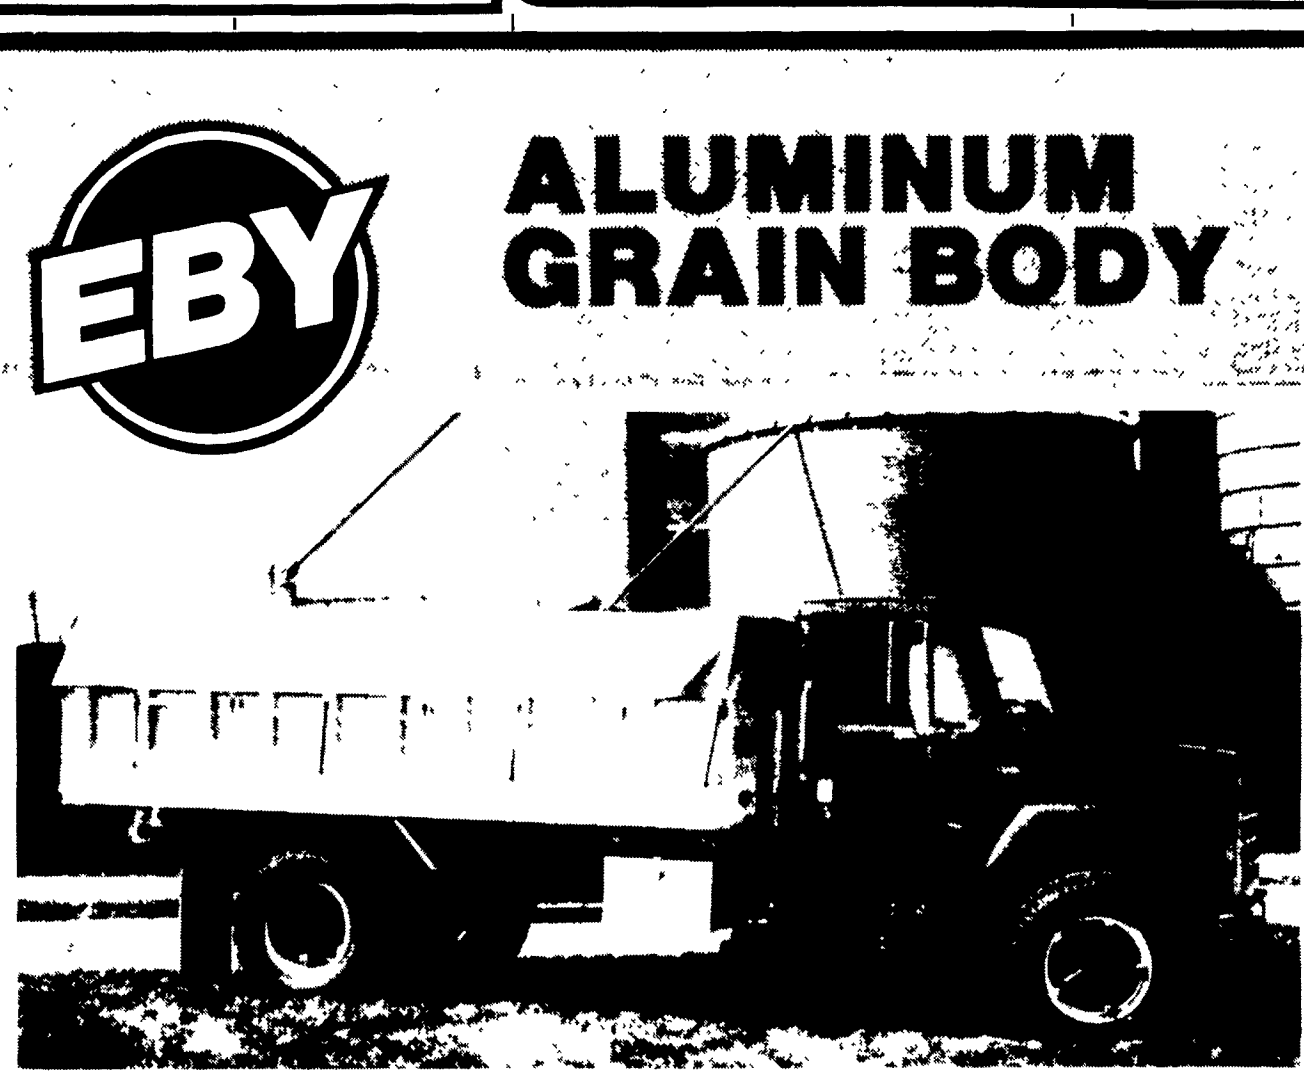
EBY

ALUMINUM GRAIN BODY



CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation Available in standard lengths each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot—never needs painting
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work

FARM & RURAL PROPERTY DIVISION

If you are a Penn State Football Fan, you know the answer.

If you are comparing Realtors, several different measures can be used: One is the size of the inventory; Another is the number of salespeople. Perhaps a better way is to compare the QUALITY and PROFESSIONALISM of the services provided. HERITAGE REALTY's Farm and Rural Property Division counsels each seller on the best way to market his property, prepares accurate detailed brochures for each listing and follows through with a proven advertising and marketing program, including detailed videotaping of all operating farms.

Whether you are buying or selling a farm or rural property in Central Pennsylvania, we would be pleased to put our 15 years of farm and rural property experience to work for you.

We Keep Production Lines Going.

Besides hard work, it takes management skill and good instincts to run a farm. The right amount of sunshine and rain doesn't hurt, either.

Yet, by and large, a farm runs on money. And between harvests, money has a way of running short.

Farm Credit helps farmers meet operating expenses with production loans. For everything from seed, fertilizer and chemicals to labor costs and tractor tires. Production loans can also stock the fish pond and feed the feeder pigs.

And because livestock and crops don't grow to suit a payment schedule, we adjust yours according to your cash flow.

Unlike some other lenders, Farm Credit is owned and controlled by the farmers who use its services. Which means we're always here for farmers. Not just when it suits our profit needs.

So if you're in line for a production loan, the most productive thing you could do is call us.

FARM CREDIT. A Bank Of Local Farmers.℠

BY THOMAS A. BREWER
Agricultural Economist

Those of you who were civilians and were around during World War II probably remember rationing. Gasoline, tires, fresh meats, canned goods, and sugar were among the rationed commodities that come quickly to mind. Sugar, tires and gasoline rationing seemed to cause people in my area the most "hardship." At least that's where "black markets" seemed to flourish. Perhaps those memories, and the fear of again having sugar shortages, if we were to rely more heavily on lower cost international sugar suppliers, have encouraged the United States to continue the policy of protecting domestic sugar producers by restricting imports and establishing high import tariffs and quotas. In all likelihood other reasons are more important now. The program though, has kept raw sugar prices high in the United States. Currently they are at three times the world level. That's all right with me, if consumers are willing to pay 14 more cents per pound at the supermarket to ensure a sugar supply. But, I wonder why we continue that program when we have corn sugars and artificial sweeteners available. Any disruption caused by undependable foreign sugar suppliers would, I think, be short-lived since we now have good quality alternative sweeteners. The point is that we have protected our sugar industry in about the same way that Japan has protected its rice industry and the EEC has protected it's dairy and grain industries. It's not good for consumers — theirs or ours — unless collectively we feel we can't trust each other and are thus willing to pay more at the grocery and in taxes to ensure that we don't become too dependent on foreign supplies. If that is the case its understandable but too bad — for all of us.

I suspect that most Japanese and European taxpayers have forgotten their food shortages, just as most of ours have forgotten sugar-rationing. So I'm not sure why the United States and other countries continue some of their respective programs. It could be that subsidies to those industries and the protecting of them from lower priced imports, have made them quite profitable. Profits get capitalized into property values. Why else would Japanese rice land be worth $25,000 or more per acre. Equally productive rice land in Arkansas is not priced that high. If profits, made possible by governmental interference in the markets are capitalized into land or other property values, then as time passes, production becomes increasingly costly and requires higher and higher levels of subsidization to ensure production. If it costs more to buy land, then one must have a higher price for its output to justify the higher level of investment. The family that starts farming during the early part of a protectionist period gains a great deal of wealth. At the very least the value of their land will go up due to no effort (except perhaps political) on their parts. The new farmer, entering the industry, is faced with high costs though, since he has to pay high prices for that land. Abandoning the subsidization program and eliminating other forms of market interference would cause losses of earned wealth for recent entrants and their creditors. Results, could be much like those which have occurred in our own grain producing areas of the midwest over the last few years as grain prices fell. Faced with great losses of wealth, producers organize and apply political pressure to seek solutions. If the pressure is great enough they may be able to maintain subsidization levels, barriers to foreign competitors, protection of "their" market and profits. If not strong enough they may need to find political allies and talk to them about loss of jobs to foreign countries or "unfair" competition. Everyone is in favor of high levels of domestic employment and "fair" competition as long as "fair" is defined in their terms, so it is relatively easy to build a politically powerful alliance. Politicians yield or defer to them and the practice continues or worse yet, grows. Under these conditions more restrictive trade laws may result. If they do, we all lose. Yes, it can be argued that, in the long run even those being protected lose because they too are buyers and protection tends to lead to more and more protection and higher and higher prices than we'd otherwise have to pay till it affects everything everybody buys — yest we all lose.

So I tend to agree with the skeptics. Pressures will make a transition difficult. We'll probably not see rapid movement away from protected markets and subsidized production or trade. However there is so much at stake, and today's taxpayers and consumers are much better equipped to analyze and understand what it "costs" them if we don't, that we'll probably go in that direction eventually. I think, it's important to not move one more inch in the other direction, toward more market interference whether it be in the form of quotas, tariffs or subsidies. That would make it even more difficult to "free" markets in the future. Furthermore as we move toward less governmental interference in international marketing we should probably do it slowly so as to allow time for affected people to make gradual adjustments. We need to concentrate more of our thoughts on the gains achievable through free trade and spend less time worrying about possible adverse 'short-run consequences. Who knows, the centrally planned economies may even evolve to the point that they too become more market oriented and join in.

In the meanwhile, I still want to play centerfield and bat clean-up for a major league baseball team. Would all you folks help? What I'd like to have you do is support my plan which I'll propose to one of the major presidential candidates as soon as we find out who they will be. I have a two-part plan in mind. First I'd start by applying a 100 percent income tax rate (a form of tariff) to earnings of all major league baseball teams which employ foreign ballplayers, especially those good ones from the Caribbean area. That still wouldn't ensure my position on a major league team but it would reduce the competition. Next I'd provide owners with an incentive or subsidy. I'd suggest that their incomes not be taxed at all if they would hire a 57 year old to play centerfield and bat clean-up. (Maybe we'd better make that a 57 year old named Tom Brewer.) Under my plan who would win and who would lose. Well I'd certainly win if the teams didn't all move out of the country where they'd be outside the control of U.S. policies. Then I couldn't even watch. At least I'd gain until I began to hear thge jeers and catcalls accompanying my performance. Perhaps my ego couldn't stand that. Better ballplayers would lose and so would fans — they'd be getting a poorer quality game. In the long-run I'd probably lose too. After all it might be difficult for me to face the fact that my baseball playing abilities are simply fantasies — about like the gains achievable through governmental interference in international markets. Maybe I should become an Agricultural Economist or something.

DICKEY-john DjGMT Grain Moisture Tester

The DICKEY-john Grain Moisture Tester measures moisture content automatically. You don't have to preweigh the sample. There are no meters to read, no dials to set, and no thermometers to lose. As soon as you pour in the grain sample, the testing sequence begins. A digital readout is displayed when the proper weight of the sample has entered the test chamber. The readout is corrected for temperature at the touch of a pressure sensitive switch. Models are available with direct readouts for corn, soybeans or wheat and adhesive covers and chart are provided for other grains.

• GRAIN MODEL
List $259
Now Only $179
While Supply Lasts

Simple, four-step operation

1 Place the tester on a steady level surface. Then lift the protective cover up and slide it down out of the way

2 Use the sample cup to pour grain into the testing cell. Pour slowly and steadily taking about eight to ten seconds to empty the sample cup. A readout will appear automatically

3 Wait at least fifteen seconds. Then press the temperature compensation switch for a direct readout of the moisture content of the grain listed on that switch. Refer to the appropriate chart for other grains

4 Empty the tester by turning it over (If you should forget to empty the test cell, the tester will shut itself off automatically after two minutes.)

Case International 2294 Tractor

Work smarter, more efficiently in your Silent Guardian cab

Exclusive Intelligence Center makes the 2294 the smartest buy in its class. The most advanced monitoring system in the industry gives you productive farming at the touch of your finger – readouts on eng ne and PTO RPM travel speed total acres worked per hour and much more. Optional True Ground Speed Sensor gives per centage of wheel slip so you can we ght your tractor properly and select the most efficient gear and speed.

A 12 speed power shift transm ssion provides the right speed for any job. You'll get top out put from your implements and squeeze more work out of each gallon of fuel. Mechani al Front Drive (MFD) s available as a production boosting option.

A fresh team for today s farmer

Jake, did you know that BINKLEY & HURST BROS., INC. is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights til 8 P.M.? They have a good supply of International, Case, Case IH, Gehl and Rhino parts ready to supply our needs.

Yes, Luke, I heard that. It sure is good to know we have a reliable after hours parts service available!

Not only are BINKLEY & HURST BROS. open til 8 P.M., but they also offer immediate emergency parts delivery service within 150 miles of the dealership for a nominal fee.

Yes, Luke, and I've heard that we can even call the partsmen at home:
Isaac Hurst.....(717) 626-0885
Bryan Crouse .(717) 933-4753
Marty Weaver .(717) 273-5673

That Parts Dept. sure does all it can to keep our equipment going, Jake!

Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc. Is Introducing The EAGLE Line Of FLEX WING MOWERS By Mohawk

These are heavy-duty, multi-purpose rotary mowers with cutting widths of 10', 13'6", 15' and 20'. Innovative features include:

PRINCIPLE:
- Knuckle system automatically retracts wing support wheels to achieve a maximum 8' width for road transport
- Massive 4½" axle has spring suspension system for maximum reliability
- All wheel supports are individually adjustable to accurately level machine for smoother cut
- One cylinder controls all three section heights
- Self-leveling rods between tongue and axle keep machine level while raising or lowering cutting height
- Ready access to working components allows easy cleaning and servicing

STANDARD:
- Slip clutches are on all three gearboxes to insure maximum protection
- Smooth top deck has most framework bracing on underside — no water traps
- Multi-use including roadways, waterways, pastures, row crops
- High visibility paint
- Spring shock absorbers on all four rear wheels and axles assure long life of machine
- Transport bar also acts as depth control for accurate adjustment for various cutting height

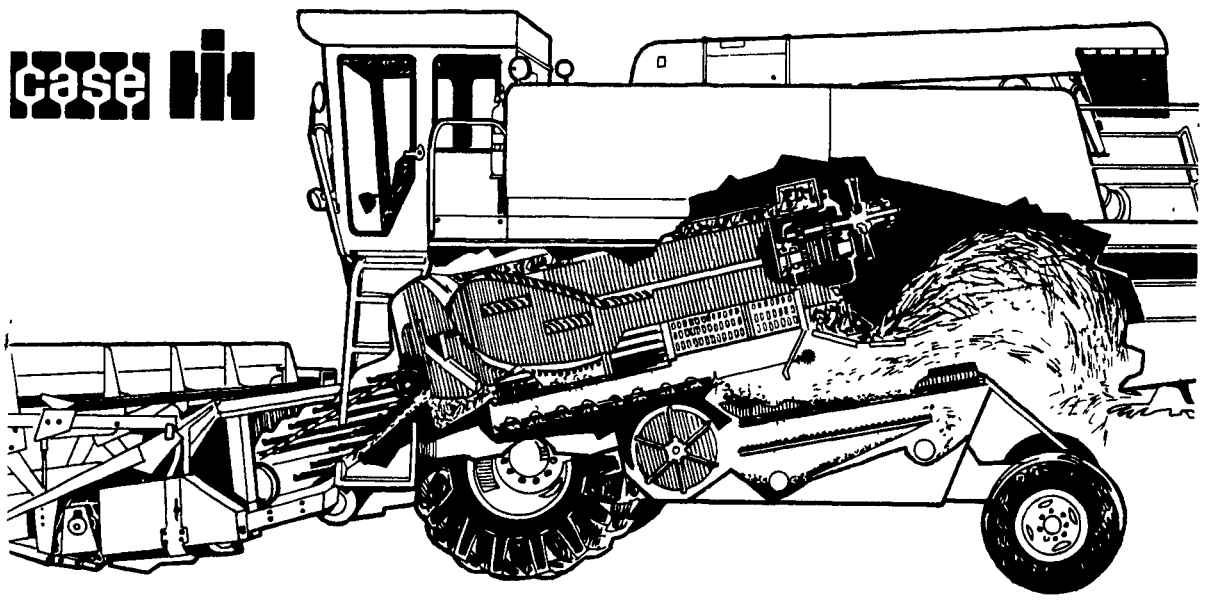
ALL CROP VERSATILITY...

case IH



The one moving part in Axial-Flow's entire threshing/separating process is the single large-diameter rotor. Nothing more. No cylinder, beaters or straw walkers. There's far less that can break or need maintenance. That's Axial-Flow combine simplicity.

Axial-Flow helps bring top price at the elevator. It handles grain more gently. Less crackage and dockage. You'll combine higher moisture grain at faster ground speeds for a quicker harvest. That's Axial-Flow performance.

Axial-Flow Combines for every crop. Designed to harvest over 100 different crops including corn, soybeans, wheat, sorghum and others. All popular grain header sizes plus 4 to 8-row corn heads.

HOOBER COMBINE SERVICE...

ATTENTION!
International Harvester Owners

Tighten worn steering arms on 56-66-86 series IH tractors without welding, splitting, or bolting.

A taper is machined into the new steering arms. A sleeve is then broached to match the original splines of the spindle. The outside of the sleeve is tapered to match the inside taper of the arm. These two, finely-machined surfaces ther meet for a neat, permanent, surelock fit. A key is installed for added strength and safety.

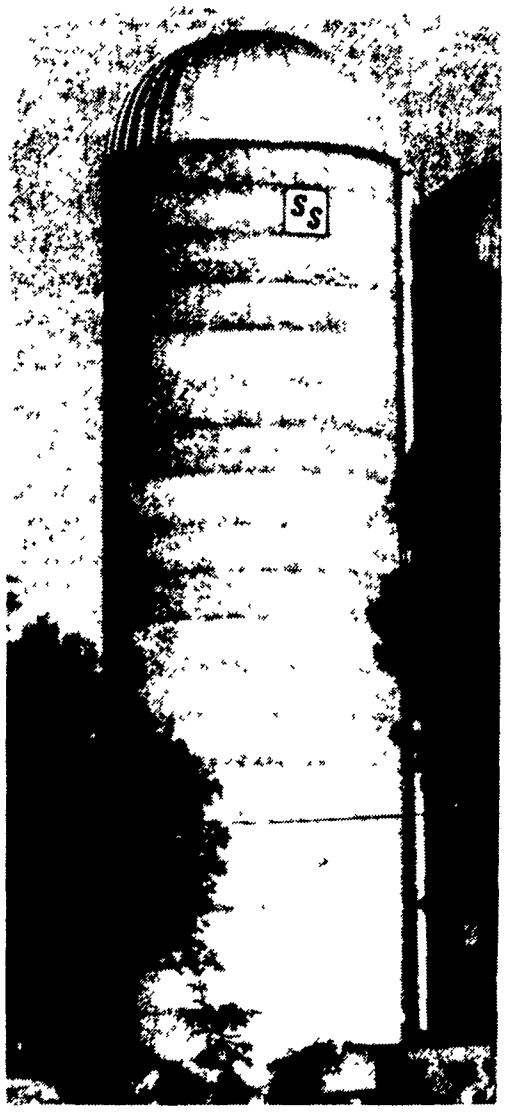
Solid Ways To Improve Your Farm

Consider The Many Advantages Of Concrete



You still have time to get your Sollenberger Silo for high moisture corn storage this fall. The summer of 1987 will be remembered for the many hot, dry days. These high temperatures damaged a lot of stored corn in structures that have a thin wall and do not reflect heat. Avoid this heat damage with a poured concrete silo from Sollenberger Silos Corp.

* The Laidig 43 bottom unloader handles high moisture ear corn and shelled corn.

* The Laidig 98 or 198 will do a good job with grains or forage at 55-60% moisture. BY FILLING EARLIER YOU CAN SAVE YOUR VALUABLE LEAVES.

You Will Appreciate The Quality Of A Sollenberger Silo For Many Years To Come.

PRE-CAST CONCRETE FEED BUNKS

You Spend A Lot Of Time And Money Producing And Storing Your Good Feed Crops. Don't Just "Get By" With A Feeding Bunk That Wastes Feed Or Is About Worn Out. Your Best Choice For A Feed Bunk Is Pre-Cast Concrete.

SLANT BACK J BUNK H-BUNK

Let Us Know Your Needs We Can Deliver From Our Large Inventory And Set On Your Prepared Site OR We Can Load On Your Truck To Help Save On Freight Costs We Have Several Sizes And Styles To Choose From, Plus Metal Posts, For Cable, Which Can Be Bolted To The Bunk To Keep Cattle Out.

MANURE STORAGE SYSTEMS

- Manure Storage Systems For The Small Herd - or The 400 Cow Herds And Larger.
- Systems Adaptable To Any Type Equipment
- SCS Approved
- Circular Tanks Poured-In-Place Above Ground - In Ground - Or Uneven Backfill.
- Pre-Cast Concrete panels Delivered And Set On Your Prepared Site.

INDUSTRIAL SILOS

Common Uses:

- Wood Chips • Sawdust
- Bark • Sand & Aggregates
- Coal • Grains • Meals
- Plastic • Water & Liquids
- Any Flowable Materials

Advantages:

- Designed according to your specific needs by registered, professional engineers
- Lower construction cost
- Standard 6" steel-reinforced, poured concrete walls
- Smooth, leak proof walls
- Maintenance free
- Concrete wall reduces product freezing in winter and heating in summer
- Lower fire insurance costs

More And More Farmers Are Moving Up to Sollenberger

PRE-CAST BUNKER SILOS

"THE ECONOMICAL CHOICE" STORAGE FOR ANY FORAGE

Also Suitable For Grain Storage, And Practically Any Other Bulk Material.

The Sollenberger Pre-Cast Bunker Silo Panel Is Designed To Be Free-Standing. With The Tongue and Groove Edges, It Can Be Coated With Mastic & Bolted Together To Give An Air-Tight Smooth Wall That's Easy To Pack And "Keeps Feed Good." Delivered And Set On Your Prepared Gravel Base.

- Outside Walls
- Center Walls
- Can Be Moved Or Added To Later
- 8'6" high
- 5'2" Wide
- 5000 P S I Steel Reinforced Concrete
- Adaptable To Head gates Or Self Feeders
- Very Strong
- Can Be Used For Retaining Walls
- Many Industrial Bulk Storage Uses

Grand Champion Angus Bull At MD State Fair

Grand champion Angus bull laurels at the 1987 Maryland State Fair, Timonium, went to H F Banbury 542. Also named the senior champion by judge Fred Smalstig, Millbrook, New York, this bull is an April 1985, HAR Bang 1774 son. He is owned by William Creager, McLean, Virginia; Huntingdon Farm, Alexandria, Pennsylvania; and Byrnley, The Plains, Virginia. There were 47 Angus displayed at the show.

Greensburg Charolais Win In Tennessee

KNOXVILLE, Tenn — Rainy weather did not dampen the enthusiasm of a large crowd at the Tennessee Valley A&I Fair on Sept. 19 in Knoxville, Tenn. Don Wakeman of the University of Florida in Gainesville, placed the 55 females and 23 bulls shown.

Wakeman selected JGC BCF High Calibur 5134 as Senior and Grand Champion bull. High Calibur is a 1985 son of Silver Creek High-Rise. He is owned by Royal Charolais Co. of Greensburg, John Giles Charolais of Morganton, N.C., and Berry Charolais Farm of Morganton, N.C.

Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion bull was RCC Royal High Roller, also a 1985 High-Rise son. Martin Charolais Farm of Fallston, N.C., and Royal Charolais Co. own this bull.

In a strong female show Wakeman selected his Intermediate Champion, Miss CCC Crocus 6561 ET, as Grand Champion female for Royal Charolais Co. and Circle C Charolais of Morehead, Ky. Crocus is a July 28, 1986, daughter of Silver Creek High-Rise.

Junior and Reserve Grand Champion female was Miss CCC Laurie 6465, a Sept. 3, 1986, daughter of Silver Creek Thunderbolt owned by Royal Charolais Co. and Circle C. Charolais.

Showmanship Tips For The Showring

With the livestock show season heavy upon us, I thought it might be appropriate to offer up-to-date tips on showmanship for both youth and adults. Even though showing cattle is a small part of the total beef industry, it is an important area when you consider advertising and promotion, as well as, incentive for our youth to foster or interest in beef production.

The purpose of showmanship is to present an animal in a manner that will develop the most favorable impression on the judge. Beef cattle showmanship not only generates enthusiasm and competition within the showring, but also teaches other valuable lessons that can be applied to everyday life. These lessons include accepting responsibility, winning graciously, losing with dignity, and learning the amount of work and determination it takes to become a winner.

Success in showmanship begins at home. Good showmanship isn't difficult, but it does take patience and effort. It takes time to halter break your animal so that it is responsive to your hand movements on the show halter, or, to a showstick. Your heifer or steer should be trained to walk, stop and be set up easily and quickly when commanded. Make sure your animal is well-accustomed to being handled with both a show halter and a showstick prior to entering the ring. In addition, your animal should also be accustomed to handling by another person. The judge will then be able to perform a close inspection without interruption or fear of injury. In preparing for a show, practice often with your animal in several short periods rather than just a few long, drawn-out practice sessions.

Once your animal has been halter broken, it should be taught to stop and lead with its head up in a natural and attentive position. Rope halters may be used until approximately two weeks before a show. At that time a show halter should be substituted frequently.

When leading, hold the halter strap in your right hand, 6 to 12 inches away from the animal's head (usually at the junction of the chain and leather portion of the show strap). Most animals will not lead well or behave if the halter is held closer. Since an animal normally moves its head before any other portion of the body, a firm hold on the halter will give you better control and often prevent any wayward foot movement.

When leading, any extra strap may be folded and held within the right hand, or the extra length may be held in the left hand. The latter method is preferred because you can better control a spooked animal when you have two hands on the strap. Do not, however, invite injury by wrapping the halter strap around your fingers or hand. Many participants shorten the leather strap so it needs no folding and hangs free.

A showstick is used to assist in placing the feet. Keep the topline straight, calm the animal and control the animal.

When setting up, switch the lead strap to your left hand, and the showstick to your right. If a hind foot is to be moved backward, pull backward on the halter and simultaneously apply pressure with your showstick to the soft tissue where the hoof is split; but, avoid jabbing this tender spot. When the hind foot is to be moved forward, pull forward on the halter and apply pressure with the showstick under the dew claw. When the hind feet are too close together, apply pressure with the showstick to the inside of the leg just above the hoof.

Front feet may be repositioned using either a showstick or boots. Younger, inexperienced, showmen will be safer using a showstick. While pulling or pushing on the halter, simultaneously apply pressure to the dew claw to move the hoof forward or to the split of the hoof to move it backward or sideways. Through practice, you will become very proficient at setting up your animal quickly, quietly, and safely.

The showstock will also help keep the animal's topline straight. Simply apply pressure to the underline or plaee the hook of the stick inside the rear flank and apply slight pressure.

When training your animal, tie its head to a high rail or post. Practice setting up by using your showstick and occasionally stroking the animal's underline as your place the hooves. This clams your animal and gains acceptance of your showstick.

Finally, the showstick will help to keep your animal from moving too rapidly while being led. When leading, hold the showstick in the left hand about one-third of the way down from the butt end. This will permit good control of the showstick and allow you to use the butt end of the showstick for tapping the nose, when needed.

After your animal is thoroughly groomed and outfitted, prepare to enter the showring. Be prompt, alert, neatly dressed, but not overdressed. Dirty clothes, sneakers, or lack of personal cleanliness will detract from the impression you

SKID-STEER LOADERS

A Case IH Uni-Loader® skid-steer can be the handiest piece of equipment on your farm.

Compact power and skid-steer maneuverability combine to make a Uni-Loader® skid-steer the hardest working hired hand you can put on tough lifting, loading, moving, leveling and digging jobs. All three models turn 360 degrees in their own length and are so compact they can negotiate small doorways and work in tight areas. All with hydrostatic drive with infinitely variable speeds, "hands-only" two-lever control of speed, direction and loader functions, plus strength and durability for years of tough-job performance.

1816 C Uni-Loader
Built with all the features of the larger models, this Uni-Loader handles a whole list of jobs with ease and economy. 700 lb. (318 kg) lift capacity and 6-foot 2½-inch (1.89 m) dump height. 16 S.A.E. net HP (11.9 kW) gas engine.

1835 B Uni-Loader
This mid-size Uni-Loader is built to handle a variety of jobs in a big way. With 1200 lb. (545 kg) lift capacity and 7-foot (2.14m) dump height. Your choice of 32 S.A.E. net HP (23.9 kW) gas or 34 HP (25.4 kW) diesel engines.

1845 C Uni-Loader
Our biggest Uni-Loader skid-steer has a 1700 lb. (772 kg) lift capacity and a dump height of 7.5 feet (2.29 m). Powered by a 51 S.A.E. net HP (38 kW) liquid cooled diesel engine.

and your animal make on the judge. Be certain you have your exhibitor number, showstick, and a Scotch or black rubber comb for re-grooming your animal in the ring. Also, you must know the birthdate and weight of your animal.

Lead your animal into line and set it up as quickly as possible. Generally, cattle will be lined up side by side to start a class. When pulling into line or stopping, always try to leave three or four feet on both sides of your animal. In this way you have enough room to set up and others will have ample room for movement. Avoid setting up in a low spot or with the front feet in a hole; try to put the front feet on higher ground. Also, leave at least five feet between your animal's head and the edge of the ring. This will allow room for the judge to move in front of the row. Keep yourself in a position to watch both your animal and the judge. Winning beef showmen always keep their animal's legs placed correctly, the head up and the back level.

When lining up head to tail, allow four to six feet between animals. If the animal in front is reluctant to move, tap it gently on the rump with the showstick or twist the tail to help get it started. Let your animal walk freely. Tap your animal on the nose with the showstick if walking too fast.

When animals are lined up head to tail, or side to side, the judge is comparing your animal to the rest of the class. If your animal is out of line and covering the view of another animal, the judge cannot make a fair comparison and you are not practicing showring courtesy. Avoid bumping, crowding or striking another exhibitor's animal. Also, do your part to keep the light straight and allow ample space between animals. Again, help your fellow exhibitor if his/her animal is reluctant to move. If your animal becomes nervous in the showring, work quietly and patiently with it and remain calm. Do not get discouraged or lose your temper.

When the judge has announced the final placings, his reasons, and the awards are distributed, leave the ring in an orderly manner following the instructions of the ringman.

Sulbra Sell-A-Bration Sale

3E 93 Maplebound bred dam and out of a high TPI sire. She classified VG-85 as a two-year-old and at two years and three months was making 18,000 pounds of milk.

Comments buyer Edwin C. Fry, "I bought her because she's by a top TPI sire, Enhancer, red, and comes from an excellent maternal cow with good records and has the potential to become an excellent red daughter of Enhancer."

Fry noted there were considerable side benefits with the package with the two planted Sellcrest embryos and recipients, and two frozen Sellcrest embryos since Sellcrest semen is no longer available. He said he had observed the cow several times during lactation, that she had flushed successfully, and that he had tried to buy her previously.

The second highest selling entry was a three-year-old Bell daughter, Ro-Sa-Acres Bell Glow, purchased by Dennis Wolff, Pen-Col Farms, Millville, for $5,000. Consignor was Ronald and Sally Davis, Warren Center.

Glow was classified VG-85 at three years and possesses an excellent mammary. Her TPI is +676 with a protein dollar value of 122 and fat value of 120. She is due in November to Chairman.

"We feel she meets the criteria to fit into our breeding program," said buyer, Denny Wolff. "She has good type and high test and protein."

Fourteen-year-old Daniel Hoppaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoppaugh, Columbia Cross Roads, said he purchased a three-year-old Chairman daughter for $3500 because he liked her style. "I liked her when I saw her," he observed. "She was black and a full sister to one I bought the year before from the same buyer. I was looking for a show animal."

Ron Wood who reads pedigrees, termed Joneslea Chairman Lena, above, as, "one of the fanciest animals at the sale." Lena was consigned by Russell and Carol Jones, Little Meadows, Pa. and is due to Whittier Farms Ned Boy. She has a +610 TPI and is from a high testing maternal line.

Sale average for 62 head of mature cattle was $1902; grand total including the sale of four calves and two quilts was $119,675.

Grape Growers Learn New Technologies

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — A computerized weather system that gives growers up-to-the-minute information on vineyard conditions was the highlight of an Aug. 13 open house at Penn State's Erie County Field Research Laboratory.

The recently-installed weather system operates with satellites that measure such conditions as soil moisture, rainfall, solar radiation, wind direction and speed, relative humidity and leaf wetness at six collection sites over a 15-mile radius. The data travels from the satellites to the lab's computer.

When the weather system is fully operational, it will connect to 15 major stations throughout Pennsylvania's grape belt, each with a radius of 15 miles, and each with six sub-stations for a total of 90 data points.

"The system will let us map microclimates of vineyards, which is something we couldn't do before," says Carl Haeseler, professor of pomology at the research lab. "It will give growers a tremendous amount of data."

Growers will be able to call the system and get information from the data collection point with climatic conditions that most closely resemble those in their particular vineyard. The weather system will also provide valuable information to growers of crops other than grapes.

Another highlight of the open house was a demonstration by entomologist Michael Saunders of a new computer-based expert system for grape management. An expert system is a computer program that works like a human expert by organizing information and narrowing options to identify problems and make recommendations. The Erie County lab is among the first to develop such a system for a specific crop.

Visitors, who came from Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York, also saw results of research on a new herbicide, "Ignite," that is less toxic to plants and controls weeds better than currently available herbicides.

"Growers also found our experiments with plant density in growing Concords interesting," says Haeseler. "We found we could reduce acreage by about 30 percent and maintain the same yields. What that boils down to is that growers can do on two-thirds of an acre what they have been doing on an acre. This is an important step toward our objective of finding ways for growers to get a better return on their investment."

The Erie County Field Research Laboratory is one of three field research laboratories operated by Penn State's College of Agriculture. This year Penn State is celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Hatch Act, legislation that set aside federal funds to support agricultural research in all states. Research at North East is one result of this funding.

Agway Announces Winner of Farm Computer

SYRACUSE, NY — Dennis Fidler of Pottsville, PA, was the winner of a $2,500 on-farm computer set-up and his choice of software from Agway Farm Computer Systems at the recent Farm Progress Days in State College, PA.

The drawing was held following the farm show from hundreds of entries at the Agway Enterprise Sales Display at the big farm event. Agway provides on-farm computer systems including a variety of farm management software.

Dean Bartholomew of Agway installed the Epson Equity II Computer and FX85 printer at the Fidler Farm.

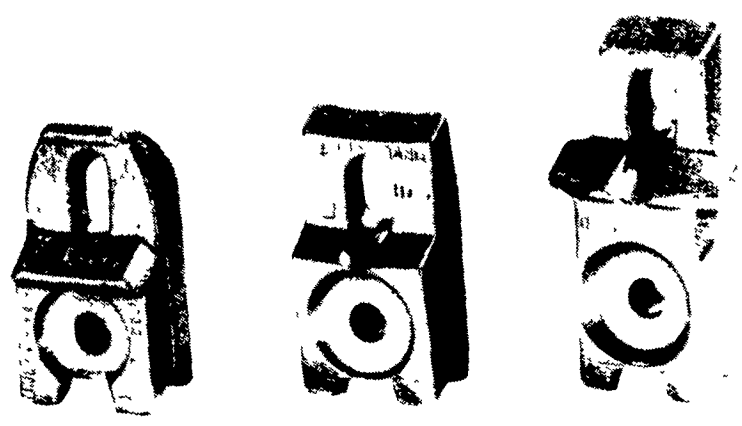
BUSINESS NEWS...



Unverferth Manufacturing, Kalida, Ohio, now offers step-up spacer lugs which can convert lower horsepower tractors to larger tires up to 42" in diameter.

The malleable iron lugs attach directly to the tractor's original hub and extend to a specially designed, large diameter Unverferth step-up rim to accomplish the conversion.

Unverferth's complete line of step-up lugs and rims includes components to convert most popular tractors used today.

For more information, contact Unverferth Mfg. Co., Inc., P.O. Box 357, Kalida, OH 45853. Phone 1-800-322-6301 Telex 365026.

More Power More Technology In New M-F Tractors

DES MOINES, IA — Two new high-performance 115 and 130 PTO horsepower tractors featuring advanced micro-chip technology and proven Perkins engines have been introduced by Massey-Ferguson.

Both new tractors feature the Perkins 6-cylinder, 354 cubic inch (5.8 liter) turbocharged diesel engine. The M-F 3630 delivers 115 PTO horsepower, while the Turbocharge/cooled M-F 3650 delivers 130 PTO horsepower (manufacturer's rating).

The new M-F 3630 and 3650 tractors feature the advanced Datatronic(tm) and Autotronic(tm) systems pioneered by the recently introduced M-F 3000 Series tractors. According to Massey-Ferguson Product Marketing Manager Jim Lacina, "While other tractors may feature on-board computers that display useful information, they all depend on the operator to properly interpret the data and make the best response. The M-F 3600 Series tractors have the ability to actually "think out" the most efficient and cost-effective way of operating the tractor, then to automatically perform many of the needed actions."

The unique Autotronic system, standard on both models, gives automatic control over a number of the transmission, four-wheel drive, differential lock and independent PTO functions. As Lacina points out, "This frees the operator from having to remember and carry out many routine actions and provides greater operating safety and economy."

Autotronic functions include preventing shifts into a lower range when traveling too fast for that range; sensing PTO loads for smooth engagement and, if overloaded, automatic disengagement; automatically engaging and disengaging the differential lock when implements are lowered and raised at the headlands; and automatically disengaging four-wheel drive at road speeds and re-engaging it when braking.

The optional Datatronic system can automatically control wheel slippage by making precise changes to the draft of mounted implements to keep wheelslip below any operator pre-set level. As Lacina explains, "By reacting quicker than any human operator, the system improves efficiency under any operating conditions, and in bad conditions can be the difference between working and not working."

The Datatronic system also uses information from the radar speed sensor and fuel-flow sensor to compute and display information on wheelslip, fuel economy, work rate, running cost and other factors. By comparing these factors for various combinations of engine speed, gear selection and implement setting, the operator can easily determine the optimum settings.

Other features include a new ergonomic cab with noise levels in the mid-70s dBA range. A fully adjustable seat swivels and has parallel suspension to keep it level as it absorbs bumps. And all controls and gauges are positioned for easy operation.

John Ruth, President of North American Tractor Operations, explains that, "Massey-Ferguson has listened closely to customers' needs and wants in designing the M-F 3600 Series tractors. As a result, these new tractors are easier to operate, provide more automated functions to relieve repetitive tasks and improve safety, and provide more useful information to help operators farm smarter, not just harder."

According to Marketing Director Steve McDaniel, "The introduction of the new M-F 3630 and M-F 3650 tractors brings to 17 the number of new tractor models introduced within the past year. And it is yet another step in rounding out the Massey-Ferguson lineup of 16 to 130 horsepower tractors. It als exemplifies the commitment of Massey-Ferguson to respond to the needs of today's marketplace."

Ford New Holland Sells MD Dealership

Ford New Holland Inc. has announced the sale of their Frederick dealership known as New Holland Ceresville. Robert Dinsmore of Jefferson, Maryland has purchased the store.

The store is incorporated as "Ceresville Ford New Holland Inc." and is still located at 8102 Liberty Road, Frederick, Maryland 21701. The store maintains 23 people to serve customers with machinery, service work, and service parts needs.

The store handles both the Ford and New Holland line as well as Brillion, Woods, Schuler and other short lines. They are also the authorized dealer for the newly acquired Versatile tractors.

Dinsmore was raised on a dairy farm in Southwestern, Pa. and graduated from Penn State University. He has been employed by New Holland for 22-years in the marketing department. He has been manager of the Ceresville Store since 1981.

New Field Boss® 37.

Our exclusive Triple Sync transmission lets you move between gears without stopping. You can even shift from forward to reverse just by clutching. Three ranges and two creeper speeds let you select the right combination for the job. Choose from 18 forward and six reverse speeds. For more power and tighter turning, pick a model with our exclusive King Pin 4WD.

A four-cylinder diesel produces 37 engine horsepower, 30 PTO horsepower and even lugging. A fully-independent 540 rpm rear PTO means better implement performance and the standard Category I three-point hitch has both position and draft control.

Stop in and see the new Field Boss 37... the smooth operator.

WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

Compact price. Big-job features.

New Field Boss® 43.

It may look like a compact, but it packs features that allow you to use it on jobs where you used to use a utility tractor.

The four-cylinder diesel produces 45 engine horsepower and 39 PTO horsepower. And, it's linked to our exclusive Triple Sync transmission. A synchromesh main gear and two constant mesh range and creeper gears give you 12 forward and four reverse speeds. For improved pulling power, choose a 4 WD model with tight-turning, King Pin drive.

Other big-job features include an independent 540 rear PTO, helical-gear final drives, wet multi-disc brakes and open center hydraulics. Plus, a three-point hitch with position and draft control.

Ask us about big-job attachments, too.

Beaver Fair Dairy Show

Snyder Co. Correspondent

The 59th Annual Beaver Fair Dairy Show on September 24 attracted 109 entries, which included 4-H-FFA and open classes. Rosettes, ribbons, and trophies were awarded to champion animals and to entrants winning showmanship and fitting awards. All five classes of dairy animals were shown.

Jeff Peifer of Atlantic Breeder's was the type judge for the show. Tina Shirey, RD1, Middleburg, representing Hershey Foods, was the showmanship and fitting judge. Dairy Superintendents were Alan Narehood, RD#1, Beavertown, and Joe Hassinger, RD#2, McClure.

The grand champion rosette for Ayrshire was awarded to Donald and Ruth Ann Walters with their Don-Ann Albi Alicia. Born on January 19, 1983, she is the offspring of sire, Milaway Albi and dam, Nabobs Selina.

Reserve honors went to Carl and William Sandel with their Frosty-Ayr Molly. She was born on July 22, 1981 and was sired by Meredith Liberator. She is the daughter of Karen 2nd Spangles.

The Jersey grand champion went to Top-O-Hill Milestone Cutie owned by Mildred Seeds. Born on November 11, 1984, she is the daughter of sire, Advancer Sleeping Milestone and dam, Top-O-Hill Special Charity.

Mildred Seeds also had the reserve champion Jersey with Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Penny. She is the daughter of Top-O-Hill Special St. Patty and was born on March 19, 1984. The sire was Valley Stream Silver Beacon.

John Troxell captured the Brown Swiss grand champion rosette with his Crystal-View Delegate Catie. Born on December 2, 1981, she is the daughter of Wind-Mill Marcus Connie. The dam was sired by White Clouds Doreens Delegate.

Reserve honors went to Plumside Perfume Paula owned by Kerk

Safemark Has Record Sales

CAMP HILL — The Safemark division of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) has achieved record-breaking sales for the second year in a row.

Joseph Patti, manager of PFA's Group Purchasing Division, reported Safemark sales of tires, batteries, tillage tools and other farm equipment supplies topped $3 million during the sales year ending August 31.

"Sales increases occurred across the board," Patti said, "And our dealers had an exceptionally fine year in sales of rear farm tractor tires and twine."

Patti added, "Safemark has become a market force in the state. We've compelled other dealers to compete with Safemark's prices and quality. As a result, every farmer in Pennsylvania is benefitting from Safemark whether or not he buys our product. Our goal is to make sure every farmer gives Safemark a try on their next purchase."

Safemark offers tires, batteries, tubes, twine, grease and oil, tillage tools, anti-freeze, chains, insect control systems, roller chain, cutting parts and bearings through a network of 126 dealers statewide. Safemark is a members' service of PFA which has 23,443 member families in 54 county associations.

Nutrena Introduces Products For Stressed Calves

MINNEAPOLIS — The Nutrena Feed Division of Cargill is marketing two new feeds for starting calves. They are Doin' Fine starter concentrate and Doin' Fine starter syrup.

Jim McDougall, Nutrena's director of cattle feed programs, said the feeds are formulated so calves can cope with feedlot stress, begin consuming a balanced ration and quickly regain shrink.

"Keeping calves healthy and getting them on feed as fast as possible are especially critical this year since calves are very expensive. Our research shows these products are highly effective in minimizing stress-related losses that can quickly claim any potential profits," he said.

Nutrena Doin' Fine starter concentrate provides soluble protein, bypass protein, niacin, sarsaponin, selenium and other minerals and vitamins. It is medicated with oxytetracycline for prevention and treatment of the early stages of the shipping fever complex.

Nutrena research showed that calves fed Doin' Fine starter concentrate gained 12.9 percent faster and 10.6 percent more efficiently than calves fed a standard concentrate with the same medication, McDougall said. The concentrate is fed at one to two pounds per head per day the first three to five weeks after calves are in the feedlot. It can be mixed into the ration or top-dressed.

Nutrena Doin' Fine starter syrup adds special aroma and flavors to encourage cattle to eat new and different rations when they enter the feedlot. It is designed for use only during the first five days of the starting period or until total feed intake reaches the desired level.

A high-quality, mixed starter ration was fed side by side with the same ration top-dressed with Doin' Fine starter syrup in Nutrena research. Cattle chose to eat only 5.2 percent of the plain ration while they ate 94.8 percent of the top-dressed ration.

The syrup is fed at the rate of .4 pound per head per day. It can be poured over the ration or mixed in.

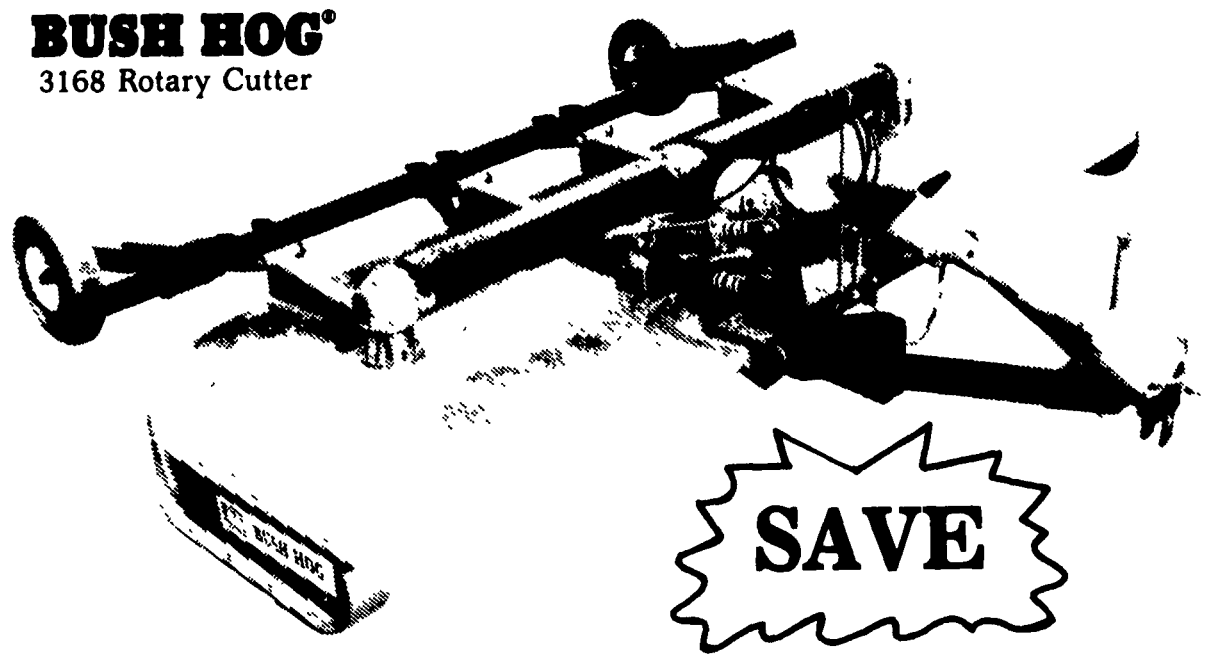
BUSH HOG®

3168 Rotary Cutter



SAVE

Bush Hog's 3168 Rotary Cutter features a 14-foot width—wide enough for big volume cutting on large acreages, right-of-ways or crop residue. And it's built tough, with the right construction for years of trouble-free performance.

10-gauge steel deck construction, slip clutches and rubber-cushioned axles are standard equipment, and are a few of the reasons why the Bush Hog® 3168 will hold up in rugged cutting conditions. You get a chice of hitches—pull type, 3-point lift or economical semi-mount. Blade holders are available round or straight.

There are lots of features on a 3168...and the best of all may be its price. Come in today and see for yourself.

AFBF Annual Meeting Set Jan. 10-14

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — The American Farm Bureau Federation has selected New Orleans as the site of its 69th annual meeting Jan. 10-14, 1988. An estimated 6,000 farmers and ranchers will mix the serious business of adopting Farm Bureau policy resolutions for the year and electing their two top officers with their enjoyment of the well known sights, sounds and tastes of New Orleans, said Dean Kleckner, AFBF president.

Program headliners already confirmed include Art Linkletter, entertainer, author and lecturer, and Ian McLachlan, president of the National Farmers Federation of Australia, who will address the Tuesday morning general session on Jan. 12. Entertainers Louise Mandrell and Doug Kershaw will star in the recognition and awards program that evening. Other general session speakers will be named later, Kleckner said. Monday and Tuesday afternoons during the convention will be filled with 17 informative commodity and special interest conferences.

The third annual Farm Bureau Trade Show will be held Jan. 10 through 12 in the New Orleans Hilton Riverside and Towers, which also is the headquarters hotel for the annual meeting.

Election of the top officers will be on the agenda facing the nearly 300 voting delegates during the business meeting. AFBF president Dean Kleckner, an Iowa hog producer and former president of Iowa Farm Bureau, and vice president Harry Bell, who also is president of South Carolina Farm Bureau, are completing their first two-year terms.

Special activities for young farmers and ranchers will include a discussion meet and the announcement of three winners of the young farmer and rancher awards. The discussion meet winner and three recipients of YF&R awards will receive, rent-free for a year, a Deutz-Allis tractor designed for their particular farming operation or, a new option provided for the first time this year, a Gleaner combine.

Farm Bureau women also have special activities at the convention including selection of regional representatives to the AFB women's committee and a special conference, "Issues and Images," to be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 11.

Nelson Named Comptroller

SYRACUSE — Ronie Nelson of Canton, PA. has been appointed comptroller for the Dairy Products Division of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative.

He is based at divisional offices in Canton, reporting to Division Manager Thad Woodward.

The division markets over 300 food and farm supply products via a truck route system serving rural customers in 11 states. It also operates six retail dairy stores in Pennsylvania and New York.

As comptroller, Nelson will provide financial information on the division to corporate staff at the co-op's Syracuse, NY headquarters; help prepare yearly budgets; help evaluate potential store sites; conduct periodic audits at each store, and assist the divisional manager on special projects.

Nelson, who grew up in Turtle Lake, ND, was previously controller for Robert Gibb & Sons Inc. in Fargo, ND; and before that, assistant controller at Dakota Electric Supply Co., also in Fargo.

He is a four-year veteran of the U.S. Navy, and a graduate of Moorhead State University, Moorhead, MN.

Nelson and his wife, Karen, have two children, Danielle, 8, and Joshua, 5.

Maryland PDCA Junior Dairyman Named

Julie Walbert was named Maryland PDCA Junior Dairyman of the Year at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. The Maryland Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, Inc. offers the Junior Dairyman Contest in which Julie won first place in the senior division. Miss Walbert, of Ellicott City, was awarded a rosette, silver bowl and $300 scholarship which see plans to apply towards her college expenses this fall. The top three teams receiving prize money were Howard County 4-H Dairy Club, Berks County 4-H and FFA Team A (Pennsylvania) and Carroll County 4-H Dairy Club.

Brian Ehrhardt won first in the junior division of the Junior Dairyman Contest. Brian, of Baldwin, was awarded a rosette, silver bowl and a $50 check. This was the first year for junior division competition. The winning junior team was Baltimore County Dairy Team, with Berks County Team placing second.

The Junior Dairyman Contest is open to all 4-H, FFA and FAA members between the ages of 8 to 19. This activity provides an excellent opportunity for youth to see and judge a variety of quality dairy cattle, to experience and sharpen one's decision making skills in the various dairy management areas, and to test one's knowledge in the multifaceted dairy industry. The Junior Dairyman Contest is made possible by the dedication of numerous volunteers and the Maryland dairy cattle breed organizations — Maryland Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, Inc., Sire Power, Inc., Genuine Genetics, Peace and Plenty Farm, Coldspring Farm, and Maple Dell Farm.

Hort Show Comes To PSU

UNIVERSITY PARK — The 74th annual Hort Show at Penn State will allow visitors to tour gardens from around the world without leaving campus.

Visitors to this year's show will see displays of the types of gardens found in countries on five continents, in tropical and arid climates. The Hort Show will be held at the Ag Arena during Penn State's Homecoming Weekend, Oct. 10 and 11. Its theme is "The World of Horticulture."

The Hort Club members who organize, manage and construct the Hort Show use plants available in this area, so that visitors can use ideas from the show in their own gardens.

An English flower garden, simple in design, incorporates a few ornamental plants with masses of perennials and annuals for plenty of color. A Japanese garden combines bodies of water, shrines and carefully chosen plants to convey an Oriental theme. Geraniums and marigolds are the colorful staples of the German garden, next to haystacks and golden hops and barley used to brew world-renowned German beers.

The Australia display shows the garden that would grace the average farm worker's hut, along with some of Australia's natural vegetation. And what else would be featured in the Holland garden display but flowers grown from bulbs? This last display is organized by Pi Alpha Xi, Penn State's floriculture and ornamental horticulture society, which is also selling flower bulbs.

Other displays feature gardens and crops from the tropics, New Zealand and China, and another includes cacti from deserts and jungles.

Aside from viewing the displays, visitors can take a bit of the Hort Show home with them. A sales area offers a wide selection of plants in all sizes, at prices even a college student can afford. Plants used in the exhibits are also for sale and may be picked up Sunday evening following the show.

Horticulture is the cultivation, not only of flowers and ornamentals, but also of fruits and vegetables. The food sales area at the Hort Show offers fresh Pennsylvania-grown apples and apple cider by the cup or jug. Visitors can also pick up mushrooms grown at Penn State, honey, pumpkins, gourds, Indian corn and dried flower arrangements. As a special feature, the Hort Club also sells miniature painted pumpkins. Proceeds from the sales support Hort Club activities, trips to regional gardens and student scholarships.

The show is dedicated to the men and women of agricultural science, in honor of the centennial of the Hatch Act, which funded agricultural research stations in each state. An exhibit about 100 years of agricultural research at Penn State will be on display at the show.

After an opening dedication ceremony, the show will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Display plants will go on sale from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday.

There is no admission, and parking is available. The Ag Arena is at the corner of Park Street Extension and Porter Road near Beaver Stadium.

Sales Meeting Marks Successful Year For Yetter

Sales representatives from all over the U.S. were in attendance at the 1987 annual sales meeting of Yetter Mfg. Co., Colchester, IL. The meeting, which was held in nearby Macomb recently, was especially significant because it marked another in a succession of banner years for the firm, whose business has increased year after year.

Field demonstrations of Yetter's new coulter cart and Trash Masher/coulter combination units were held, and the firm's advertising agency presented the 1987-88 advertising and marketing campaign. The award-winning theme "Quality and Price" was retained from the previous year and an expanded media schedule was developed to reflect the expansion of Yetter sales throughout more and more areas of the U.S. Also introduced at the meeting was a new 16 page, full color catalog containing the company's complete line of conservation tillage products.

Yetter Mfg. Co., now in its 58th year, manufacturers a line of conservation tillage attachments that include liquid, dry and suspension fertilizer coulters; disc chisel, conservation and NH_3 coulters; row crop planter units, Trash Masters, rotary hoes and row crop cultivators; folding and rigid toolbars, drill markers, and the new coulter cart and Trash Master/coulter combination units.

Reading Fair Winners Named

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING — The Reading Fair held last week at the Fairgrounds Square Mall, Reading, boasted its "Best year ever" as it drew to a close after a glorious week of sunshine last Saturday. Usually held the last week in September, fair officials noted that this was one of the few years that the weather cooperated with fair week and the large crowds from the 21st through the 26th proved that the fair was enjoyed by many.

With a week full of shows including goat, sheep, swine, rabbits, poultry, market steers and swine, and dairy animals, crowds had much to follow. Also on the agenda daily were hay bale throwing contests, pizza eating, corn husking and an animal mardi gras that drew many entries.

The Jersey Show Grand and Reserve titles were taken by Longmeadows Farm, Hamburg, owned by Dr. Robert & Helene Dreisbach. The Brown Swiss Champions were owned by Randy and Tammy Balthaser, Bernville. Clayton Snyder, Oley, exhibited the Grand Champion Guernsey, and Mark Price, Douglassville, exhibited the Grand Champion Aryshire.

Clayton Snyder, on the right, exhibited the grand champion Guernsey who also stood best bred and owned in Harrisburg. On the left, Mark Price stands with his grand champion Ayrshire, "Pet", who has stood undefeated in the Berks County for the last three years.

Ehrlich gets the jump on fleas.

Fleas feed only on blood Prior to biting humans they may have fed on skunks rats or deer Fleas don t care

Adult fleas can go two years without a meal but prefer to eat often They usually bite humans on the legs but will jump onto beds and chairs if given a chance This can be more than just irritating Fleas are among the most notorious disease carriers in the world

Allowed to roam your home one female flea will lay about 450 eggs Get the jump on fleas before they jump on you Call Ehrlich for a free inspection no obligation

Irish Creek Has Two Top Selling Jerseys At State Sale

BY GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG — With an increase of $279 over last year's average, the 1987 edition of the Pennsylvania State Jersey Sale was defined as a total success. The thirty-three head sold, including three calves sold after their dams, averaged $1174.09 representing the strong demand for Jerseys and their high solids milk. Eight elite pedigreed Pot-of-Gold heifers sold commanding an average selling price of $709.38. Much of the credit for the sale's upbeat trend must also be given to this year's State Sale Committee headed up by Lester Martin who served as State Sale Chairman.

David and Robin Phillips, Irish Creek Jerseys, Mohrsville, had a doubly good day at the sale. They consigned both the top selling cow in the sale and the top selling Pot-of-Gold calf.

Commanding the top price of the day at $2275 was the Phillips' three year old consignment, Irish Creek Ministers Lavinia. Selling dry and recently re-scored at VG 88%, Lavinia is a Mayfield Prime Minister daughter out of a VG 85% Finalist dam whose ME AVG in 6L is 14,381M and 608F. She also has an MCD of +2401M and +111CY$.

A production cow in her own right, Lavinia made over 13,000 of milk, over 700 pounds of butterfat and over 520 pounds of protein in her last lactation. She sold due in mid-October to Irish Creek Brass Stone, a young sample sire who is a maternal brother to another popular bull currently in service and bred by the Phillips' Irish Creek General Grit.

Lavinia was purchased by Daniel McClelland, Reynoldsville, Pa. McClelland is a Junior member of the State Club and is assembling a foundation herd of Jerseys.

McClelland also took home one of the second high selling cows of the sale, Kalmar Winchester Megan, who sold for $1900. Consigned by Lester and Ruth Martin, Chambersburg, PA, this fancy three year old sold fresh and open. A perennial winner on the show circuit, Meghan hails from a high testing family. She averaged a 5.5% butterfat test on her two year old record and both her dam and grand-dam have records over 700 pounds of butterfat to their credit.

The top selling heifer in the 1987 PA Pot-of-Gold Sale was Irish Creek Imperial Australia. Consigned by David and Robin Phillips, Janie Cole, Milan, paid $925 for this flashy senior calf who was recently named the Junior Champion at the Kutztown Fair. This heifer is sired by Mayfield Imperial-ET, a young sire at ABS, and is out of a Fascinator dam with an ME AVG on 2L of 13,554M and 627F.

Heifers sold in the Pot-of-Gold sale must be purchased by Juniors only. Twenty-five percent of the gross of the Pot-of-Gold sale is set aside each year for re-distribution to those animals from that sale with the highest production records on their first lactation.

Announced prior to the start of the sale, the 1987 winner of the Pot-of-Gold contest was Michael Clark, Enon Valley, for his heifer Kahler Sample Delphenium. Consigned by Kalmar Farm, DEL, in the 1985 Pot-of-Gold Sale, this heifer's winning record was 2-05 305D 14,011M 5.3 744F 3.5 490P.

John and Ginger Myers, Green Manor Farm, Littlestown were recognized as the consignors of last year's consignment that went on to complete the highest record in the year following her purchase. Purchased in last year's PA State Jersey Sale by Jay Clark, Enon Valley, Green Manor Boss Sunbeam made 2-06 295D 13,827M 5.0 694F 3.7 506P.

This year's sale was held Wednesday, September 23rd, in the Small Arena at the Farm show complex in conjunction with the PA All-American Dairy Show.

The next dam in the pedigree is a Willrich Mercury (LL) daughter with an ME AVG in 5L of 15,046M and 694F.

Tying for second high price of the sale at $1900 was Sunset Ridge Soldier Boy Odelle. She was the choice purchase of Dean Moose, New Wilmington. Odelle sold fresh and open and had 67.6 pounds of milk on her first test. Her ME AVG on her first lactation is 18,550M 8811F for an MCD of +4245M +132F and +368CY$. A Soldier Boy daughter, Odelle is out of a Willrich Mercury (LL) dam whose best effort was at 3-10 295D 11,190M 5.5 620F 4/0 453.

Dean Moose also took home the fourth high selling animal, Valley-U Brass Goldie, who sold for $1600. Consigned by Jeffrey Keller, Quarryville, this fancy Top Brass heifer was springing to a service by Highland Magic Duncan.

Market Researcher Joins NDB Staff

The National Dairy Board is pleased to announce that effective September 14, 1987, William F. Diggins assumed the position of Vice President, Market and Economic Research.

BIll comes to the Board from Mapes & Ross of Princeton, New Jersey, a firm specializing in advertising testing. As senior account executive, Bill was responsible for data analysis and client presentations of marketing and advertising research projects.

Prior to joining Mapes & Ross, Bill worked for the Gallup Organization, also of Princeton, as Assistant Project Director. He was responsible for market research, data analysis, report presentations and social research projects.

Prior to his experience with market research firms, Bill served a three-year term as assistant professor at Tulane University where he taught the application and uses of statistics. He received his B.A. from Rider College in 1975, and his M.S. and Ph.D. from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

"Bill Diggins will add needed expertise and experience to assist the Board in its decision making. He brings a good balance of marketing and research to our evaluation programs," said NDB Chief Executive Officer, Joseph Westwater.

In other staff news, Chuck Timpko will assume new responsibilities as manager, market and economic data analysis. He previously served in the position of assistant director of collections and compliance since joining the NDB staff in January 1985. Timpko earned a B.S. degree in international relations from Georgetown University and his M.B.A. in marketing from Boston University.

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, composed of 36 dairy farmers, was established by The Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 to develop and administer a coordinated program of promotion, research and nutrition education to strengthen the dairy industry position in the marketplace. This effort is financed by America's dairy farmers."

MDA Seeks Hay And Straw Farmers

The Marketing Services Office of the Maryland Department of Agriculture wants to hear from Maryland farmers who anticipate having hay or straw for sale this winter. Marketing Services plans to publish the 1987-88 Maryland Hay and Straw Directory the last week in November. Farmers who want to be listed in the directory should contact the Marketing Services Office no later than November 1.

The directory will be available to livestock producers, horsemen, contractors, and others who are trying to locate a source of hay or straw. In addition, the directory will be mailed to nearly 250 horse riding stables located throughout Maryland.

Farmers who wish to be listed in the directory can write to the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, "Hay & Straw Directory," 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland, 21401, or call toll-free 1-800-638-2209, 24 hours a day. Please provide name, address, county, phone number, and a description of the hay or straw for sale, e.g., 2000 50-pound bales alfalfa, 10 tons barley straw, etc.

USDA Enforces Regulations

WASHINGTON, — The U.S. Department of Agriculture settled 10 cases in July to enforce federal animals and plant health laws and regulations.

Bert W. Hawkins, administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said individuals and businesses were fined a total of $6,375, and one veterinarian had his federal accreditation suspended.

The latest monthly figures also show port inspectors collected $39,005 in civil penalties from 1,445 international travelers caught smuggling potentially hazardous agricultural products into the country and $7,200 from 51 businesses or shipping companies that mishandled or improperly disposed of regulated garbage.

In addition, three charges were filed during July against persons or businesses accused of violating agency regulations. Other violation involved illegal interstate movement of livestock; another, the importation of prohibited fruit; and the third, mishandling of foreign-origin garbage.

"USDA enforces a variety of programs to prevent, control or eradicate pests and diseases of plants and animals," Hawkins said. "Action is generally taken against violators only when repeated efforts to secure compliance are unsuccessful."

Most enforcement is carried out under administrative law procedures in lieu of criminal trials. In many civil cases, accused parties use a provision of administrative law that allows them to accept a penalty without a hearing and, in some cases, without admitting or denying the charges.

Other civil cases are resolved by a federal administrative law judge, who hears testimony and reviews briefs by the parties before handing down a decision. Failure to respond to USDA charges constitutes admission of guilt, and penalties are assessed by an administrative law judge.

The following actions, grouped by subject, were settled in July:

INTERSTATE MOVEMENT OF LIVESTOCK — Certain livestock moving across state lines must be identified and accompanied by health certificates and permits, depending on the species, age, sex, health status and origin of the animals. A number of livestock diseases, such as brucellosis and tuberculosis, are being eradicated under cooperative state-federal programs; however, these diseases could spread rapidly if dealers and producers fail to follow shipping rules.

— Douglas Sasseen of Bakersfield, Mo., was assessed a $50 civil penalty by an administrative law judge in regard to charges that he failed to comply with federal cattle shipping regulations. USDA charged that on or about Feb. 20, 1983, Sasseen moved a brucellosis-reactor cow from West Plains, Mo., to Grenada, Miss., without the required shipping permit.

— Bruce Cartwright formerly of Plain Dealing, La., was assessed a $1,000 civil penalty by an administrative law judge to charges that on or about April 2, 1983, he violated federal cattle shipping regulations. USDA alleged that Cartwright moved at least one cow interstate from Arkansas to Louisiana without the required certificate and permit for entry.

— Lloyd Howard Weaver of Nacogdoches, Texas, agreed to pay a $750 civil penalty without admitting or denying USDA allegations that on Feb. 28, 1985, he moved nine cows interstate from Mansfield, La., to Nacgdoches, Texas, without having the animals tested and found negative for brucellosis within 30 days before they were shipped and without an accompanying certificate and permit for entry as required.

VETERINARY ACCREDITATION — USDA accredits practicing veterinarians to perform official services for USDA. To become accredited, veterinarians must pass a special examination and adhere to a strict code of ethics, regulations and procedures. Suspension or revocation of accreditation does not affect a veterinarian's state license to practice veterinary medicine.

— J.E. Day of Virqua, Wis., agreed to have his federal accreditation suspended for three months from July 6, 1987, to Oct. 6, 1987. USDA alleged that on two occasions during March 1985, Day failed to properly identify at least 15 brucellosis-vaccinated heifers with legible tatoos as required.

Soil Conservation Award Given

HEGINS (Schuylkill Co.) — Craig R. Morgan, Schuylkill Conservation District Manager, announced today that Quaker State Farms, Gary Harner Farming and Traffic Operations Manager, of RD Klingerstown, was selected as the Schuylkill Conservation District's 1987 "Cooperator of the Year." Harner was presented the award at the Conservation District's monthly meeting at the home of the District Chairman, Dr. James S. Shadle, in RD Hegins.

The "Cooperator of the Year" is selected from among the 1000+ landowners in Schuylkill County who are cooperators with the Schuylkill Conservation District based on the landowner's initiative to install soil and water conservation practices on their farmland. These practices reduce soil erosion and therefore decrease amount of pesticides, fertilizers and other materials from entering streams.

The assistance provided to a farmer by the Schuylkill Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service is incorporated into a farm management plan, which in the case of Quaker State Farms, serves as a model to other farmers that soil and water conservation practices are cost effective and can be incorporated into a successful farming operation Morgan said. The selection is made by a committee composed of representatives from the USDA Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Cooperative Extension Service and the Schuylkill Conservation District.

Quaker State Farms has installed 4835 feet of Cropland Terraces, 2326 feet of waterways and 60 acres of contour strips over the past three years. Harner said they (Quaker State) use conservation tillage practices to conserve soil. They use no-till and minimum tillage practices instead of plowing. Morgan said plowing turns all residues underground and exposes bare soil to the rain drops which act as tiny bombs that dislodge soil particles and carries them to streams.

Harner manages the 900 acres of farmland in RD Klingerstown and Dauphin County. Harner's wife, Darlene, also is employed by Quaker State Farms.

TWO NEW SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

For better standability and higher yields.

Not every seed corn can pass the test of our tough growing season But Agway 588X and 788X can because they're bred specifically for the soil, climate and growing conditions in this region

So when you see these Agway signs, you know you're looking at the promise of excellent standability and outstanding yield potential

For a prosperous 1988 season, ask your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson for the facts on these proven hybrids.

Working for people who work the land.

POULTRY, SWINE AND DAIRY FEEDING

FLEX-AUGER®—"the best way ever devised to deliver feed."

On thousands of farms Chore-Time's "coreless", flexible, spring steel auger system has built its record. It's known for its reliability, its low power requirements, its long life. And Chore-Time is known for always trying to make it even better: latest improvements include new PVC tubing with ultraviolet and wear inhibitors, plus new power-efficient direct drive motors that turn the auger. Get full facts now about Chore-Time's FLEX-AUGER and line of feed bins.

RATES AND TERMS: Cash or terms of not less than ten percent (10%) down payment with the remaining balance amortized over a period not to exceed 25 years; or a period for which the property will serve as adequate security; whichever is less. The interest rate will be determined at the time of approval of the credit requested based upon Farmer Program ineligible interest rate published in FmHA instruction. The current rate is 11.00%; however this is subject to change prior to approval.

ARCHEOLOGICAL IMPORTANCE: FmHA responsibilities under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (as amended 1980) require consideration of historic and archeological resources. In consultation with the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO), it has been determined that there is a high probability that significant archeological sites may be located on this farm property. Any future plans for land use change (including construction activity) must be reviewed by the SHPO. The purchaser agrees to implement and/or give due consideration to the SHPO review recommendations, as required of a Federal Agency under the regulation of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation under 36 CFR part 800 The Pennsylvania SHPO may be contacted by writing to the PA Historical & Museum Commission, Bureau for Historic Preservation, P.O. Box 1026, Harrisburg, PA 17108-1026 or by calling (717) 783-8946.

ARCHITECTURAL IMPORTANCE: The purchaser agrees that any alteration, rehabilitation or demolition, in whole or in part, of any historic structure on the property will be carried out in conformance with the recommended treatments in "The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings." Prior to the commencement of work, the owner will notify in writing the State Historic Preservation Officer of all alteration, rehabilitation of demolition which might affect the historical or architectural character or integrity of the historic structures. The State Historic Preservation officer will be given ample time (30 days) to comment on whether the proposed work conforms to the recommended treatments in "The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and Guidelines for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings."

LONG-TERM FISH AND WILDLIFE CONSERVATION MEASURES: The following measures are recommended to meet FmHA mandates to conserve, protect and enhance important resources and to fulfill the mandates of Executive Orders 11988 and 11990

1. That the Quittapahilla Creek and its adjacent wetlands be protected by a deed restriction establishing buffer zones extending fifty feet into the property from the ordinary high water line The buffer zones should be left in a natural vegetated state and should not be mowed Access by livestock should not be permitted in the buffer zone except for restricted areas for crossing and watering. Watering and crossing areas should not exceed 10 percent of the length of the buffer zone.

2 Representatives of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, the Service, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and the Farmers Home Administration are permitted access to the property for the purpose of insuring compliance with this deed restriction.
